corps at a fever-pitch of excitement," Cadet Colonel W. A. Becker, Kaufman, said, "and all cadets were rigged-out in their regimentals in an effort to again win the coveted Blue Star rating."

The results of the inspection will not be known for about two weeks.

"The cadet corps has done everything possible and extended every effort in preparing itself to be in tip-top shape for this inspection," Lieut. Col. James Watson, commandant of cadets, said Wednesday afternoon.

Assisting Colonel Keyes in the inspection are Colonel T. K. Spencer, Colonel John Perkins, Lieut. Col. James B. Taylor, Lieut. Col. Thomas A. Austin, Lieut. Col. Samuel White, Major Richard A. Eads and Lieutenant Robert L. Suggs, all of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

uniform, preferably No. 1, while visiting the high schools.

D. R. Davis spoke next on the advantages of living in project houses, quoted figures on expenses per month and told what to expect should one choose to live in the project houses.

Registrar E. J. Howell gave details for the students' benefit on how to make a report after returning to school, about obtaining excused absences from classes and how to have information about the college sent to those students who seemed interested in coming to A. & M.

Dr. T. O. Walton was the principal speaker of the evening and ended the banquet with a general talk about A. & M.

Mrs. Smith—

Pageant herself, as Duchess from Junction in 1937, but also has been directing similar affairs for several years.

At Texas University Mrs. Smith majored in physical education and was president of the Physical Education Major's Club. The year she was chosen as a duchess for the Cotton Ball she was also selected as one of the University's Blue Bonnet Belles.

After her graduation Mrs. Smith accepted the position of physical education instructor at the Alamo Heights High School in San Antonio. She was in charge of the school pep squads and sports clubs and handled all affairs such as junior and senior banquets. In fact he "had a hand in all the social affairs" during the two years she was at Alamo Heights.

Following her marriage in the summer of 1939, Mrs. Smith moved to College Station and immediately became active in campus affairs. At present she is in charge of one of the interest groups of the Women's Social Club here and in this capacity holds gymnastic classes and teaches folk dances. She also teaches folk dances and ball room dancing to the grammar and high school students of the community and heads a girl scout troops as well.

floor show. Barry and De Alba, professional dancers, will do two of their specialties and are to be followed by Maynell Allen, the Elivery of Dallas. Maynell will also do two numbers.

Following this portion of the entertainment the program will be turned over temporarily to Sanger Brothers of Dallas, who will present a style show. The first part of the style show is a cavalcade of style changes through the past hundred years with at least one costume representing each decade. When this portion of the style show is completed the Kaydette Quartette will do a can-can dance that might have been featured had the Cotton Pageant been presented in 1895.

Barry and De Alba return for another dance after the Kadette Kuartette have finished. Sangers are to again take over following the Kuartette's number and will present a modern style show of clothes to be worn this summer. Another number by the Kuartette, a rumba by Barry and De Alba and a conga by the King and Queen's entire Court will complete the program.
