

Aggies Clash With Baylor Today at Waco for Share of Title

Baseball Team Goes Out For Co-championship Today

By Jack Hollimon

We move over to Waco today, if it doesn't rain, to play our final game of the southwest conference baseball race. This is Marty Karow and the team's chance to annex a co-championship, and they are ready to tackle the Bruins. Marty makes his last attempt this time because next year, he becomes basketball mentor for A. & M. Bumpers has been getting plenty of rest and that left flipper of his should be set to mow 'em down. Katy Park, old Texas League grounds at 7th and Mary in Waco, will probably be the site of the clash, and Aggies are expected to make a mass movement over to "the heart of Texas" for the game. Mud was ankle deep last Wednesday around the batter's box despite canvas covering. It seems they had a little of our Brazos County "dew."

The meeting held Wednesday afternoon between Karow, Norton, and Koch culminated in a decision to play the tilt in College Station today, but Ralph Wolf, athletic head at Baylor later met with the committee and suggested that a Waco-played game would be to the better interests of all concerned. It was originally supposed to be held in Waco.

Texas "T" Association Renders an Apology to A&M

Billy Sansing of the Daily Texan, Longhorn newspaper, printed an official apology written by the "T" Association in the last edition of his "Seein' Sports." It made front page of this Battalion and is an excellent example of the worthy path the Texas "T" men try to follow. Rivalry is intense between the schools, and this promotes great competition, but it went a little far Monday in Austin. A final thought of Sansing's is a bit misleading however, when any Aggie sees it. He says, "Then there's the talk that Pete Layden has made a ghost of the 'Spirit of Aggieland.'" From this side of the question, 6,500 cadets of Texas A. & M. College will tell him that after everybody concerned has become a ghost, the "Spirit of Aggieland" will be as much alive in the heart's of those Aggies to come as it ever was before Pete Layden became a Steer. We haven't said a word about "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Here Comes That Man With A Load of Midnight Mail!

Your writer rode back with "Lefty" Moon from Waco the other day, and found out a lot of interesting things about him. Moon has gone to bat as a pinch hitter for A. & M. seven times this year and his record proves Marty doesn't worry to much when he tells "Lefty" to get in there and bat. He has made only one out while getting three hits and three walks. His leg that suffered a four-inch break last year just above the foot has mended considerably and with his two years of eligibility ahead of him, he should be adding more percentage points to an already high batting average. Everything suits "Lefty" but this business of 8:00 o'clock classes. Reasons are varied but the main one is his job. You see, "Lefty" collects the midnight mail!

Premature Headline From Longhorn Paper Gives Laugh

There is an old "Daily Texan" on the desk now dated Sunday, April 20, 1941. Within the edition, on page two, there is an article telling of the defeat of A. & M. at the hands of Rice Institute's nine 6 to 3. The headline for this article is, "Are the Aggies Still in the League?" Texas A. & M., after winning two out of three games with Texas is playing Baylor today for the co-championship of the league!

Year's Last Batt Distributed Monday

The May issue of the Battalion magazine will be distributed from the mailing room in the basement of the Administration building after supper Monday.

This is the last issue of the magazine for the current year and it is being published by the graduating seniors.

It has been the custom at A. & M. for several years for the graduating seniors to publish the last issue of the magazine since this is their last chance to actively engage in college publications.

Cadet Hurlers Go Into Huddle About Bruins

Charlie Stevenson, Roy Peden, and Lemuel Bumpers clasp hands as they prepare to tangle with Baylor in Texas A. & M.'s co-championship pennant chase this afternoon. Bumpers, on the right, is the probable starter on the mound for the Aggies.

Scoggins and Bucek Captains for 1942

John Scoggins and Roy Bucek were given a tribute by their teammates Thursday night for their great display of athletic prowess throughout the year when they were elected captains of baseball and track, respectively. The elections were held at the homes of Coaches Marty Karow and Dough Rollins, who were the hosts at a banquet given to their individual teams.

Scoggins broke into the baseball lineup early last season, and since then has been responsible for more than one Aggie win. His regular position is in left field, but because of an injury to Red Carden, Aggie catcher, he has done some of the backstopping.

Bucek has been the outstanding trackman for the cadets all season, excelling in the hurdling events. He gained first place in both hurdles at the Southwest Conference meet, and has shown stellar work all season.

Athletic Short Course Starts on August 17

The Twelfth Annual Short Course for Coaches and Athletes will be held on the A. & M. campus August 17 through August 23 with registration on August 17th, according to Homer H. Norton, director.

Courses will be offered in football, basketball, track, and intramural sports, and these courses are to be conducted by members of the Texas Aggie Coaching Staff, assisted by some very capable coaches from other schools.

The courses will run consecutively and will consume most of the day and part of the evening. All football demonstrations will take place in the evenings.

Motion pictures of the fundamentals in football, basketball, and track will be shown, and discussion of football rules will be conducted by a member of the Southwest Conference Officials Association. Sporting goods companies will be present on the campus to exhibit their latest equipment to those taking the courses, the pictures of 1940 and 1941 A. & M. football games are to be shown.

Second Meeting of Officials Causes Tilt To be Returned to Katy Park; Karow And 7 Aggie Players in Last Appearance

Tight Pitching Duel in Prospect With Bumpers and Golden Due to be In Tip-Top Condition at Game Time

Unless the weatherman decides to interfere in the Aggie-Baylor series, the cadets and Bruins will clash this afternoon at Katy Park to decide if the Karowmen will share the baseball title with Texas University. The Longhorns clinched a part of the flag when they bombarded a weak T. C. U. team 12 to 2 last Tuesday.

The game was originally scheduled for Waco, but following Wednesday's rainout, officials from A. & M. and Baylor agreed to have the game staged on Kyle Field. However, another meeting ensued, and it was finally decided to play at Katy Park. Should it rain in Waco, the game will be promptly brought to College Station.

Coach Marty Karow and seven players will put on their uniforms for the last time. Following this game, Karow will hand over the reins to Trainer Lil Dimmitt, and will devote all his time to basketball.

Lefty Bumpers will be given the job of pitching the cadets into a co-championship with the Longhorns. This will be Bumpers' final performance on the mound for the cadets, and he is hoping to make it his best one. He has accounted for 6 of the 11 victories for A. & M., being the only Aggie athlete to subdue the Texas Longhorns in any sport this year. It will be Roy Peden's last performance, also, and the Aggie ace relief hurler will stand by just in case the Bears become unruly for Bumpers.

Facing Aggie batters will be Frank "Lefty" Golden, ace twirler of the Bruin staff. His performances against the Aggies and the Steers were masterpieces, and only weak support in the Texas game cost him the decision. His twelve inning victory over the Aggies earlier in the year has cautioned Coach Karow not to take this game too lightly.

The Bears have shown an excellent club at times and a poor one at others. Their pitching and hitting have been consistent, but their infield has experienced more than one period of inability. Examples of these can be cited in the Longhorn and Aggie contests when for eight innings, Golden had the Steers in the palm of his hand and seventh to win over Hdq. Cavalry 7 to 6, B Cavalry defeated 3rd CHQ 12 to 9, 3rd Hdq. Field Artillery nosed out K Infantry 2 to 1, and B Chemical Warfare won out over F Infantry 6 to 3.

A Cavalry held the big end of a 17 to 10 game over C Engineers. Two run margins were prominent as D Coast took Mg, Cavalry 3 to 1, Hdq. Signal Corps stopped A Chem Warfare 5 to 3, and A Signal Corps won over C Chem Warfare 8 to 6. B Signal Corps overwhelmed 5th CHQ 10-1.
