WORK WITH CITY OF DALLAS
The City of Dallas has advised that they will soon hold apprentice examinations for students who are graduating from college this year whose homes are in Dallas and who are interested in municipality work. The successful applicants are employed as apprentices for one year at a salary of from $60 to $90 per month and at the end of that year are permanently placed in some classification for which they will have to qualify by taking a non-competitive examination. Additional information on this may be secured from the Placement Bureau and interested seniors should come by Room 133, Administration Building at once.

AERONAUTICAL AND MARINE ENGINEERING
We contemplate offering to June graduates ten or twelve weeks' training in both Aeronautical Engineering and Marine Engineering - Naval Architecture. This will enable the graduates who take the courses to qualify as Junior Marine-Naval Architecture Engineer after obtaining their Civil Service rating. In order to ascertain the interest in this instruction, we have prepared forms for June graduates which are based on the possibility that deferment might be obtained long enough to take the training. These forms may be obtained at my office or at the office of the head of any engineering department.

Both coach Bible and Dr. Dolley complimented the Aggies for their display of self-restraint in the face of severe provocation, and both men declared they hoped that the athletic supporters of both institutions would leave future score to be settled on the field of play and not in the grandstands.

Dean Kyle has accepted the apologies and has assured the University that no visitors to the A. & M. campus will ever be treated with such disrespect as was shown at Austin.

eral years. Buyers are buying equities for the first time since the cotton began going into the government loan in 1938. (The buyers are realizing a good profit off these equities.)

"Supply of cotton has become secondary to demand. The United States will consume 12,000,000 bales of cotton between August 1941 and July 1942, while exports for this period will be only 1,000,000 bales.

"The universal cotton standards are made up by representatives from nine foreign countries and the United States. After arguing for several days, these men finally agreed on how a standard for a certain grade should look, then it is followed universally. There are two ends of the cotton business; first, the office which includes bookkeeping, hedging transactions, straddling (between markets and mouths), making bills of lading, drawing drafts and other things that mature. Then secondly, there is the end which takes care of the actual buying, selling, classing, satisfying the customer and things of that nature.

"A cotton man is like a college professor in that it takes him at least four years to get any place after he starts," Taylor mused at the close of his speech.

On the miscellaneous expenditures which is given $6 per month on the budget you can save that money if you don't give to charity, don't go to church, and don't do any reading. If the truth were to be known you would probably go to church but omit the contribution; and you would probably get all your magazines from somebody else's tent.
