C.A.A. Training Again Open To All Interested Aggies

Students at A. & M. again have the opportunity of learning to fly according to information just received from the Civil Aeronautics Authority by Howard W. Barlow, Head of the Department of Aeronautical Engineering.

Two phases of training, designated as elementary and secondary respectively, will be open to students who can meet the qualifications. The cost of the elementary course is not definitely known, but it will be approximately $31.00, and the cost of the secondary course will be approximately $40.00. Each of these includes the cost of the C. A. A. physical examination, transportation to and from the airport, accident and life insurance, and a special registration fee.

Eligibility
The general eligibility required for the Elementary course are as follows, and no exceptions will be made to any of these: The trainee must be a citizen of the United States, and must have attained his 19th, but not his 26th birthday by September 1, 1941, and must have the written consent of his parents or guardian. He must be a fully matriculated degree candidate, and have satisfactorily completed at least one full year of college work acceptable to the institution sponsoring the training. The trainee must never have been disqualified from participation in the Civil Pilot Training Program by Advisory Board action and must successfully pass the physical examination for student pilot certificate with Commercial CPT rating, administered by a designated C. A. A. medical examiner.

The general eligibility requirements for the Secondary course are the same, with the following additions, and no exceptions will be made to any of these: The trainee must possess a currently effective private pilot's Certificate and by the time he completes the Secondary course, have completed at least one half of the necessary credits leading to a degree in an institution whose credits are accepted by the United States Army or Navy from applicants for flight training.

Both courses consist of two parts, Ground School and Flight Training. All ground courses are to be given at the College and classes are to be held from seven until 8:30 or nine o'clock. Each group has approximately 40 hours of flight work, and flight work is given at the college airport by the Kadett Aviation Company.

Students who are interested should apply immediately to the department of aeronautical engineering in the old laundry building and obtain application forms. It is expected that ground school will start in about two weeks, and the flight training by approximately October 1.

Only those students who intend to finish the course and continue in the field of aviation will be considered for either course.

On The Campus

With Jack Decker

One of the main coaches upon whom Aggie depends to train its athletes to become championship material is Marty Karow, backfield coach and head basketball coach of the Aggie football and basketball teams.

This is Marty's first year to be head coach of the basketball team; he has been elected to take Hub McQuillan's place who resigned to become basketball coach at T. C. U. However, Marty has served as backfield coach since he first came here in 1938. He is turning over the position of head baseball mentor to Lil Dimmitt so he can take charge of the cagers this winter. Before coming to A. & M. in 1938, Marty served as head baseball coach for one year and assistant backfield coach for two years at the United States Naval Academy. Before that he was a member of the staff at the University of Texas from 1927 to 1936 as backfield coach and football, freshman baseball coach, and head basketball coach.

He graduated from Ohio State University in 1927 where he lettered three times each in football and baseball, and one time in basketball. He then started playing professional baseball. After playing a while for the Boston Red Sox, Marty was shifted into Eastern League. Later he played in the Texas League with Waco and in the Western League with Des Moines, Iowa, and Pueblo, Colorado. Finding, however, that professional baseball and college coaching interfered with each other, he decided to give up baseball and turn to the college job.

Karow has helped to develop some great backs as John Kimbrough, Dick Todd, Walemon Price, Harrison Stafford, Ernie Koy, and many others.

Spivey Elected As Representative On A&M Athletic Council

Marshall Spivey, Aggie footballer from Lufkin, was elected by the members of the cadet gridiron squad to the position of student representative on the Athletic Council. Spivey, who is the probable starter at one of the half-back posts on the Aggie team, succeeds James Thomason, former Aggie football great.
