

Aggie Fish Blitzkreig Allen Academy to Submission, 40-0

Sterling, Moser, Sibley, and Reserves Show Plenty of Promise in Bearkat Game

As this writer mentioned Saturday, the reserves would play a large part in the Aggie attack against Sam Houston. And don't think the boys didn't come through. It was the subs who ignited that spark which started the cadets off on an eight touchdown spree. Of course the regulars looked mighty good too. Jim Sterling, rosy-cheeked end, played one of the greatest games in his career, as did fleet footed Derace Moser and Bill Sibley. Sibley needs a little more practice on his snap-backing, but his line-backing and pass defense work brought more than a smile of glee from the Aggie coaching staff.

Moser did some great work in that tailback spot both as passing and running. He was a bit wild at the start on that passing game, but really found himself in the final quarter when he connected for seven consecutive strikes, one of them going for a score. Sterling Outshined all his other performances with his grand exhibition Saturday. He was in on nearly every play, and his blocking disposed of more than one would-be tackler.

Before leaving the subject of this game, let's not forget to give a good pat on the back to ole reliable Marshall Spivey and Willie Zapalac. Spivey called a swell game, and did some great pass-snagging. Zapalac's blocking was one of the features of the game. Orchids also to Leo Daniels, Cullen Rogers, Bobby Williams, and Tom Pickett—the reserves, who showed they would give the regulars a gruelling battle for the starting assignment in games to come. And don't forget that good ole Aggie line which held the Bearkat backs to a minus one rushing average. Summing it up in detail, all the boys looked good and hustled in great fashion, but still have a lot of work ahead of them.

Break Loose In First and Third Quarters For Win

Making two touchdowns in the first quarter and four in the third the Texas Aggie Fish over-rode the Allen Academy Ramblers yesterday afternoon on Kyle Field by a score of 40-0.

Dickey kicked off for the Ramblers and scarcely ten minutes of the first quarter had passed when Welsh ran the ball down near the goal, Payne then took over and carried the ball over for the first touchdown of the game. Welsh converted and the score was 7 to 0.

Payne Scores

In the middle of the first quarter, Wilde gave out with a 32 yard pass to Anderson. The Fish were then knocking at pay dirt. Payne carried the ball on the next play and went over for the second touchdown of the game. Davis converted.

The second quarter was a hard fought period with Ralph Hamil and Bill Offield leading the Allen attack. Both Offield and Hamil were the outstanding men for the Allen Ramblers. The second quarter was particularly brilliant due to the aerial attacks launched by both teams.

On Scoring Spree

While the Aggie Fish were held to a standstill in the second period, they came back after the half and redeemed themselves. Ed Dusek handed one off to Wilde who went over for the first of the four touchdowns made in the third quarter. Davis missed his conversion. After thrilling play, Wilde

Ags Look Forward To Hog Battle After Win Over Kats

With an overwhelming victory of 54-0 over the Sam Houston State Teachers' Bearkats already under their belt, the Texas Aggies looked forward to their "second invasion of the Alamo" this Saturday night against the Texas A. & I. Javelinas of Kingsville.

The Javelina battle is going to be no cinch according to Manning Smith, freshman coach, who scouted A. & I. in their 35-7 victory over Tempe last week. "The Hogs are at least three to four touchdowns better than Sam Houston, and are liable to give the Aggies a good close battle," commented Smith.

Iron Out Kinks

Meanwhile Coach Homer Norton and his aides worked all day yesterday afternoon ironing out the kinks that were notable in the Bearkat game. Blocking, tackling, and passing were the main objectives of the workout.

Although scoring at will on the greatly over-rated Bearkats, the Aggies were still rough in many spots. The fact that they were held to a standstill the first 13 minutes of the first quarter indicated that the blocking was unsatisfactory. It was ironed out, however, later in the game.

The game itself showed the Aggie backfield had one thing better than the one last year. That was speed. Moser, Daniels, Pickett, Rogers, Spivey, and Williams showed that they had speed to burn. Especially was this evident on Moser's 68 yard run, Rogers' 65 yard gallop, Williams' 55 yard punt return, and Pickett's 22 yard off-tackle smash for a score. Daniels' work was more than commendable, and proved more than satisfactory to the Aggie coaches. In the line, it was Jim Sterling and Bill Henderson and passing were the main objectives of the workout.

Let's Not Allow our Optimism to Run Away With Us Because of Overwhelming Aggie Win

Well, it's one down and nine more to go as the Texas Aggies prepare to go after their second win against Texas A. & I. next Saturday night at San Antonio. And, don't think, just because of the 54-0 victory over Sam Houston, that the Javelina game will be a walkaway. Let's all take the Alamo battle just as seriously as we did the Bearkat game and there will be nothing to worry about. If some of the bright football predictors already concede the title to the Aggies because of their overwhelming victory, they might be greatly disappointed. It is true that the cadets showed a wealth of promise in that game but so did every other Southwest Conference team last weekend. For example, S.M.U. showed plenty of power in the 54-0 victory over Denton. So did Texas, T. C. U., Baylor, and Arkansas with their great offensive exhibitions. It will be at least two or three more games before anyone can really tell how the teams stack up. So don't get any idea on the Aggies—at this time, anyhow.

STAR OF THE WEEK DEPARTMENT . . . The honor this week goes to Jack Wilson, phenomenal triple-threat stand-out of the Baylor Bears, who sparked the Wacoans to a 20-0 victory over the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys. Jack was never better than he was last Saturday as he ran, passed, and blocked the Bruins to victory.

Williamson Rates Aggies No. 24; Texas Placed in No. 2 Spot by System

By Paul B. Williamson
The Williamson System was alone in picking some of last week's winners but we proved ourselves correct. Some of the games called were: Tulane 21, Boston College 7; Pacific Lutheran 26, Gonzaga 13; Sewanee 20, Washington & Lee 19; Detroit 14, Indiana 7; and California 31, St. Mary's 0.

The system did well in such close ones as Minnesota 14, Washington 6; T.C.U. 6, Tulsa 0; Centre 14, Mississippi College 7; Navy, 34, William & Mary 0; Baylor 20, Hardin-Simmons 0; Texas 34, Colorado 6; Notre Dame 38, Arizona 7; and Oklahoma 19, Oklahoma Aggies 0.

The game that upset the System was the Georgetown-Mississippi Rebels tilt. The Rebels went under by a 16-6 score. Holy Cross threw LSU for a loss by taking the game 19 to 16.

South Carolina said they would win over North Carolina, and they did, 13 to 7. Kentucky surprised most of the fans and the System when they defeated V.P.I. 37 to 14. Westminster pulled one out of the bag when they won over Carnegie Tech 19-13. Little San Joseph beat Toledo with a 3 to 0 score and as a result is rated at 74.0; higher than it has ever been rated before by the System.

Intramurals

By Dub Oxford
The long awaited intramural program has now begun. Intramural water polo began last night for class A and tennis begins today. In class B, both touch football and swimming also begins today. Be sure and have your teams on time for their scheduled games as there will be no forfeit time allowed this year. This new ruling should speed up the contests a great deal.

Tennis at A. & M. has been greatly handicapped in past years by the lack of a sufficient number of courts. Last spring six new concrete courts were constructed in the Replacement Center area so that cadets now have access to ten courts for intramural tennis. In order that the maximum benefit be obtained from the courts, intramural tennis will be slightly revised this year. Organizations which have entered tennis will be placed in various leagues. Each league will consist of five or six teams and the league winner will be determined by round-robin tournament. That is, each
