Baylor Has 11 Men That Will Match Any In the Conference According to Marty Karow

"The Baylor Bears have a first team that will match anybody's in the conference, Texas included." So spoke Backfield Coach Marty Karow when addressing the Aggie gridsters. And Marty should know. He scouted the Bears in their past games with Arkansas and Villanova respectively, and has learned quite a bit about the Bruin team. True, about 60 per cent of the offense is built around Jack Wilson, but there's still the other 40 per cent which counts. For example, there's Milton Crain, a powerful line-plunging bruiser of the "Kimrough" variety, who really can sock 'em and rock 'em. Then there's "Slingshot" Dwight Parks, the Bear's ace passer. Parks has been throwing that ball with needle-like precision all year, and if he's right next Saturday, may cause plenty of trouble. It may be remembered that it was his 30 yard pass to Jimmy Witt which gave Baylor its lone touchdown against the Aggies last year. So the byword is, "Watch out for Parks."

That good ole Baylor line is led by Buddy Gatewood, sturdy Bruin pivot man, and Big Jack Russell, one of two All-American candidates for the Bears. Russell, end, weighs 230 lbs., and if you don't think it's hard to move a man that size, just ask some of those tackles that have to do it. Boy, they really have their job cut out for them.

Baylor has always given the Aggies a tough battle, and it probably won't be any different this Saturday. Last year, even without Wilson, the Bears gave the Aggies one of the toughest battles all year, before succumbing, 14-7. So don't get your dander up about this game Saturday. It'll be a hard battle all the way, and some of the "smart" boys, who are giving 20 points or more on Baylor, better hold their breath.

Sport Squibs From Here and There; Picking Arkansas to Upset Detroit in Tilt Tomorrow

Arkansas journeys on to Detroit to face Gus Dorais' powerful Titans tomorrow night . . . Dough Rollins will have the pleasure of scouting the Hogs, whom the Aggies take on next week . . . the Titans have been undefeated and untied this year, but haven't gotten any competition to brag about . . . whereas Arkansas has had tough games every week, and even though they lost all but one, have shown some scoring punch, as evidenced by their two touchdowns against Texas last week . . . Detroit will be heavily favored to cop the tilt, but here's going against the books and picking the Hogs to upset the dopebucket, say by a 21-to-19 score . . . No, I don't wanna bet . . . Coach Homer Norton, his staff, and his gridsters were mighty happy about something or other . . . kept singing, "That good ole Baylor line," all the way through practice Monday . . . couldn't be that you got something under your sleeve, eh Coach? . . . Charlie "Streak" Miller, reserve guard, quit school and football to take a good job . . . Wayne Cure, second-string guard, is in the hospital . . . it is feared he may have had an appendicitis attack.

Lady Luck turned her pretty head away from Marion (Dookie) Pugh, former Aggie football star playing with the New York Giants . . . just when Dookie was attaining stardom with the New Yorkers, he broke his arm . . . that should keep him out of action this year . . . Sidlights on the T. C. U. game . . . the boys were mighty tired after the game, and all were sound asleep by 11 o'clock on the special

Williamson Picks Detroit Titans In Easy Win Over Ark

By Paul B. Williamson
The Detroit Titans should have little trouble beating the Razor-back of Arkansas U. in Friday night's headline game. About two thirds of the games scheduled this week should go according to the Williamson Ratings without much debate. But that other one third, a large percentage for close ones on any week-end, are going to require a lot of "proving up."

Other Friday games include: Wm. & Mary over George Washington; Villanova over Manhattan; Xavier over St. Louis U.; Brigham Young over San Francisco (might be close); Southwestern of Memphis over Chattanooga; and Boston U. over Western Md. (a toss up).

Other close ones Friday are: Cheney State over Ellensburg; Weatherford (Okla.) over Edmond; Conway over Henderson; Whittier over Cal. Tech; and St. Benedict's over Washburn.

New Plays Introduced As Team Gets Set For Baylor

Jack Wilson, Bruin Sparkplug, Returns To Practice; May be Ready For Ags Saturday

Emphasizing blocking in an attempt to smooth out some of the rough spots which appeared in the T. C. U. game, Coach Homer Norton put his charges through some strenuous workouts during the past two days.

Showing plenty of fire and spirit, the squad went through a long drill on passing with Moser, Daniels, Pickett, and Andricks alternating at tossing the pigskin to Zapalac, Rogers, Simmons, Sterling, Henderson, and Cowley, with remarkable accuracy.

Punt Drill

Included in the session also was a lengthy drill on punts and kick-off returns. Williams and Moser stood out at this stage of the game, with "Bama" Smith doing some fine work until he suffered a leg injury. However, Trainer Lil Dimmitt reported the injury as slight, and "Bama" should be back in uniform in a couple of days.

TCU Sophomore Backs to Get Big Shot Against Rams

Sophomore backs will get their big chance in the T. C. U. lineup this Saturday.

Badly crippled after four tough games, Coach Dutch Meyer will reach far down in his bag for boys to send against the mighty Fordham Rams in New York. But some of the newcomers have flashed great promise and may be pleasant surprises.

Emory Nix, the 185-pounder who quarterbacked the Corpus Christi Buccaneers to the State High school finals in 1938, will open at the helm of the Purple Saturday. Although only a sophomore Nix is a natural signal caller and one of the finest passers on the squad. The only married man on the Frog squad, he's older and cooler than some of the juniors and seniors.

Starting at left half in New York will be Van Hall, the 190-pound brother of Johnny, star of the great 1938 team. Also a sophomore, Van has impressed the coaches with his speed and enthusiasm. But his most important duty against Fordham will be punting.

Poor kicking wrecked what chances the Frogs had against A. & M. after Kyle Gillespie suffered a broken leg. Hall is not a polished punter but he has fine leg drive and is learning rapidly. He'll start out kicking against Fordham.

One other soph will open in the Purple secondary. He's big Frank Medanich at right half. The only veteran will be Frank Kring, the senior fullback.

Capt. Bill Crawford, the left guard, and Center Billy Blackstone, junior center, are also expected to miss the Fordham game. Joe Rogers, junior from New London, will open at the guard spot and Jim Woodfin, a soph who was a pleasant surprise in the Aggie game, will go at center.

Despite all this patching, the Frogs have no idea of taking a bad beating at Fordham. Scouts reported the Rams have one of the finest and most vicious teams they ever watched. But just the same, the Frogs are going to throw everything they have at the New Yorkers.
