You can shout it from the housetops, you can spread it all the way from the Brazos River to the "Forty Acres." The Aggies have really got it. This writer has seen many great ball clubs in his day—'35 S.M.U. team, '38 T.C.U. squad, and the '39 and '40 Aggie entries, but Saturday's edition of the fighting cadets had 'em all beat. We're not saying that the Aggie team is greater than any of the aforementioned eleven above throughout the season, but we're saying that the Aggies, on Saturday October 25, were, by far, a more polished outfit than any of the four.

It was the greatest slaughter of an outclassed team that this writer has ever witnessed. Baylor never got its breath, never even could punch back. They were a more outclassed squad than was the Sam Houston Bearkat team at the start of the year. Even Coach Homer Norton was astounded with his team's performance. This writer talked to the coach the day before the game. When told that some of the boys around the campus were giving 14 to 20 points, Coach Norton retorted with the reply, "They're plumb off their beam. Don't fool yourself, this is going to be a tough battle."

Aggies Show Almost Perfect Team in One Day; Astound All Sport Writers and Coaches

Yes it was tough — tough to watch the literal slaughter of a football team. It really was the Aggies' heyday, and they took advantage of it. Everything was perfect—blocking, running, passing, and tackling.

As for the stars, you just name 'em. Just call out an Aggie name and you'll hit the spot. They were all great, but we just can't pass up the fact that Derace Moser is, and will be the spearhead of the bruising cadet attack. He didn't play much of the game—he didn't have to—but whenever he was in there, he was great. If you really want to see ole Moser blown up, just take a look at Sunday's Waco News Tribune and Jinx Tucker's story. It's the best and most dramatic piece of journalism that this writer has read in many a moon. Yes sir, give us Moser, and you can have all your Crains, Laydens, Wilsons, Johnsons, Brumleys, etc.

Since everyone is so persistent to know about the stars of the game, we'll give a couple, who we thought stood just a wee bit above the shoulders of the rest. Correct the first time. It's Jim Sterling and little Bobby Williams. Jim's block near the sidelines on Leo Daniels' punt return was one of the prettiest and hardest that this writer has seen in football.

Bobby, a package of dynamite if ever there was one, made that Baylor line look like a sieve, with his persistent drives. Whatta drive that boy has for his size. Whew! He's a literal giant killer.

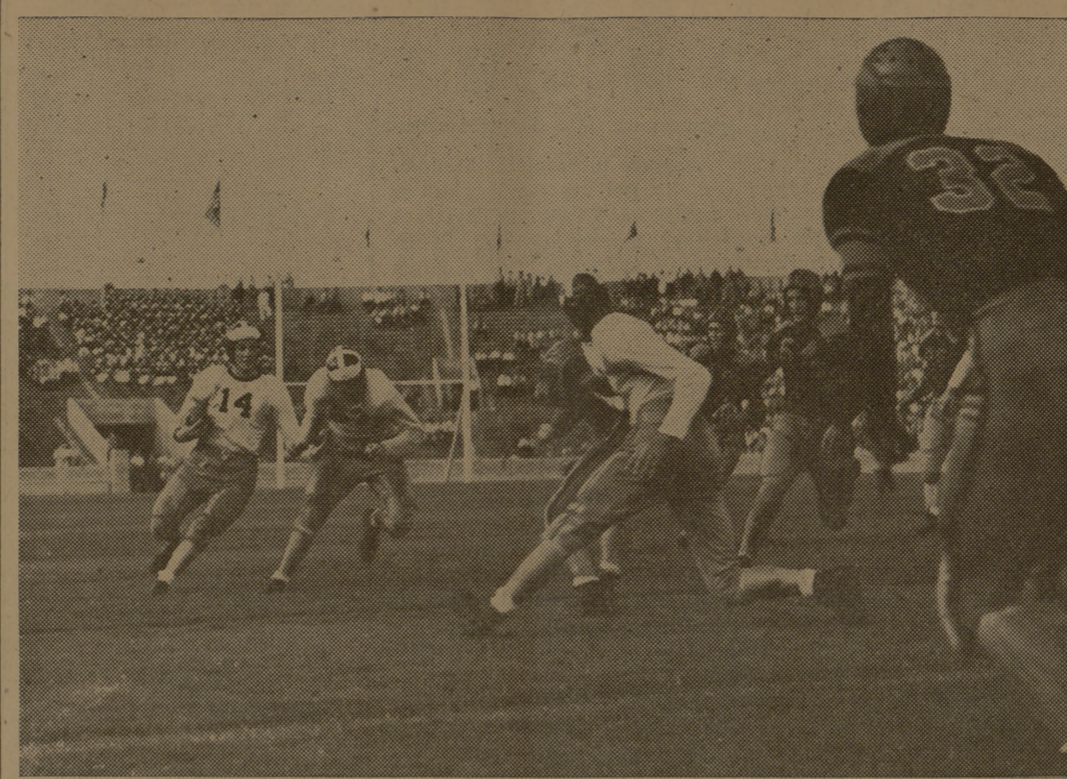

Sports Squibs From Here and There; John Kimbrough Stars in New York's 31-14 Win

John Kimbrough, former Aggie All-American, found himself Sunday afternoon to lead the New York American professional football team to a 31-14 victory over Buffalo . . . in playing 56 minutes of the game, John carried the ball 19 times for 84 yards and scored one of the Americans' touchdowns . . . Bill Henderson, the best decoy on forward passing in the nation, is the leading pass-receiver on the team . . . he has caught 15 passes in 5 games, an average of 3 per cent . . . Hmm! Not bad, not bad at all . . . Some highlights and sidelights from the Baylor game . . . Amos. Melton, Fort Worth Star Telegram Sports writer, was really sold on T. C. U. after the game . . . "Why, shux," Amos said, "T. C. U. has a great team . . . they held the Aggies to a mere 14 points . . . Here's another small item on Mr. Melton . . . as the Aggies were piling score after score against Baylor, every once in a while Amos would turn around to this writer and say, "Monotonous, isn't it? . . ."

STAR OF THE WEEK DEPARTMENT . . . Seems this week we had so many stars that we just can keep up with them, so, instead, we give you the whole Texas Aggie and Texas Longhorn teams, who lessened the interest of football in Baylor and Rice, respectively, with their decisive wins.

Aggie Blocking Devastates Baylor

Cadets Point for Arkansas Razorbacks After Overwhelming Baylor Bears, 48-0

Williamson Puts Aggies in Third Place; TU Is No 1

The Texas Aggies climbed into the number three spot of the nation this week by virtue of their 48-0 whitewashing of Baylor. The Aggies have a fine record of top-heavy scores in their five games this season against tough opposition.

Big Texas, on the strength of its overwhelming scores in every game on a tough schedule, must stay at No. 1 over a great Minnesota team at No. 2.

Fordham had to come from behind to whip strong T. C. U., and for so doing earns the No. 4 spot this week. Duke's Blue Devils fell off a little, but held close enough at consistency to rate No. 5.

Those and a few others are the leading consistent teams of the country—something that is becoming very scarce as the 1941 season wears down toward the stretch.

Probably for the first time in history, no Pacific Coast team is in the first 25. Even Santa Clara, considered one of the best Coast teams in years, fell before Oklahoma in one of the week's biggest upsets. At the present rate, there is going to be difficulty in selecting a Western representative for the Rose Bowl which hasn't lost two or three games.

The reason the System has been stressing consistency of the seven leaders is apparent from the week's results. A great number of games just weren't consistent, causing one of the worst predicting percentages (See WILLIAMSON, Page 4)

Hogs Show Power In Handing Detroit Team First Defeat

By Mike Mann
Senior Sports Assistant

The Texas Aggies, after handing the Baylor Bears the second worst defeat in the history of the two schools by trouncing them 48-0, are readying themselves for the Arkansas Razorbacks whom they meet in Little Rock, Arkansas, next Saturday. The Aggies suffered few injuries in the Baylor runaway. Jim Sterling and Tom Pickett sustained slight injuries but are recovering rapidly. Martin Ruby is still carrying his fractured hand in a cast which, as Baylor found out Saturday, does not hinder his game at the tackle position in the least.

Hogs Upset Detroit

The Razorbacks of Arkansas university journeyed to Detroit and upset the Detroit Titans 9-6. This is the first game in which the Razorbacks have been given a reasonable display of their true ability. Records do not show them to be a strong team but the Arkansas squad is much more powerful than the dope books indicate. Texas U., Baylor, and Texas Christian have beaten Arkansas in conference games this year. In the game with Texas the Razorbacks made 14 first downs to 12 for the Longhorns.

The Titans dominated the first half of the game Friday night and led the Razorbacks with a 6-0 score at the half. Immediately after the opening of the second half Arkansas took the ball and marched 76 yards for a tally, tying the score at 6-6. Late in the fourth quarter the Razorbacks recovered a Detroit fumble on the Titan 20-yard line. On the second down following the fumble, Scarborough, an Arkansas sophomore back, booted a field goal bringing the Razorbacks out in front by three points. The game ended two seconds after the goal was kicked.

Detroit was an undefeated and untied team; Indiana and Oklahoma A. & M. being among the teams going down before the Titans.

Top Backs Play

For the first time this year, the three top Arkansas backs, Bob Forte, and David and Meredith Jones, were all able to play at the same time. The combination has been broken up in previous games because of injuries. The Razorback ends, Wynne, Pitts, and Adams, are varsity basketball players, all being over six feet, three inches tall. Arkansas has two of the finest tackles in the conference in Bynum and Coats, a Texas boy.

Rollins Scouts

Dough Rollins, Aggie end coach, was in Detroit scouting the Razorbacks for A. & M. He states that Arkansas has a much stronger team than they are given credit for and are capable of giving the Aggies a stiff struggle.

The 1939 Aggie team was the first Cadet team ever to defeat the Arkansas Razorbacks in Arkansas and at the present time, Arkansas is leading the Aggies in the all-time series.
