ROUND TABLE CLUB
All interested students, including Freshmen, are invited to attend a meeting of the Round Table Club in room 316 Academic Building at 7:30 p. m. on Monday November 10. The business of the meeting will include (1) a discussion of the honor system by a group of Seniors, (2) decision whether there should be a separate Freshman Round Table Club, (3) election of officers for the year or arrangements for election at a later meeting, and (4) discussion of plans for the year's work and of the advantages of participation in the work of the club. Students who are interested in debate work will find in this club an opportunity to engage in an activity that is more in line with present customs and needs than old-fashioned debate—Geo. Summey, Jr.

Local Business Women Stand Ready To Answer Call for Defense Efforts

Business women stand ready to delivered a sermon on "Can Comp- answer any call for assistance in etitive Business Be Christian?" the national defense effort, mem- bers of six Business and Profes- sional Women's Clubs in this sec- tion pledged at their thirteenth annual District 3 Conference held Sunday at Sbsa Hall.

Already the clubs are purchasing defense stamps and bonds, assist- ing with Red Cross sewing and knitting, supporting the U.S.O., cooperating in the health and phys- ical training program of the Of- fice of Civilian Defense, and mak- ing other contributions to the pre- paredness program, reports reveal- ed.

Mrs. O. A. Fox of the Bryan-Col- lege Station club and district di- rector, presided at the meeting of the conference which was attend- ed by 11 visitors and 44 members from Waco, Cameron, Temple, Mar- tin and Gatesville.

Principal business included the election of Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Lu- cile Brown of Gatesville to the state nominating committee. Mrs. Meta L. Zimmerman, presi- dent of the Waco club, was named district director and Waco was se- lected as the site of the next district conference.

The welcome was given by Miss Ruby Mashburn, president of the hostess club, and Mrs. Anna Mae Spencer, president of the Marlin club, responded. After the confer- ence was officially opened by Mrs. Fox, the group attended the ser- vices of the A. & M. Presbyterian church in Guion Hall. Rev. Nor- man Anderson, pastor of the church was, Howard "Red" Maley, one of the most sensational sophomore stars in the conference since Bob- by Wilson, will be out of the fray with a torn cartilage. Maley, along with Johnston, is the offensi- ve sparkplug of the Ponies, and it has been his passes all year that made S. M. U. a threat. Only other injuries are Joe Pasqua, All- Southwest Conference candidate for tackle post, and Roy Ownby, re- serve guard. Pasqua, who beat the Aggies in 1938 with a field goal, has a bruised knee and it is doubt- ful whether he will see much ser- vice.

Lineup For S. M. U.
Frito Gonzales, the other fling- ing star for the Ponies, will take Maley's place at the left half post. He will be aided by Block- ing Back Horace Young, Fullback Preston Johnston, and Halfback Lendon Davis. In the line it'll be Roland Goss and Kelly Simp- son at ends, Lynn Bostick and Jake Fawcett at tackles, and Ted Ram- sey and Bull Johnston at the guard posts.

The Aggie lineup will be about the same that has started the past six games with a possible change at the blocking back post. Will'o Zapalac was injured slightly at Arkansas last week and may not be ready to start. In that case Jake Webster will be moved to his post and Andy Andricks probably in- serted to fill Webster's spot. Other- wise the lineup is the same, with Spivey and Moser at the other backfield posts. In the line, Jim Sterling and Bill Henderson will start at the terminals, Martin Ruby and Euel Wesson will take care of the tackles, Richardson and Bueck will be at the guard positions, and Bill Sibley will start at the pivot post.

name by Clare Booth, it got the usual Hollywood revision and came out altogether different, but still a fine motion picture.

Starting off the week at the Campus is "ICE-CAPADES" with Dorothy Lewis and her skating revue and Jerry Calonna. In ad- dition to the skaters, some excel- lent music is well mixed in the score. In a picture of this sort, the plot cannot be counted on to aid too much in making a suc- cess of the picture. It serves its purpose and that is about all that can be said.

Of course, Calonna can be ex- pected to do more than his share of the merrymaking with his facial and vocal expressions. And he does.
