

Corps Goes To Houston On Saturday

Parade Will Form On Congress Avenue At Ten am Saturday

Houston will receive the Aggie cadet corps Saturday morning when they make their second corps trip of the year to see the Aggie-Rice football game.

Special trains will leave College at 7:20 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. Saturday and arrive in time for the Cadets to detrain and form for the parade which will begin at 10:00 a.m. The parade will form on Congress and continue up Congress to Main, turning onto Main and continuing up Main to Lamar where the parade will stop. The reviewing stand will be in front of the Rice Hotel and with Colonel Maurice D. Welty, commandant, will stand Mayor Neal Pickett, mayor of Houston.

Cadet headquarters will be at the City Auditorium which will serve as a meeting place and a place for the corps to rest and clean up after the game. Buses will run from the City Auditorium to the Rice Field carrying students to the game.

Train tickets can be bought at the Southern Pacific Station now for $1.52 and the company is asking students to buy their tickets as early as possible so that they can estimate the amount of equipment necessary to carry the students to the game. Trains will return to College Station at 11:30 and 12:30 Saturday night. Another train will run at 8 a.m. Sunday morning.

Football tickets are now on sale at the "Y" desk for $1.10 with coupon number 34. These tickets will be on sale until 4:00 p.m. Friday afternoon. The Aggie section will begin with section U on the 50 yard line and extend around the stadium into the end zone taking care of as many seats as the corps demands. Date tickets will be sold for $1.65 and the buyer need not have a coupon book to secure one of these tickets.

Anyone wanting a general admission ticket can get it at the Athletic Office for the regular price of $2.50. E. W. Hooker, superintendent of ticket sales, stated.

Library Reading Fund Receives 85 Dollars From Clubs

Dr. Thomas F. Mayo has received contributions for the amount of 85 dollars for the library general reading fund. The contributions were made by the A. & M. Mothers clubs of Dallas, San Antonio and Amarillo. The Dallas A. & M. Mothers Club contributed $50; the San Antonio Mothers Club contributed $25; and the A. & M. Mothers Club of Sonora, Texas gave $10. These contributions give a combined total of 195 dollars.

The general library reading fund is used by the library for the purchase of books and various classical records for the library. These books and records are purchased after being recommended by the student library committee which is composed of a group of Aggies.

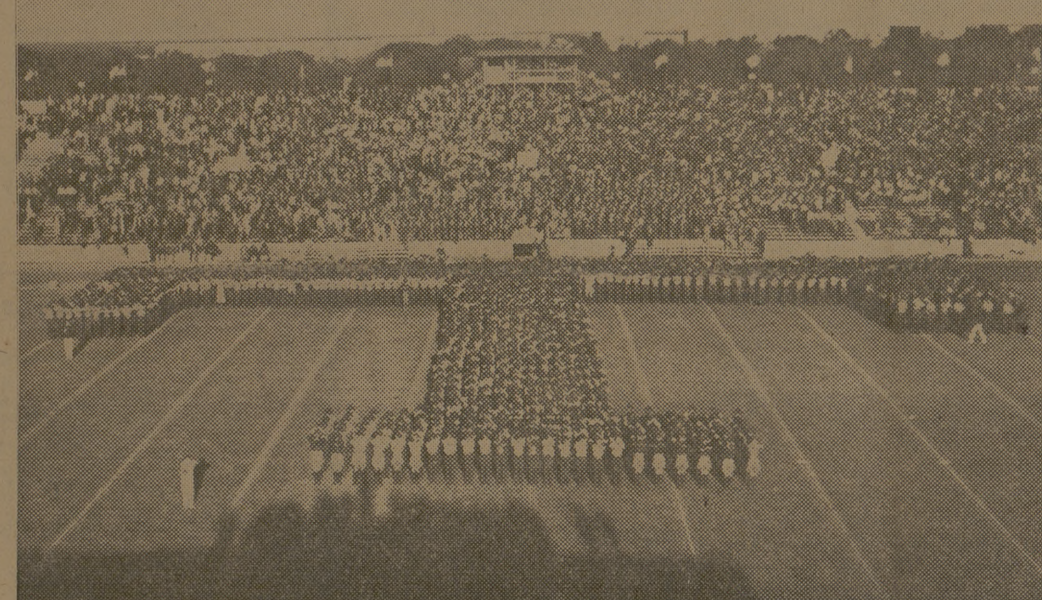

This fund has been receiving contributions from various mothers' clubs all over the state for the past four years.

Student Welfare Committee Selected To Consider Problems

Pedestrian traffic in streets of the campus, danger connected with the use of chains in blocking off streets, danger of freshmen rushing out on the football field at the conclusion of the game, and signs on the campus before football games were the things discussed at a banquet and meeting of the Student Welfare Committee held in Sbis Hall Tuesday night.

A committee which consisted of E. L. Angell, chairman, E. E. McQuillen, J. B. Hervey, Tom Gillis, and R. J. Tilton was appointed to further investigate the problems.

Highlights of Weekend Activities on Campus

A weekend full of many colorful events was viewed by thousands of visitors to the A. & M. campus who came to see the Aggie-S.M.U. football game and the Aggie Rodeo presented by the Saddle and Sirloln Club. The top scene was taken during a thrilling moment at the rodeo Friday night as one of the Rodeo contestants takes on a tough Brahma bull. Main attraction of the weekend was the football game which the Aggies won 21-10. Derace Moser, speedy A. & M. back, is seen dashing around his own right end for six yards. Richardson of A. & M. is about to block Wright of S.M.U. The other S.M.U. player is Goss. Ball Game, "T" Formation, and Rodeo are Highlights During Full Weekend of Activities on Aggie Campus

By Jack Decker
It was a week-end of activities at Aggieland—a week end that was climaxed by a thrilling football game and the twenty-third presentation of the annual Aggie rodeo.

The rodeo was presented Friday and Saturday in the Animal Husbandry Pavilion and proved to be one of the best planned and best executed shows ever to be put on here.

Cowgirls from all over Texas came to take part in the special ladies event, with Miss Annabelle Edwards of Big Spring acting as queen of the rodeo. Miss Edwards accompanied Shorty Fuller, who acted as king of the rodeo as well as the director of last year's show.

Jim Tom Day was selected as the winner of the rodeo with the title of the best all around cowboy who competed in the contests.

The different contests staged during the three performances were a mule riding race, calf roping, bare bronc riding, bull riding, wild cow milking, and the ladies ball race, with Duke Harrison providing the laughs as cowboy clown. The Aggie Rodeo is sponsored each year by the Saddle and Sirloln club and was directed this year by Caddo Wright.

Beginning Friday and continuing with ever increasing volume, the 12,000 visitors who jammed the campus over the week-end came for a thrill and got it.

Besides the ball game that was more than enough for anyone's money in one weekend, the visitors were able to witness the famous "T" formation put on by the entire student body of A. & M. This was the first time that the formation had been put on this year.

The Aggies lined up and marched on the field in the form of a huge "T" that extended from side line to side line and longwise from the 30 yard line to the 30 yard line, with everyone packed altogether as closely as possible. In this position, several yells were given. After the completion of the yells and at a

Noted Folk Lore Author Frank Dobie Will Speak in Bryan

J. Frank Dobie, famous author on Texas folk lore, will be the guest speaker of the Evening Study Club, which will meet in Stephen F. Austin high school in Bryan next Thursday night at 7:30.

J. Frank Dobie is the author of "Coronado's Children," "The Longhorns," "Vaquero of the Brush Country," "On the Open Range," and many other well-known western stories. Since Dobie was born and raised in Texas, his stories come from first hand information of the life in the west.

Members of the Evening Study Club are urged to be present and anyone interested in hearing this speaker is cordially invited to attend.

given signal the entire formation broke and ran for the stands.

A more perfect setup for a football game could not have been asked with perfect football weather and a perfect outcome in more games than one and with the larger part of the crowd observing that if only Hitler were defeated, it would be a perfect world.

Adriance and Jones Inspect Valley Citrus

Dr. G. W. Adriance of the Horticulture department and A. J. Jones of the Agronomy department are leaving this morning for the Rio Grande Valley, where they will inspect a 4,000 acre block of citrus orchards for the Farm Security Administration.

They will be assisted by W. A. Bownds and N. D. Bryant, graduate students in horticulture. The government is planning to use this acreage for a resettlement project in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Armistice Ceremonies Held at Noon To Honor Aggies Who Died in World War I

Ashton to Give Illustrated Talk To Sociology Students Wednesday Night

Basis of Lecture Will Be Experiences As Exchange Professor

Dr. John Ashton will give an illustrated lecture on Nicaragua and Central America under the auspices of the Rural Sociology Club in the lecture room of the Chemistry building Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Ashton has recently returned from Central America after a year's duty as Exchange Professor to Nicaragua under the Convention for the Promotion of Inter-American Cultural Relations. Dean E. J. Kyle, having also recently returned from South America, will introduce Dr. Ashton.

Two reels of film, "Picturesque Guatemala," will be shown also. These sound pictures, lent specially for this occasion by the Pan American Union, are descriptive of the Mayan Indian civilization that inhabits the western highlands of the Guatemalan mountains.

Eustace Talks This Morning To Marketing Seniors

Harry J. Eustace, vice president of Agricultural Trade Relations, Incorporated, will address the seniors majoring in Marketing and Finance at 10 o'clock this morning in room 207 of the Agricultural building.

The Agricultural Trade Relations Inc. strives to promote economic research in matters relating to agriculture and to facilitate arrangements for the purchase and distribution by chain stores of surplus foodstuffs held by cooperative organizations.

Eustace is a graduate of Michigan State Central College and Cornell University, and for a number of years he was professor at Michigan, later being connected with the Country Gentleman before assuming his present position.

Defense Subject Of ASME Meeting

National defense was the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the A. S. M. E. last Thursday night. Harold Ramsden told the meeting of a new type of cargo carrier which is being built at Orange, Texas, which has been called the "engineer's answer to a world crisis." The ship called the "Sea Otter" was developed to relieve the present shortage of shipping facilities. Using gasoline engines for power, it has retractable screws at the center of the hull. This new carrier can be constructed much more cheaply and quickly than the conventional kind. The British government is reported to have ordered several hundred of these new ships.

"Wright Builds for Air Emergencies," a film produced by the Wright Corporation, was shown. This movie showed in detail the steps in the construction of the giant Wright aircraft engines.

Louis Byrd announced that anyone who wishes a date from Huntsville for the A.S.M.E. dance in December should see him or Mr. Crawford's secretary before Tuesday.

Cryptographers Hold Call Meeting Tonight

The A. & M. Cryptography club will hold a called meeting tonight in room 310 academic building. The meeting will be the last one attended by E. K. Elmquist, organizer and faculty sponsor of the club. Plans for the future of the club will be made tonight.

At previous meetings of the club, talks have been made by Captain W. S. McCulley and H. L. Kidd of the English department. Elmquist, who has been called to Washington, D. C., by the war department as cryptography adviser, will speak at tonight's meeting. The meeting will begin immediately after yell practice.

Texas U Now Has 'Twelfth Man' - At Least 82 in Strength

Texas university now calls its football fans the "Twelfth Man." According to the Saturday issue of the Daily Texan, student newspaper of the university, the Twelfth Man "at least eighty-two strong," quote the Daily Texan, "rode the train to Waco last week with the team."

Could it be that our neighbors on the "Forty Acres" are envious of that Aggie spirit which they have so often ridiculed? Or could it be that they anticipated Saturday's upset and figured that they would need twelve men to beat that "good old Baylor line?" Eighty-two out of a student body of ten thousand are not many to support a fine football team! Although the Aggie Twelfth man is no longer unique we still have 6000 loyal supporters who are 1000 per cent behind the number one team in the conference and the nation. Perhaps the next thing in order is for the Aggies to get some cheer leaders, a pep squad, and a couple hundred cowbells!

Home Town Clubs To Reserve Rooms Before Each Meet

In a memorandum to the corps, Tom Gillis, Cadet Colonel, announced today that no permanent room assignments will be made for home town or county club meeting. "This is done because all clubs do not meet every Tuesday and we cannot hold all the rooms open every week," Gillis said.

The president of each club who desires to hold a meeting on any Tuesday night will have to make arrangements for a room for his club with Sergeant W. T. Dunbar in the commandant's office. Announcements that are to be made in the mess hall relative to the club's meeting should also be turned in at this time. Duplicate copies must be turned in.

Each club president will be responsible to the college business manager and to the head of the department that uses the room in which the club meets for closing the windows and doors and for the condition of all furniture and equipment in the room.

A & M Corps Staff Will Place Wreath On Aggie Monument

Today being Armistice Day the cadet corps and all members of the community will pause briefly to honor those men of A. & M. who lost their lives in the first World War in a ceremony at noon.

Members of the corps staff will gather at the memorial monument at the west gate where they will place a wreath at the foot of the monument which bears the names of those men who died for their country during the first World War.

Mess call will be sounded at 12:05 p. m. followed by Assembly at 12:08 p. m. Following the sounding of Assembly the entire corps, by organization, will be brought to the position of "Parade Rest." A brief pause will ensue and an announcement will be read over the amplifying system.

The announcement is as follows: "The corps of cadets is assembled at this time in accordance with our custom on this day to pay respectful tribute to the A. & M. men who paid with their lives in the service of their country to help bring this day into being."

This announcement will be followed by the reading of the roster of the men who lost their lives in the service of their country during the first World War. After each name is pronounced, a short roll will be sounded by the drummers detailed for the ceremony.

After the reading of the last name "Attention" will be sounded and the corps will be brought to the position by organization. As soon as the corps has come to "Attention," "Silver Taps" will be sounded over the amplifying system. At the first note of "Taps," all uniformed cadets in and out of ranks will "Salute" and remain (See ARMISTICE, Page 4)

Batdorf to Teach In Vacancy Left By Professor Elmquist

Franklin Batdorf will replace professor K. E. Elmquist of the English department who has been called to active duty with the army as a cryptographer. Batdorf has been a part time instructor at Cornell university for the past four years. Previous to his work at Cornell, he was an instructor at the University of Missouri, of which state he is a native.

Batdorf completed the requirements for the Ph. D. degree at Cornell in September of 1941, but the degree will not be conferred until the end of the current semester at that school in February of 1942. His dissertation for the degree was "A Study of George Crabbe's Tales."

Pan-American Relations Are Important Factor in Crisis

Note: This is the first of a series of articles designed to clarify the problems of Pan-Americanism and to show the opportunities open to North Americans in the southern hemisphere.

By Ken Bresnen

During present stressed world relations, the possibility of a closer relation between the two Americas is coming into prominence as a subject for political and economic discussion. It seems that it is imperative to defend the Western World from forces which are working to efface the American way of life. For many years our South American neighbors struggled to free themselves from European domination; for a like number of years the United States has tried to help them, but in so doing we have aroused a feeling of distrust and resentment.

First of all, this has been because we have tried to wield the "big stick" in the Western Hemisphere and force our methods on the Latin Americans without understanding their way of life. In order for the "good neighbor policy" to work satisfactorily it will be necessary to understand the reasons why they do things their way. The two Americas must first achieve a mutual understanding of each others philosophy of life.

Another reason for the failure of our attempts at establishing friendly trade relations is that we have not always upheld our full share of the burden. At present Latin America supplies us with 36 per cent of its refined copper asking in return only six per cent of the U. S. supply. A similar story is told of zinc and lead. Of these vital defense materials, South America gets about one fifth of its needs. Because of the red tape involved, no aluminum, anti-mony, tungsten, or mercury is shipped to Latin America in the form of manufactured products although it supplies us with the raw materials.

Fortunately, officials in the U. S. State Department are working day and night to remove the difficulty in obtaining priorities for south bound commerce. There are forces at work in both quarters for the betterment of diplomatic relations and trade agreements between the two hemispheres. Our government has adopted a policy of defending the western hemisphere from European domination. Let us begin by understanding those with whom we are to work!
