Tom Pickett, who has missed much service because of a twisted knee and bruised ribs is expected to be in condition for service Thursday.

Leo Daniels, having suffered a bruised shoulder, and Derae Moser, with a bad ankle, are both back in good shape. With the recovery of the injured Aggie backs, Norton's backfield will be back to its usual strength.

Passingest Team

The squad has been drilling against the Steers' ground game which has dealt much misery to previous opponents of the Longhorns. New pass plays have been devised and the Aggies are expected to live up to the title of "the passingest team," as given them by many sports writers.

of more than a score of excellent signs. Judges Tom Gillis and Hervey stated that pennants for the Texas game were the best of the year as a whole.

So outstanding was the Band flag that it will also be awarded ten silver dollars by Loupout as being the best sign of the year. Presentation of this gift will be made at the same time as the weekly prize.

ON KYLE FIELD

the Aggie confidence for the Thanksgiving game . . . it carried a number of quotes by the Aggie coaches and players such as a quote by Coach Norton, "We've got the Texas game in the bag." . . . Another such quote was by Bill Henderson who was supposed to say, "Those monkeys from T. U. don't have a chance . . . they better bring their Life magazine along to read at the half" . . . If Austin and the University think they can demoralize the Aggies with such tripe as put out by the Austin Daily Tribune they are sadly mistaken . . . As far as we know, Mr. Curt Bishop, in all probability, has not even seen the inside of College Station and yet he had his article datelined, "College Station, Tex. . . There's something fishy going on here . . . Again we say, "REMEMBER T. U. AND 1940."

STAR OF THE WEEK DEPARTMENT . . . To Presto Johnston, triple-threat star of the S. M. U. Mustangs, whose great exhibition last Saturday afternoon against the Baylor Bears, netted the Ponies a 14-0 victory.

Rosborough Is Texas' Hort Representative

Texas will be represented at the national conference of growers of vegetables for canning by Dewey C. Atwood of Edinburg and J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist, of the Extension Service.
