records in the nation, Coach Norton has indicated only one probable change. Les Richardson, regular guard, suffered a bad ankle in scrimmage, and is expected to be replaced by Weldon Maples in the starting lineup. The only other possible change may be at tackle where Leonard Dickey, brilliant sophomore tackle may start in the place of Euel Wesson. The rest of the lineup will include Henderson and Sterling at ends, Roy Bueck at the other guard post, Martin Ruby at tackle, and Dub Sibley at center. Along with Moser in the backfield will be Marshall Spivey at the wingback spot, Willie Zapalac at blocking back, and Jake Webster at fullback.

Meanwhile, the Texas Longhorns, already hopelessly out of the conference race, will attempt to regain the prestige which they lost to T. C. U. and Baylor. Picked by 99 experts out of 100 to finish no lower than first, the Steers went into this unforgettable November month with six consecutive victories by overwhelming scores, but alas and alack, the Bears of Baylor and the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. pulled the almost unbelievable by tying and trouncing the heretofore invincible Steers. Such is the case of the valiant Steer who went into this eleventh month of the year with the word "Rose Bowl" spread all over his forehead.

Casting all wins and losses aside, Coach Dana X. Bible and his gridsters, too, have been laboring overtime to be in top shape for today's fray. A win by the Steers would surely regain all their lost prestige and it is certain that the Longhorns will throw everything they have into the battle with the Aggies.

Layden and Crain
Leading the Steer attack will be Pete Layden, phenomenal triple-threatener, and Jack Crain, swivel-hipped halfback and ace field general. Layden is clearly remembered by Aggie patrons for his great work in stopping the powerful and oiled Cadet machine last year. It was his pass to Noble Doss on the 1 foot line which finally culminated in the winning touchdown. He is reported to be in top shape after being out at least half of the season with a chipped elbow and bad ankle.

The other half of the Texas touchdown twins is Crain, leading scorer and only second to the Aggies' own Jake Webster in extra-point kicking. Crain is primarily known for his quick breakaways which have gone anywhere from 55-80 yards. In '39 and '40 the Aggies stopped the "Nocona Nugget" cold, but it is a decided question this year. He suffered a slight ankle injury in the T. C. U. game and may not be in top shape. Should he not start, however, Spec Sanders will be inserted in his slot. Noble Doss and Vernon Martin are the other backs in the quartet.

nate luck of playing behind All-Conference End Jim Sterling. This fact has kept Harold from getting in as much time as his ability earns him but he did earn a letter in 1940. Cowley is strong on defense and has a reputation of rushing into the opposing backfield to muddle up the passer. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Freer High School. At A. & M. he won freshman numerals in football and track and since then has devoted all of his time to football.

Derace Moser, of Stephenville, Texas, is one of two 1940 starters left over but was shifted from wingback to tailback where he has been the main passer and punter for the Aggies. Moser is leading the conference as a passer and is high up in the list of ground gainers. His punting average is also among the best. In short, Moser is Aggie's triple-threat man. He won freshman numerals in football, basketball, and track and has won two letters in football and one in track in varsity play.

Martin Ruby, of Waco, Texas, is one of the starting Aggie tackles this year, after having understudied Chip Routt for two years. He played enough to earn two varsity letters. Ruby is an outstanding tackle in the conference and is one reason why A. & M. has the best tackle play in the Southwest.

Earl "Bama" Smith, of Frisco City, Alabama, is one of the two out-of-state boys on the squad. He is renowned for his execution of the hideout play. In the 1941 Cotton Bowl game against Fordham he took a long pass and ran 62 yards for a touchdown. His most famed hideout took place two years ago today against the Longhorns when he took a pass and set up the first touchdown of the day against the Steers. Bama has earned one football letter and two track letters.

Marshall Spivey of Lufkin, Texas, is the first string wingback and signal caller of the 1941 Aggies. Playing behind Bill Conatser and Moser for two years, he did not see much service but is one of the stars of this year's team. Spivey is a brilliant field general and has shown his skill in this season's Cadet victories. He won a freshman football numeral and has two varsity letters in football and one in track.

James Sterling of Panhandle, Texas, is the other remaining starter of the 1940 team and is the only All-Southwest Conference man left on the squad. Jim has also re-points, Fordham in a runaway over N. Y. U., Oklahoma over Nebraska by two touchdowns, Pittsburgh over Carnegie Tech, Boston College over Holy Cross, and Penn State over South Carolina by 27 marks.

ceived considerable All-American mention. He is the youngest man among the seniors and played on the 1939 National Champion Aggie team when he was only 17 years of age. Sterling, the best among the Aggie ends, is fast, a good pass receiver, and an excellent pass defense man. He has earned letters twice in football at A. & M.

Euel "Poppa" Wesson of Temple, Texas, is the other starting tackle on the Aggie squad and spent two years understudying All-Conference Ernie Pannell. Poppa is one of the largest men on the squad and has won two varsity football letters besides his freshman numeral.

Zolas Motley of Abilene, Texas, is another Aggie who was stymied by the excellent guards A. & M. had when he entered school. With Marshall Robnett and Charles Henke playing almost 60 minutes of every game it was difficult for anyone else to get any lettering time. He earned a freshman numeral and has turned in much brilliant play this year.

Maurice "Cotton" Williams of Marlin, Texas, has been a squad-man for the past two years but is getting in more playing time this year. There are four lettermen ends ahead of him but he has broken into the lineup numerous times. He transferred to A. & M. from Texas Military College and hence was ineligible for a freshman numeral.

These ten men were thought to be the only seniors to be lost to the Aggies but in a late check-up yesterday it was discovered that another player had been overlooked through some oversight.

Lester Richardson of Houston, Texas, is another of the long list of Aggies who were held back by stellar players just ahead of them. He is a scrappy guard and can play a good game. Les played several games in 1940, but, like other guards, could not supplant All-America Marshall Robnett. Richardson came to A. & M. from Marshall Junior College. It was in miscalculation that his expiring eligibility was overlooked. So you have the eleven seniors who have given all and asked for nothing in return. These are the boys who can really be termed as "Fighting Texas Aggies;" it is they who have played their hearts out for the Maroon and White. These seniors to whom victory has been so sweet and the one defeat so bitter well deserve to be placed on the list of "Aggie Greats." As they play their last game on the revered turf of Kyle Field today all their treasured memories of Aggie-land will pass in review as they strive to climax their football career with a victory over Texas university.

Baylor University Plans Debate Schedule

Baylor university can always herald herself on at least one championship team each year. That's in debate.

Credit goes to Professor Glenn R. Capp, a youthful speech teacher who is in his eighth year directing forensics at Baylor. His speakers during this period have won 78 per cent of their engagements and four first places in the national Pi Kappa Delta tournaments.
