AIR WEEK

made by A. S. Ware, county judge of Brazos County, and Ivan Langford, Mayor of Bryan.

The direct attention of the cadets has been focused on the air corps by the presence of an Army Air Corps recruiting truck on the campus. Staffed by Captains William H. Culbertson and C. T. Sprague, the truck has to date enlisted 39 men.

Another point of the week's interest in the air corps will be the showing of the motion picture "Keep 'Em Flying" simultaneously at all the Bryan theaters Wednesday through Friday of this week. The shows are being sponsored and endorsed by the local American Legion post and civic organizations and officials in Bryan; In order to make it easier for students to see this show, Captain Culbertson has secured permission for the Bryan-College Traction company buses to disregard all schedules and to run a continuous bus service between A. & M. and Bryan.

The next meeting of the local chapter of the A.A.U.P. will be held Tuesday night, December 16, at 7:30 p. m. in the Mechanical Engineering Lecture Room No. 303. products and machinery are vital. Great steps have already been taken in this direction by the Office of Emergency Management and the State department. Arrangements have been made with many southern countries to confine their exports of vital defense materials to the United States. In case purchases by private American industries do not absorb all the materials, the Metals Reserve Company and the Rubber Reserve Company will attempt to acquire all of the surplus at prices to be agreed upon at the time of purchase.

An Inter-American bank for the promotion of adequate credit facilities, for the increased commerce between the republics, has been proposed by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs.

Last week when the United States was attacked by Japan, the South and Central American countries proved their sincerity in desiring hemisphere solidarity by declaring war on the Nipponese empire even before our own congress had time to assemble.

True, many of these nations are small and comparatively powerless in a military sense, but they can help to make a blockade of the axis powers much more effective by refusing entry of totalitarian merchant ships to their ports. But aside from this aid and moral support, they have the raw materials which our industries will need to supply the armed forces in an all out war to defeat the dictators. Although great strides have been made in the development of South American industry, they are not sufficiently developed to give us material assistance. The United States is the richest nation in the world. If we are to receive the full benefit of the vast resources of Latin America, we must back South American enterprises to the limit.

this fall to net 456 yards. His 66 punts averaged 37.7 yards, and Nelson completed 25 out of 54 passes for a gain of 394 yards. He scored 48 of Alabama's 234 points.

Aside from the "all" boys composing the star-studded Tide, Alabama will start a formidable array of gridiron talent against the Aggies in the Cotton Bowl.

At the tackles will be Noah Langdale, 237-pound Phi Beta Kappa senior from Valdosta, Ga., and Mitchell Olenski, 220 pound sophomore. Langdale is the largest man on the squad and is one of the best defensive men on the team. Olenski was rated on the Associated Press All-Southeastern sophomore team along with Don Whitmire, 215-pounder from Decatur, who substitutes for Mitch.

At center is Joe Domnanovich (Dom-non-o-vich), 200-pound junior letterman, rounding out his first year as a starter on the Tide. Joe is backed up by Bull Wesley, 202-pound senior and Doyle Lockridge, 185-pound sophomore.

Jumping back in the secondary, Alabama presents one of the best squad of backs that has ever worn the red and white. At quarter is Al Sabo, 186-pound junior from Los Angeles, Calif., and Billy Harrell, 160-pound senior from Opelika. Sabo leaves the signal-calling duties to Holt Rast and Harrell, but is one of the best blocking backs in the Southeastern conference. Harrell is a letter-earner in football and track and is a smart field-general as well as a fine passer and kicker.

Dave Brown, 185-pound junior letterman from Birmingham, starts at right half with Nelson at left. and is also a highly-rated blocker. Brown trotted a punt back 61 yards in the Tulane game to score first for Alabama that day. Right behind Nelson and Brown are Russ Craft and Howard Hughes, a fine pair of speedy backs, sharing much of the ball carrying duties.

computers, and at repair stations, where detachments of "trouble-shooters" are ready to repair damage which may occur in action. Gunner's Mates must keep the guns themselves in a good state of repair at all times, and have custody, under the Captain, of all a ship's ammunition. They must run daily powder tests and keep an accurate check on powder temperature in various magazines.

At battle stations, Gunner's Mates have firing stations on all guns, control the ammunition supply to all batteries, and train and elevate the guns in response to signals from the gun director. The separate units aboard ship function as a closely-knit team, and the attitude of all Ordnancemen is reflected in the lines from the Firecontrolman's Code: "... My aim in life is to know my job... this to the end that the guns may fight as long as the ship floats."
