"Down With Japs" to Be Theme Of Sing Song at Game Tonight

The annual basket ball clash between A. & M. and Arkansas will introduce a new form of entertainment for the between-the-halves program at the game. The fans will participate in a group singing led by Richard Jenkins, director of the Singing Cadets.

Mrs. Lil Munnerlyn, composer of "The Twelfth Man," will accompany the singing at the piano. A new composition by Mrs. Munnerlyn, entitled "When Uncle Sam Gets Through" will be sung in addition to several other favorite American songs.

When Uncle Sam Gets Through
Oh! there'll be gaps in the ranks of the Japs
When Uncle Sam gets through!
And perhaps some brand new maps, when Uncle Sam gets through!
And it'll be "taps" for the dog-gone Japs
When Uncle Sam gets through!

Oh, there'll be saps in the land of the Japs,
When Uncle Sam gets through!
No one raps when America scraps, 'til Uncle Sam gets through!
In the air, on land or sea, CARRY ON to Victory!
And it'll be taps for the dog-gone Japs, when Uncle Sam gets through.

Sugar Rationing May Be Disguised Blessing; Consumption Is High

Rationing of cane sugar may prove to be a blessing in disguise. Specialists for the A. & M. Extension Service say Americans use too much sugar for their health. During the last half century sugar consumption has jumped from 10 pounds to between 75 and 100 pounds per person per year. The average consumption in England is 24 pounds. The same is true in Germany, while the average Japanese uses only eight pounds.

Besides The Mysterious Howard, tonight's Kadet Kapers will also be filled with the usual good fun and entertainment. Plenty of song sheets will be available for all who attend.

REGISTRATION

full schedule Monday, as the doors will be open until 9 p.m., he said. Cadets with advanced R.O.T.C. contracts do not have to register, it was announced by the military department. Sergeant Beck, of that department, said that approximately 400 of the 1064 cadets who have contracts at present would have been affected by the new registration.

Senior students, selected by Cadet Colonel Tom Gillis, will handle the student registration. They will be assisted by employees of the registrars office. A. Mitchell, retired head of the Engineering drawing department, will have charge of the civilian registration.

No questionnaires will be given registrants Monday nor will they be required to undergo any physical examinations at the time, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director has said.

Only nine questions will have to be answered by the registrants. They must give information about their identity, place of residence, and mailing address. Also the registrant will be required to list his telephone number, age, date and place of birth, and the name and address of the person who will always know his address, and his employer's name and address if he is working.

Instruction of Civilians Will Begin on February 24

Courses Will Cover Ten Day Period; Only Selected Group to Get Training

The facilities of A. & M. will be used by the War Department beginning February 23 for advanced training of selected civilians in protection against air raids, it was announced by Dr. T. O. Walton, who completed negotiations several days ago with Colonel George J. B. Fisher, Chemical Warfare Service.

The college War Department Civilian Defense School will be operated in conjunction with the training program of the United States Office of Civilian Defense, Dr. Walton explained, and the Chemical Warfare Service has been directed to organize and conduct the school at selected colleges and universities where necessary facilities can be made available to the War Department without interference with the normal educational activities of the institutions.

50 to 75 in Classes

Classes will include 50 to 75 students selected by state Civilian Defense Directors. Certification of students for the course is left solely with state directors, and no voluntary enrollees will be accepted at the school, it was explained.

The courses will run for 10 days each, a new course beginning each alternate Monday morning. The faculty and staff of the school will include six officers and 25 enlisted men in the Chemical Warfare Service, provided by the War Department.

College Provides Housing

The college will provide housing and meals for students, faculty and staff and classroom and storage space. The students will be housed in the Employees Dormitory of the college near the main post-office. One of the campus project houses will be utilized to house the staff of the school. Officers probably will be housed in one of the vacated campus residences; and all attaches of the school will take meals in the college dining halls.

Registration for the first class will be held from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday, February 22nd, and classes will begin Monday, February 23. The first class is scheduled to be graduated on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 4, and the second class of trainees will be registered Sunday, March 8.

Local Meetings Planned

The second Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each two-week period is reserved for the appearance of the faculty of the school at local meetings, to conduct local control center exercises and to instruct civilians in the various phases of chemical warfare defense methods.

Among the subjects included in the 10-day curriculum are: Military Defense and Civilian Protection, Civilian Defense Organization, Tactics of Aerial Bombing, Aircraft Warning Service, Effects of Aerial Bombardment, Explosive Munitions and Bomb Disposal; and many others such as war gases, first aid, etc.
