placed on the retired list. He passed away in Bryan about eight years ago. Mrs. Todd, his widow, now lives in the picturesque house at the S.W. corner of the new drill field—the house with all the pretty flowers."

Thanks a million, Aggie-ex Baker . . . although the statement was a quote from another paper, Backwash is honored to make the correction . . . incidentally, Col. Todd is listed in the Former Students Office in the class of 1897 . . . and John E. Mitchell, '28, is the only other Aggie-ex to hold down the post of head bull—he was a civilian commandant.

Sweepings

Backwash doesn't go in for malicious libel and must refuse to publish a note from an anonymous author reading: "A certain Captain in the Military Department was seen purchasing paper dolls—the cut-out kind. We wonder if he had a certain young lady with the MUMPS in mind." . . . the note has a very "official" look—stationery and all.

BASEBALL

Should the sun give the boy a break this afternoon, Coach Dimmitt plans to have an intensified hitting practice in preparation for Baylor. It was against these same Bears that the Cadets hit a snag and found themselves on the short end of the score in one of the games.

TRACKSTERS

squadman tosses to shotgun for the squad.
 John Cheatum is featured in the mile run; Arthur Harnden runs the 220; Jim Battin and Vernon Bellville hold down the middle-distance runs; Clifton Power takes on the hurdles while Jack Ayres and Gordon Irwin take care of the dashes.

The highpoint of the Fish tracksters so far this season is their record in the Southwestern Fat Stock Show and Exposition meet in Fort Worth when they ran their score up to the astounding total of 76 points.

The relay events are the big points in the Fish squad's offense. They have defeated the Aggie varsity in all of the relay divisions.

Engineer Drawing Courses Enroll 54 Persons for 16 Weeks of Training

A total of 54 men and women signed up for the engineering drawing courses offered at the Consolidated High School at College Station and the Stephen F. Austin High School in Bryan Monday night and started the 16-week course which will fit them to help out in the drafting rooms of war industry plants.

Of the 54 enrolled 35 of them were women who will take the industrial drafting course with 17 registered at College and the remaining 18 at Bryan. Another six ladies entered the advanced engineering course which is being offered only in Bryan. A total of 13 men complete that class.

Prof. W. E. Street, head of the engineering drawing department at Texas A. & M. college, in charge of the courses, said Tuesday that he was highly pleased with the enrollment Monday but hopes that several more will sign up for the women's section at the Wednesday classes and that at least another half-dozen men will take the course.

"The course should not be confused with the courses offered at the college for we have designed it to fit anyone who may care to take it. Many feared that geometry would be essential to doing the work but most of the students will have completed the course without even knowing they used geometry at all," he explained at the opening lecture Monday.

Prof. Street explained that engineering drawing as taught to the three classes will be more or less a case of individual instruction since some may be able to do the work more rapidly and with little help. To many the instruction will be merely a freshener course.

It is not necessary that the men and women taking the course supply their own drawing instruments as arrangements have been made to rent the equipment from the two schools at a cost of $1 a student for the 16-week course.

Classes will meet Monday and Wednesday at both Bryan and College for the women's industrial drafting course and on Tuesday and Thursday for the men and advanced women at Bryan. Classes last from 7 to 10 o'clock but if the students can not be on hand at the opening hour they can come late and catch up on other evenings. Little instruction was given at the opening class so late enrollees will not be behind.

A text book and manual costing $4 for the women's course and $5 for the men's course are the only costs to the students if they have their own instruments but if not then another $1 is added to the cost for the rent of such equipment. Street said that the text books will be needed by the graduates in their work should they accept positions in drafting rooms after completing the course.

"There is a vital need for draftsmen right now and it is our hope that we will be able to help fill that need with some of these classes," he said.

Those still desiring to enroll for either of the courses can do so by reporting to the drawing room in the basement of the Bryan High School or at the drawing room at the Consolidated high school in College Station at 7 o'clock Wednesday or Thursday.

The course at college will be conducted by Prof. C. H. Groneman of the industrial education department; the class for women at Bryan will be instructed by C. N. Hielscher of the industrial educational department; and C. H. Ransdell of the engineering drawing department, will be in charge of the men's class at Bryan.

Stone-Deaf Snakes

The strangest, and least known fact about rattlesnakes is that they are comparatively stone deaf, and that the beating on a dish-pan has failed to evoke the slightest response from the otherwise highly nervous reptile; but let someone walk in the vicinity of a rattler, and he will immediately assume an attitude of defense, for any vibrations transmitted through solid objects are readily received by the marvelously developed tactile sense of the rattler.

DISTRACTIONS

The main distraction concerning "Dr. Kildare's Victory" is that too much time has been spent elaborating on the unimportant details of the dispute between two hospitals as to just where they had the jurisdiction to pick up patients in their ambulances.

Dorothy Lamour and enjoyable motion pictures are synonymous. She and Lloyd Nolan are appearing in "ST. LOUIS BLUES" in the benefit show at the Campus today, sponsored by the Kream and Kow Klub.

If you are not too strict about how much credulity there is in a motion picture and like lots of action, then you should like "PACIFIC BLACKOUT." Robert Preston and Martha O'Driscoll are the leading players in the story that will be at the Campus tomorrow and Saturday. The things that occur in the film are possibly prophetic of what the future holds in store for us.

only a part of a coordinated program offered by other Texas colleges."

The 72 courses are offered in Houston, Dallas, Bryan, Tyler, Beaumont, Prairie View, College Station, Fort Worth, Kilgore, Waco, Galveston, Lufkin, Port Arthur, Texas City, Grand Prairie, Marshall, Denton, Freeport, and Mineral Wells.
