"You're not going to walk home in that condition?"

"Of (hic) course not. Gonna drive."

★
Two roosters in the rain—one drowned.
The other took a duck under the porch.

★
Have you heard the story about the fellow that took his girl out in the night and mist?

★
The young minister was reading announcements at the Sunday service. He stumbled across one of them and the following words slipped out: "The Little Mothers' League will hold their weekly meeting this afternoon. All those who wish to become Little Mothers please see me in the rectory."

A hot spell story that we like is about the girl who went swimming in the raw in a secluded mill pond. Along came a little boy who tied knots in her clothes. She flopped around, found an old washtub, held it up in front of her and marched toward the little boy saying, "You little brat, do you know what I'm thinking?"

"Sure," replied the little brat, "You're thinking that tub has a bottom in it."

★
This little sheep went to market.
This little sheep stayed at home.
That's why we have virgin wool.

★
Aggie:—Do you care to neck with the light on or off?

Aggie's date:—Yes.

★
"Papa, what is the person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?"

"A bartender, my boy."

★
Then there was the member of the track team who was such a poor high-jumper that he couldn't clear his throat.

★
On a street-car a man gave his seat to a woman. She fainted. On recovering she thanked him. Then he fainted.
