Promotion of Lt. J. Monroe Harris, commander of the Monroe, Louisiana sub-depot of the air service command, from the rank of second lieutenant to first lieutenant, has been officially announced.

Lt. Harris graduated from A. & M. in June, 1941, and was in A Infantry. He was a first lieutenant on the first battalion staff during his senior year, and majored in Accounting and Statistics.

He was born January 23, 1918, at Center, Texas, and went directly into active military service from college. While here, he completed the ROTC course in infantry, and received his commission May 31, 1941.

After a brief tour of duty at Camp Wolters, Lt. Harris went to Kelly Field, Texas, where he transferred from the infantry to the air corps.

Early this year Lt. Harris was assigned to Barksdale Field as assistant sub-depot supply officer. He held that position until his Monroe assignment. His promotion is dated June 17, 1942.

In Monroe, Lt. Harris has been joined by his wife, the former Miss Aline Low of San Augustine, Texas, whom he married August 26, 1940 at Bryan.

He has recently finished "Yankee Cavalcade" for Twentieth-Century Fox, and is now working on a play to be completed sometime this winter called "White Orchid."

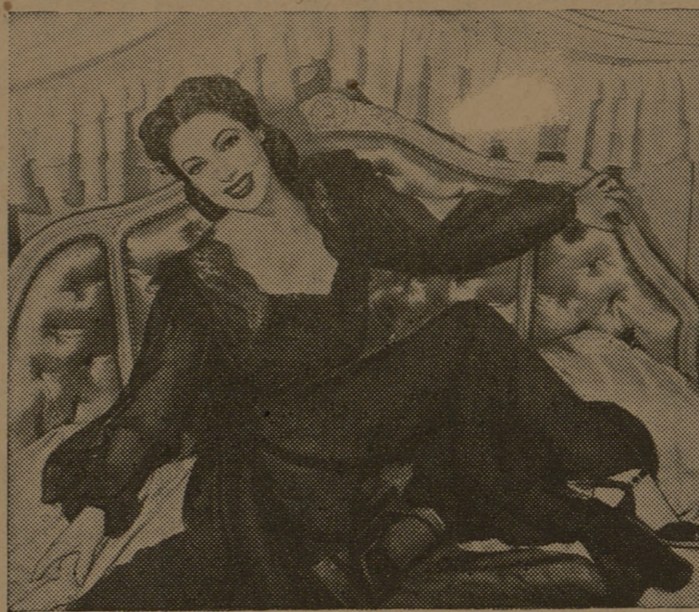

After ten years in Hollywood, Raine says that there is no finer place on earth. Motion picture people, both famous and otherwise, are really hard-working, serious, responsible people, and the glamour tales that go into ten-cent movie magazines are for those who feel like paying that price for a little glamour.

When asked about the cast for the Aggie picture, he said nothing had been decided, and that several stars had been considered, but "There will be plenty of girls," he added.

Rev Norman Anderson Speaks on Relation Of Hate and the War

Sunday morning Rev. Norman Anderson of the Presbyterian church will speak on a topic which should be of importance to all students of the military service age. His subject will be "Is it Right to Hate If Hate Is Necessary to Win the War?" trying to clarify the conflict between the principles which are involved in the life and death struggle which the powers of the world are engaged in at the present time.

"Bedtime Story"

Lovely Loretta Young is starred with Fredric March in Columbia's gay new comedy, "Bedtime Story," which opens Saturday night at the Campus Theatre with Robert Benchley, Allyn Joslyn, Eve Arden and Helen Westley. Story of a girl who kissed, and told her love story to a Reno judge, "Bedtime Story" was directed by Alexander Hall, the maker of "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" and other sensational comedy hits.

Destructive Fires Are Constant Menace to Our Personal Safety

Destructive fire is a constant menace to our personal safety, as well as the safety of our property, it is claimed by Marvin Hall, State Fire Commissioner.

Calling attention to the destructiveness of fire, whether it be an act of sabotage, or caused by carelessness, Hall added:

"However dangerous and destructive a fire may be when set by an enemy agent, a fire caused by careless neglect can do just as much damage."

The Commissioner said carelessness with regard to fire hazards is one of the country's greatest dangers as wartime production is speeded.

"Disregard of simple rules of precaution against the outbreak of fires," he continued, "can cause destruction of an entire factory in an hour or so. This means serious material loss in the plant itself, to say nothing of the lost production of materials needed for warfare."

"More property was destroyed by fire in the United States during 1939 and 1940 than was destroyed by German bombing raids on England during the same period.

Quoting figures of a leading British financial paper, Hall said the estimated British property loss from bombing was placed at $480,000,000 during 1939 and 1940. Fire loss in the United States during that time was estimated at $561,000,000.

A light plain background is desired for all pictures. For Senior Favorites any close-up will be satisfactory.

—DISTRACTIONS—

March, Loretta Young and Robert Benchley.

Fredric March is the playwright husband of Loretta Young, a Broadway actress who wants to retire to private life. But her husband wants her to act in one more of his plays, and when she thinks she can't stand his begging any longer, off she goes to Reno and gets a divorce. He follows her, interrupts her honeymoon with her second husband and things begin to pop.

The picture is pretty dull at first, but after the scene shifts to Reno and March starts trying to win his wife back, things pick up considerably. Allyn Joslyn, as the second husband, is good; Robert Benchley would be better if he had more to do.

Local Police Make First Aid Kits To Give Air Wardens

The police committee of the national defense committee of College Station is making two hundred first aid kits to be distributed to all persons who have completed the standard twenty-hour first aid course and to all air raid wardens, according to Harry Boyer, chairman of the committee.

Three small bottles less than three ounces in volume are needed for each of these kits to be used for alcohol, some antiseptic and ammonia. To defray expenses the police committee asks all people who have these small bottles with a stopper in their possession to keep them until their area air raid warden can pick them up in the near future.

—YELL LEADER—

(Continued from Page 1) ished and put away to cool. He replied, "Retire a millionaire at an early age," then said seriously, "I want a regular Army commission if I can get one, and," he added, "I want to meet a beautiful blonde I can love to death!"

Speaking of girls, the little Major is what some folks call a "natural." All he has to do is just grin at them, and they come a-running. Take a hint, though, girls. If you want to really catch Bob Hanby, you had better whip up some ice cream or fried chicken. He almost likes them as well as he does his new job as yell leader.

"There is only one thing I didn't like about the reception for Raine Thursday night, and that was the way the fish messed up the songs and yells. Maybe we need to hold a few yell practices before September, but if the fish would learn the yells and songs it wouldn't be necessary and the corps as a whole would seem about three times as good," he said today.
