"Which one is it that always looks so smart in his... Varsity-Town suits?"

Note to politicians... Make up a ticket of Varsity-Towns and you'll have a landslide! Among our favorite candidates for Fall are "Forestone"—the new cheviot shade... "Royal Oxfords"... "American Tweeds"... and "Mayfair Flannels"... and they all stand on a platform of smarter, more casual modeling.

Williamson Picks Aggies And Hardin-Simmons to Win

By Paul B. Williamson
The Williamson System hit down the middle with its "shockers" predictions last week with 8 out of 10 correct. This week it's 15 "shockers"—the most startling predictions—and here's to electrifying results.

In the Southwest the System disagrees with the experts and expects Hardin-Simmons to beat Southern Methodist and Baylor to win over Arkansas. I'll also take the Texas Aggies over Corpus Christi. Here's an Extra Special in an inter-sectional game, Wisconsin over Missouri.

HOME TEAM	WR
Arkansas	88.0
Corpus Flyers	83.0
L. S. U.	93.7
S. M. U.	85.8
TEXAS CHRISTAIN	90.7
Texas Tech	85.2
Texas U.	94.5
Tulane	80.1

consin over Missouri. After that take North Carolina to beat Fordham. Also take Santa Clara over California, Nebraska over Indiana, and Georgia Preflight over Duke.

The Michigan—Iowa Naval Cadets battle should be the leading game of the week with Michigan to win possibly by a field goal or safety. Minnesota should take Illinois and Oregon get the better of Washington. Penn should barely skin over Yale and the same for Denver over Colorado State. Yes, Oklahoma A. & M. over Texas Tech, and of course, there'll be upsets or it wouldn't be FOOTBALL.

VISITING TEAM	WR
BAYLOR	89.2
TEXAS A. & M.	91.0
MISS. STATE	92.0
HARDIN SIMMONS	89.0
Kansas	80.0
OKLA. A. & M.	87.0
Oklahoma	87.0
RICE	94.2

in an unusually good performance as the 100 year old lady who relates her past life to young reporter Katharine Stevens. Also the cast includes Joel McCrea and Brain Donlevy, two other assets which help to overcome the deficits of the picture.

The story has Barbara Stanwyck telling the hitherto unknown facts in the life of Ethan Hoyt (Joel McCrea), builder of Hoyt City, a town as large as New York City. All through his life, she walked in the background and lent him her strength so that he could go ahead with his dream and build a city of such size. Brian Donlevy plays the part of the other man in the great lady's life. To him, all the audience's sympathy goes, instead of to Joel McCrea, who is arrogant and not given to understanding his wife. The story starts in 1848 with the elopement of Ethan Hoyt and his young bride and through her storytelling, the events are brought up to the twentieth century.

Aggie Poloists Will Play Army Sunday

As another feature of the Cavalry Ball and horse show a polo game will be played Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. on the Artillery drill field between the Aggie quartet and an Army team composed of the local teams coaches and the new Cavalry instructors.

It will be student against pupil as the Aggies meet a team which will have Captain A. P. Utterback and their coach Lt. W. G. North riding against them. This will be a farewell tilt for Capt. Utterback and Lt. North as they are to leave within the next few weeks for Ft. Riley. Also on the army team will be Capt. Harry O. Owens and Lt. Donald F. Isaacson, the two new instructors for the cavalry. These officers have just come from Ft. Riley. Rounding out the army team will be Jack Hayes.

The present Aggie team returned from San Angelo two weeks ago victorious after having beaten Big Spring, one of the best teams in West Texas.

The line-ups for the game will be:
Army: Isaacson 1, Owens 2, Hayes 3, North 4, Utterback, alternate Aggies: Raley, Mertz, McCowen, Braid, Harding, Buie, alternates.

gia Tech in a breeze over Chattanooga (if that choo-choo pulls the unexpected I'll call it quits), Texas Tech over Oklahoma A.&M., Alabama University by 20 points over Pensacola Naval Air Station, Wisconsin in a close shave over Missouri, and Indiana in another close one over Nebraska.

Here's another batch: Auburn over Florida, Georgia Preflight Cadets over Duke, Northwestern over Purdue by a couple of touchdowns, Oregon University over Washington, Great Lakes Naval Base over Pittsburg, Georgia over Mississippi University, Army over Cornell, Boston College over Clemson by 13 points, and the Navy over Princeton.

er, had been spelling Franck and was developing into an exceptional passer.

A Good Team
Nevertheless the Flyers are going to field a team which will give the Aggies plenty of competition before the final whistle blows. They are a team with plenty of potentialities and once they start clicking the opponents are well nigh to feel the effects.

—AGGIES— (Continued from page 3)

Lightnin' Leo Daniels will go a long way toward deciding the outcome of today's game. It may be remembered that it was this same Daniels who broke the Texas Tech spirit with a 55 yard touchdown jaunt in the first minute of play.

Regular Backfield
Calling signals will be Cullen Rogers, unheralded gridster who has been an important cog of the Cadet backfield. He is an exceptional pass receiver besides being an above average runner. Willie Zapalac, who has been showing improvement by the week will be at his regular blocking back post but may see plenty of service at the fullback slot. He has been running at that post a big part of the week. Should the Aggies kick off, however, Ed Dusek, phenomenal place kick artist, will take Zapalac's place for that purpose.

The line, headed by the sensational Felix Bueck at guard and Bill Henderson at end, will be in the best shape of the year. Boots Simmons, the Aggies' unsung wingman, is ready for action again after being slowed down for the past three weeks because of an ankle injury. Wayne Cure, who was one of the lineman stars last week will start at the other guard berth. Bill Sibley will be at center while Sturcken and Ben Stout will get the call at the tackle posts.

Pin Hope on Franck
Meanwhile, Coach Marty Karow's Naval Cadets will pin their hopes upon the shoulders of speedy George Franck, former All-American star at Minnesota. Riddled by injuries and transfers, the Karowmen will be at a decided disadvantage, but with Franck in the lineup and such stars as Billy Dewell and Ed Frutig, former All-Southwest Conference and All-American wingmen respectively, Sam Chapman, formerly of Southern California and many other top-flight footballers, that situation may be easily remedied.

The Flyers suffered a hard blow when C. A. Monfort, a "heavy gum" for the Comets against Rice a couple of weeks ago was recently commissioned as an ensign and detached from the naval air station. Ensign Montford, a southpaw fling-

—RIFLE TEAM— (Continued From Page 3)

Last year the varsity team had a successful season with an average of 75% wins over all opponents in postal matches. Besides these shoulders to shoulder matches were fired with state teams and some individual matches were held. The freshmen team beat their big brothers as far as percentages were concerned as they won 95% of their matches. Thus success of this team was due largely to the rifle marksmanship school conducted before the actual firing. This same school will be held again this year as explained in the preceding paragraph.

Officers for the team are Russell Cook, captain; Howard Crossland, secretary-treasurer; and Clayton D'Avy; reporter.
