Wanger Announces Vanity Fair Selections

Nominees Will Get Full Page Picture In 1943 Longhorn

Judge This Year Continues Long Line of Celebrities From Nation's Entertainers

Walter Wanger, producer of the forthcoming motion picture featuring A. & M., has completed selection of eight girls to have their pictures in the Vanity Fair section of this year's Longhorn, John Longley, editor announced today.

The winners in the order listed were:

- Margery Brewer,
- Jo An Nelson,
- Jackie McKay,
- Helen Oliver,
- Nancy Harrison,
- Martha Franza,
- Viola Brewster,
- Alice Sue Roman.

The entries were presented to Wanger in two full length poses, one in evening dress, and one in street clothes. In addition to these shots, there was a close up of each.

Every year an outstanding figure in the entertainment world is asked to make the selections of the eight Vanity Fair beauties. Longhorns in the past have had the Vanity Fair girls selected by such celebrities as Kay Kyser, Cecil B. DeMille, and Earl Carrol.

The Vanity Fair section of the Longhorn is chosen from the pictures submitted to the Senior Favorites Section by the seniors exclusively.

All entries for Vanity Fair will be returned to the student entering them by calling at the Student Activities office.

Dr W P Taylor To Make Address For Science Meeting

Student members of the Collegiate Division of the Texas Academy of Science from fifteen colleges and universities will be here November 12-14 for the Academy's annual meeting, according to word received from the Academy secretary, Dr. L. T. Murray of Baylor University.

Two symposia of timely importance, one on "Utilization and Conservation of Biological Resources" under the direction of Dr. Walter P. Taylor of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and head of the Department of Fish and Game Conservation at A. & M. and the other on "Utilization and Conservation of Resources of Concern to Physical Scientists and Geologists" under the leadership of Dr. L. W. Blau of the Humble Oil and Refining Company are to be held under the auspices of the Academy.

In addition to these symposia and the banquet address by Dr. Henry B. Ward of the University of Illinois, there will be a full program of speeches, lectures, and discussions for each of the five sections of the Academy during the meetings.

The United Science Club's fall contest will also be held at that time. Prizes will be awarded to W. F. Oxford of the American Chemical Society and Joe Kelsey, of the Kream and Kow Club, winners in the United Science contests held last August. Each is to be presented with a gold key by his respective sponsor at the next meeting of his club.

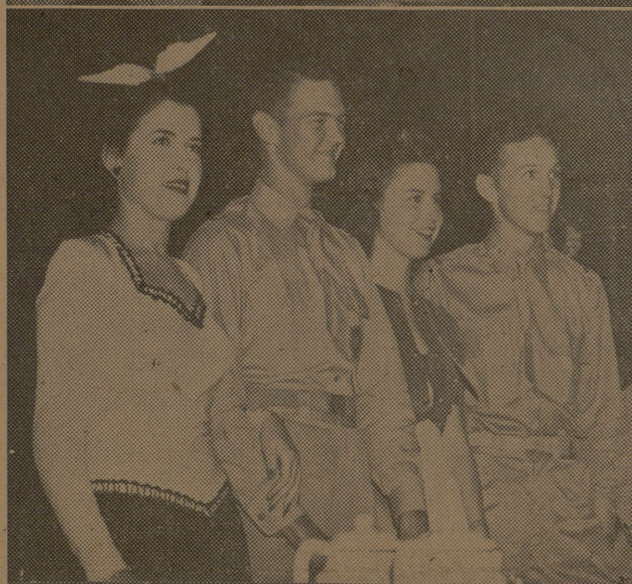

Dr. C. C. Doak, room 26, Science building, asks that all manuscripts for the fall contest be submitted to him before November 1.

150 Hour Degree Is Abolished

Student Allowed To Graduate Lacking 6 Hrs Required Work

With the repeal of the "150 hour degree" in a meeting of the Academic Council Friday, a new system was set up whereby students who are leaving college for military service may obtain their degree. Application for a degree under the new special provisions should be filed with the office of the registrar not later than October 31, 1942, Dean F. C. Bolton said Monday.

Any student who is called to active duty at the close of this semester, or near enough to the close of this semester to receive credit for the semester's work under the rules of the Academic Council and who lacks not more than six credit hours of meeting the requirements for the Bachelor's degree at the close of this semester, may be granted his degree provided he meets certain requirements.

He must have credit for a minimum of 136 hours and not be more than six hours short of the full requirement. This deficiency cannot include any course which is certified by the head of the department in which he is to receive his degree or any course which is required by the college for graduation.

The candidate must have registered for the full number of hours he is allowed to carry this semester and he must pass all of them. He must have met the full legal requirement for American government. Any shortage the candidate might have must not be in a subject which he failed this semester or in any subject in which he must take a special examination in order to pass.

He must have one grade point per hour of the full major study requirements. In the general grade points the total shall not be less than one grade point per hour of the student's full requirements plus four grade points for each credit hour of deficiency (not more than six).

As an example: Total requirement 155 hours, major study 60 hours. Passed 149 hours total, major hours passed 57. Grade point minimum requirement major 60; general 155 plus six times four equal 179.

Major E L Hunter Is Transferred To Camp Wolters

Orders from the War Department transferring Major E. L. Hunter to Camp Wolters at Mineral Wells, were received yesterday morning at the adjutant's office, states Lt. Col. A. J. Bennett, adjutant.

An announcement of Major Hunter's leaving was made by a Houston paper some time ago, but until yesterday, nothing official had reached the Military department here.

Major Hunter, replaced here by Lt. Jack Kimbrough, will report on October 26.

Dames Club Will Hold Student Wives Tea

A tea for the wives of all students, and for the wives of the Navy and Marine Corps men will be held Thursday afternoon, October 22, from 4:30 to 6:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. G. Gay, 201 Suffolk Drive in Oakwood.

Mrs. Gay and Mrs. M. L. Cashion, sponsors of the Dames Club, urge that all Dames Club members attend, and especially invite all the new navy and students' wives.

YMCA Has Provided Morale Building Recreation For 98 Yrs

By Tom Journey

Ninety-eight years ago a young Londoner was inspired with an idea that created one of the greatest youth movements the world has ever known, one that has had a tremendous influence on the lives of millions of boys and young men.

This movement was the Young Men's Christian Association; the man was George Williams.

Next Sunday at 1:50 o'clock in Guion hall immediately before the free show starts, the College Station YMCA will honor the memory of the founder of this famous youth movement, with the unveiling of a portrait of Williams.

The portrait, a full-color reproduction of an oil painting by Leo S. Trimm, nationally known portrait artist, shows Williams as he appeared when a young man, about the time he called together a small group of companions in an upper room of a London drygoods store to outline his plan for an organization dedicated to promoting Christian brotherhood and activity among young men.

Instrumental in Entertainment
The local Y has been instrumental in providing Aggies with entertainment of many types, when gas and rubber rationing has kept the thumbin' Ags a little closer to home.

Four bowling alleys in the basement recreation room of the recently remodeled Y are constantly busy, with hot competition afoot to decide the champion of the alleys. Statistics show that 61,000 The local Y has been instrumental-availed themselves of this pastime last year.

Building Recently Remodeled
Extensive remodeling was completed recently, making the lobby and lounges of the Y one of the most modern and best equipped in the country. The lobby was divided into three large rooms, the main lobby, the Mother's club lounge, and the Ex-Student's lounge. All of these rooms have been, or will soon be elaborately furnished with facilities provided for every conceivable type of gathering. Nearly all the furnishings have arrived for the two side lounges, but the main lobby still awaits several pieces.

Two additional rooms were built on the building, one each side of the lobby in the form of solariums which proved to be one of the most popular places on the campus for Aggies and their weekend dates at dance intermissions and as a meeting place for friends.

80,000 Hours of Billiards Shot
Eighty thousand hours of billiards were shot on the tables in the old and new Y buildings together, which, brother, is a lot of three cushion shots!

Ping Pong, too, has had its place in the Y sports program, with about eighty thousand hours of hot playing marked down in the books for last year. Several champs have been decided of the Y's tables.

In February the YMCA went on the record as sponsoring the Religious Emphasis Week along with the church denominations on the campus. Dr. George W. Truitt of Dallas, was the main speaker.

Local Chapter Of SAE to Get Charter
Combined meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences for the purpose of presenting the charter to the first student chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers will be held tonight in the Chemistry Lecture Room at 8 o'clock.

Hollister Moore of the New York S. A. E., Allen Guiberson, president of the Texas S. A. E., Fred L. Lockwood and W. E. Lind of the Guiberson Diesel Corp. will be speakers at the meeting and will welcome the new S. A. E. branch member to their ranks.

All members of the three societies are requested to be present and to bring with them other students interested in the work of these organizations. Membership will be taken in each of these clubs, therefore all freshmen and frogs are urged to attend and become familiar with these activities.

El Paso Club Will Be Organized Tonight
All students from El Paso and surrounding towns will meet in Room 206 of the Academic building tonight at 8:15 o'clock for the purpose of forming an El Paso Club. Officers will be elected.

Plans will be made at this meeting for putting the club picture in the Longhorn and for the dance to be held in El Paso during the Christmas holidays.

Oldest Members Go First; Induction Order Uncertain

All Enlisted Students Who Have Transferred Here Asked to Sign Up With Col Marshall

No actual changes have been made as yet in the policies of the army with regard to calling in men enrolled in the enlisted men's reserve corps, states Lt. Col. L. W. Marshall, in charge of all enlistments in different branches of the armed services at A. & M.

"Enlisted Reservists 20, 19, and 18 years of age will not be called until the completion of the present semester," declared Col. Marshall, "and at that time they will be called in that order, oldest first." It is the belief of local recruiting officials that those students taking courses that prepare them for some specific service upon completion of their studies, will be allowed to continue their schooling longer than those taking a general course of study. Nothing definite, however, has yet been said about the actual order of induction with regard to the course of study.

New form of application blanks have been issued by the Joint Army-Navy-Marine Corps - Coast Guard Procurement Office that allow Sophomores and Freshmen to enlist in the Enlisted Reserve Corps stating at the time of their enlistment which branch of the armed forces they had rather serve with when called to duty.

Neile Elected To Head Southwestern Student Press Club

Glenn Neile from Hardin Simmons University was elected president of the organization; Bill Duncan of Baylor received the office of vice-president, and Anita Walker, sophomore journalism student from the University of Texas was elected secretary. As adult secretary, Willard Ridings of T. C. U., was re-elected by the convention.

The program opened Thursday afternoon with registration in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A. Thursday night the conference resumed with addresses by Dr. John Ashton of the Rural Sociology Department, Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the college, and Major James E. Crown, editor of the New Orleans States, who gave the main address on the topic, "Newspapers and the War."

On Friday the conference broke up into separate discussions among writers for yearbooks, newspapers, and magazines, and advertising and business managers. Later that day all the conference assembled in Guion Hall for discussions with editors of various publications in the South.

By way of entertainment, the group was given a barbecue at the Bryan Country Club, a Juke Box prom Friday night at the grove, and attended the A. & M.-T. C. U. football game and the Corps Dance Saturday night.

Contrary to a rumor which had students concerned in a frenzied state the other day, no reservists have been called in to the service, or are about to be called from present indication, states Col. Marshall. A rumor had it that all students that transferred from other ROTC schools that had enlisted in the Enlisted Reserve Corps, would be called immediately. That is not true.

However, all ERC transfers that enlisted at some other school—regardless of where or when—should go by the Student Records Office and see Miss Ada Duncan. As far as the Eighth Corps service command knows, those students left school, thereby making them subject to immediate call to duty. Their transfer to this school, of course, is the same as their remaining in the school they enlisted in, provided the office of student records here is properly notified, states Col. Marshall. The Student Records office is on the second floor of Ross Hall.

"One of the main points to keep uppermost in mind," stated Col. Marshall, "is the fact that all informed authorities—that's from the President on down—have urged that all college students continue with their education even more carefully and diligently since a trained man is of much more use to his country than an untrained one. Do not believe the hundreds of rumors that are being circulated with regard to students being drafted and called up for duty. You will be notified in plenty of time through proper channels when and if you are about to be called," concluded Col. Marshall.

Sandburg Featured On WTAW Spot

Carl Sandburg, biographer of Lincoln, poet and authority on Americana, presents a tribute to the memory of a great ship, and joins with Conrad Thibault, baritone, Earl Rogers, tenor, and David Broekman's orchestra and chorus in a group of American folk songs, on the "Treasury Star Parade" broadcast which airs today at 11:30 o'clock over Station WTAW.

Major Dufton Emphasizes Fact That Nations Must Cooperate

That America and Great Britain must move closer together than they ever have been if they are to win this war and make a lasting peace was the crux of the talk Major Leslie B. Dufton, British Consul from Houston, made Saturday night at the war movie program.

Major Dufton spoke in the lecture room of the Chemistry building at 8 o'clock to a receptive audience made up of faculty members, sailors, and a good representation of Aggies and their visitors. The major, who has lived at intervals in Texas for the past twenty years, showed a sympathetic understanding of the problems which exist in Anglo-American relations.

"We must overlook each other's faults," he said, "and we must realize that old words have new meanings." British Imperialism, which comes in for frequent attacks by American critics, presupposes that Britain is the old Empire. Major Dufton pointed out that since 1776 the British Empire has been non-existent. She is now the Commonwealth of Nations.

In the peace that is to come after the war, Major Dufton is sure that America will be the economic center of the world; it will be our (See DUFTON, Page 4)

"Weep Not for Me" is the title of Sandburg's poetic tribute to the U.S.S. Lexington, which was lost in the Battle of Midway. The poet also picks up his guitar and joins with the singers in a group of songs from his "American Song Bag." Among the folk music to be heard is: "Sweet Betsy from Pike," sung by Conrad Thibault; "When the Curtains of Night Are Pinned Back," sung by Earl Rogers; and "Drivin' Steel" and "The Great Pacific Railway," both featuring the baritone voice of Thibault.
