Juniors May Order Their Senior Rings Delivered Later

Classes Entering School Before Declaration of War Will Use Original No

All juniors who were classified juniors last June, or who will be classified seniors in January may order their senior rings now at the registrar's office, according to a statement made yesterday by Sid Smith, junior class president.

Juniors are reminded that if they do not classify, they cannot get their rings in January, although they will be allowed to order them. A $3 deposit is required at the time the ring is ordered, and the balance must be paid within 60 days from the date of purchase. This is a government order.

The juniors voted to follow the suggestion of the ring committee and let all classes that entered school before war was declared put their respective class numbers on their rings. This means the juniors will have '44 on theirs, and the sophomores will have '45 on their rings.

It was also decided that they would try to get a representative number from their class to make the annual trip to Denton on November 6. All juniors are urged to find a ride to Denton as soon as possible, as rides anywhere are scarce, and there must be a representative number to make the trip.

They are also working to get a special section in the football stadium for the Arkansas game, as this will be the last home game before they graduate.

Miss Anne Gwynne

The Biology club continues to lend its excellent projector, and the new equipment which was bought recently by the club insures the best possible showing of the films.

Before Starting Of Arkansas Game Corps Will Sing

This is Worth Fighting For and Marching Along Sung by Aggie Section

Next Saturday before the Arkansas football game the corps will rise in the stands and sing "This is Worth Fighting For," and "Marching Along," under the direction of Richard Jenkins, director of The Singing Cadets, and the yell leaders.

This singing will be in addition to the regular yells and the between halves entertainment to be furnished by the band and the T to be formed by the frogs, freshmen and sophomores during the half.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with these two songs the words are printed below so that everyone in the corps may learn them before the game.

This is Worth Fighting For
I saw a peaceful old valley with a carpet of corn for a floor
And I heard a voice within me whisper
THIS IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR;
I saw a little old cabin
And the river that flowed by the door
And I heard a voice within me whisper

THIS IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR.
Didn't I build that cabin?
Didn't I plant that corn?
Didn't my folks before me
Fight for this country before I was 'born?
I gathered my loved ones around me
And I gazed at each face I adore
Then I heard that voice within me thunder

THIS IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR.
Marching Along
Marching along with our song of victory
Rolling in tanks, jeeps, and planes and on the sea;
Once again we do and dare, with our allies over there,
For this world to have its share of true freedom everywhere
Marching along with our song of victory
Showing again we can win and you'll see
Soon you'll see
How right prevails and never fails
While marching along with our song of victory.

Colonel Boles told the members of the Agronomy Society that during the time he was over there the Japanese were even then taking soundings, and getting important military information while posing as fishermen. Most of his talk was taken up with telling about stalking the saladang and the timarau, and other of his most exciting hunting experiences in the Orient.

Business of the meeting included discussion on the picture for the Longhorn, and payment and obtaining Agronomy Society keys. Nearly all of the members of the club and many visitors heard the interesting talk by Colonel Boles.

Plans Completed For Training Men As War Firemen

Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner and Fire Service Coordinator of the National Defense Committee for Texas, today announced that plans are being completed for a statewide training program for firemen to meet present war conditions.

The State Board of Vocational Education, Hall said, is making the program possible by furnishing the Office of Civilian Defense with instructors.

The OCD recently named R. O. Muenster, Luling Fire Chief, to direct the program. The State Board of Vocational Education expects to employ five experienced firemen who can qualify as instructors. These men will be sent to a regional training center for intensive instruction on what and how to teach the special wartime training.

The instructors will then schedule a series of training courses in the twenty-six Fire Service Districts of the state. At the district sessions firemen from local departments will be asked to attend. Following these sessions, firemen will return to their home departments and conduct the special wartime training for all firemen.

This program, the Fire Service Coordinator said, is in addition to the OCD training courses which have been held for several months by the government in cooperation with A. & M. and the Texas Firemen's Training School which is headed by Dr. C. C. Hedges, head of the Chemistry department.
