Announcements

"STUDENT EMPLOYMENT"

"There are several jobs available at present. Those students who have applied for work and who have not yet been assigned are urged to call at this office immediately.

W. R. Horsley,
Director, Placement Office.

ATTENTION of all students is directed to the fact that the rules governing class attendance place the responsibility for such attendance on the student and that when he is absent from a class he has missed a definite part of his course regardless of the cause of his absence. A student contemplating missing a class should decide whether he can afford to miss that part of his course and if he does miss it should expect to take such consequences in lowered grade as may result.

Hereafter AUTHORIZED ABSENCES will be granted only in case of:

1. Sickness of the student when the college physician certifies he is unable to attend class.
 2. Duty as Officer of the Day or similar official duty authorized in advance.
 3. Necessary absence which can not be postponed to a time when quizzes will not be missed.
- Students wishing to go to their homes for examinations of teeth, eyes, etc., should plan such trips at times that will interfere least with their classes and will not cause them to miss quizzes, as authorized absences can be granted for such trips hereafter only in case of emergencies requiring immediate attention which is not available at the College.
- F. C. Bolton, Dean.

year, with Bueck gaining top All-American honors on the Boston Record team.

Felix has played great ball for the Ags. Coach Homer Norton and Line-Coach Bill James are both high in their praises for the lad who rose up from a third-string guard to become one of the nation's top linemen. "He's the best guard I've coached in many years and that includes the Joe Routt, Marshall Robnett and Charlie Henke era," said Coach Norton.

The two gridsters and Coach Norton plan to leave for Montgomery, Alabama about December 15 where they will work out and coach respectively until the day of the game, December 26.

And he would never command "To the rear!"

With all the traditions we love. There's still a Spirit about this place.

They tried to break it—halt our pace, But they can't stop us—we're in the race, And we'll win if it takes forever!

We've carried that Spirit through the years; We've stood out on Kyle Field in tears;

We've gone on Corps trips and chug-a-lugged beers; In that good ole Aggie way. When a spirit's so deep that such a man,

Who can't even hear, can understand And sense the warmth of an Aggie's hand, Do you think it can ever die?

No, that Spirit will never die. Let 'em make their rules and slip them by.

They can take all else—with no reason why, But they can't kill the AGGIE SPIRIT!!

Watch for It . . .

Starting today, a cryptogram will be published on the editorial page of every issue of the Batt . . . the answer will be given in the next issue. Purpose: the Army needs cryptographers. day. Meanwhile, the team went through a gruelling workout yesterday after spending all morning and part of the afternoon before the Universal studio cameras for special football shots in the forthcoming Texas A. & M. movie.

Little Bobby Williams, spinning, and running in a manner that had all the squad amazed paced the varsity through a scrimmage session Wednesday. He ran primarily at the tailback spot while Leo Daniels and Barney Welch looked on with envy. He hit guard, tackle, end and center and on very few occasions did the reserves manage to stop the little package of dynamite. As if that wasn't enough, Williams also called signals and played all other positions in the backfield.

Blocking was especially emphasized with the team coming through in fine style. Wille Zapalac, Ed Ogdee, Weldon Maples, Dub Sibley, Cullen Roger and Pete Slaughter looked exceptionally good in that department. Morty Mertz, reserve guard, and Truman Cox, end, were the bright spots on defense for the second-stringers.

Wake Island

date for the office of Social Secretary would do well to include this point in his platform.

Through a change in schedule, "PANAMA HATTIE" will show today and Friday at Guion Hall instead of Tuesday and Wednesday as previously announced. Ann Southern, Red Skelton and Ben Blue share the billing honors. Ann is cast as "Hattie," an entertainer in a Panama honkytonk engaged to a rich soldier.

When her romance seems headed for the rocks, Red, Rags and Blue—three screwy sailors—stay in and save it! Others in the cast are Jackie Horner, Dan Dailey, Marsha Hunt and Virginia O'Brien of dead-pan fame.

The Lowdown—Just another musical—nothing special.

A picture that every American should see will show at the Campus today through Saturday. Its title—"WAKE ISLAND," its theme—the defense of Wake Island by the U. S. Marine Corps. A stirring picture that is full of emotion and thrills. It has no feminine allure and women enter only by indirection, but it is sure to appeal to everyone.

The records of the Marine Corps furnished the basis for this authentic picture of the magnificent achievements of the marines on Wake Island. Bringing home to us the great fight of fellow Americans against a foe better armed and greatly outnumbering them, it becomes a glorious tribute to admit defeat until their ammunition and almost the last man were gone.

Brian Donlevy is tops as the marine officer in charge of the island's defenses; Albert Dekker is the civilian engineer who refuses to leave; MacDonald Carey, who gives his own life, to destroy a Jap cruiser. Robert Preston and
