Hope Adams, '41 Wins Commission In Army Air Forces

Hope Barrett Adams, Dallas, Texas, class of '41, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve and designated a Naval Aviator at weekly graduation ceremonies held at the Naval Air Training Center, Corpus Christi, today.

Before pinning on the coveted "Navy Wings of Gold," the distinguishing mark of the Naval Aviator, Lt. Adams and his classmates were addressed by Rear Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery, U. S. N., Commandant of the training center.

Lt. Adams volunteered for flight training last February and received preliminary instruction at the Dallas, Texas, reserve aviation base. He was then transferred to the world's largest naval air station for intermediate and advanced training.

Upon successful completion of this training, embracing an intensive ground school course in addition to many hours of flight training, Adams is now prepared for duty with the fleet. Or, he may be selected as an instructor to teach one of the many phases of aeronautics to young men taking their first stages of flight instruction.

Bob Hope Voted Radio Favorite Of 1942; Allen Second

Bob Hope, as an entertainer and comedian, also his program, came to the front in run-away style to achieve top honors in the three respective classifications in the sixth annual poll of radio editors and writers conducted by RADIO DAILY. Last year Hope as an entertainer and comedian was close on the Jack Benny trail when he won out as an entertainer and comedian but lost to the Jack Benny program. At that time he soared from a comparatively low rating the season before.

Fred Allen came up strongly to take second place in the same categories as Hope. For the first time a serial comedy-drama placed among the first ten favorite programs, "The Aldrich Family" being the first to reach this goal. On the other hand "One Man's Family" continues as the radio editor's favorite serial. Why the voting took this slant is but one of the many peculiar angles that characterized the voting in general. Switch in numerous radio editor posts may or may not be responsible. As a matter of fact, both these shows gathered votes as "dramatic" shows.

That the editors and writers listen to the news commentators at great length is indicated in the fact that all leading commentators received votes as compared to many classifications that held votes for but one, two or three favorites. This will be noted in the comparatively higher number of votes received by the first 10 commentators. Raymond Gram Swing took top honors in this category. He was second last year to H. V. Kaltenborn. William Shirer came to the fore from fifth place last year, to take second honors.

Bill Stern who has been playing nip and tuck with Ted Husing the past few years again came in first as favorite sports commentator reversing the nosing out stuff. Chicago Round Table again placed first a san educational program, Arturo Toscanini repeated as the favorite symphonic conductor; the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, once more took its place as a leading symphonic organization as per voting by the radio editors.

Dinah Shore came to the front with a vengeance as the favorite female singer of popular songs, while Gladys Swarthout eased Lily Pons into second place, reversing their positions of last season. The old reliable, Bing Crosby again topped the popular male singers, while Harry James was voted head man among the swing orchestras.

Engineering Students To Hear Talk Tuesday At Guion Hall

Colonel Willard Chevalier, publisher of "Business Week," is making his annual visit to the College next week. He will address all engineering students in Guion hall at 12 o'clock Wednesday, January 13, said Dean Bolton yesterday to the Battalion.

All engineering students are expected to attend, and those having classes at that hour will be excused. Attendance will be checked, Bolton also said. He urged all members of the teaching staff, who find it possible, to hear this address.

Texas Oil Production Exceeds That Of Axis

According to a table recently compiled in Petroleum Engineering 204, the state of Texas produces more oil than all the Axis nations combined. The following is tabulated in barrels and includes some other interesting contrasts in oil production.

These figures were made in 1941: (all are totals): United States, 1,405,830,000; Texas alone, 479,755,000. Soviet Union produces 242,150,000. These nations totaled with Americans and British-owned companies in oil production reach a figure many times larger than that of the Axis. A complete total as compiled is 1,991,445,054.

Nations under Allied protection total: Argentina 21,641,186; Colombia 21,441,566; Bolivia 120,748; Peru 12,845,520; Trinidad 21,610,644; Mexico 41,200,000; these total 121,859,664. In comparison with the following compiled Axis figures. The table was made including all territory occupied in 1941 by Axis forces, Germany 32,072; Japan 64,789,583; Italy 1,427,143, totaling 98,289,226.

Agronomy Society To Meet Tonight, 8:30

The Agronomy Society will meet in the lecture room of the Animal Industries building tonight at 8:30 for the purpose of electing new officers for the coming year.

In this election the faculty advisor is also chosen at that time. This will be a very important meeting, and probably the last one of the year, so it is very urgent that all members of the society, and anyone else interested in joining it to be present at the meeting tonight.

tain the correct temperature with ventilations, for the comfort and health of the children. One interesting feature of the school is a story telling hour held from 10 until 11.

Children with colds or other illnesses should not be brought to these rooms because of the danger to the health of the other children. Cooperation in this matter by the mothers will go a long way in making a success of the nursery school.

The equipment is being donated by the community. Any low tables and chairs as well as toys, which can be spared will be appreciated. Call Mrs. Edmonson or better, bring them to the Red Cross Headquarters.

As is his habit, Guy Lombardo breezed in as the most popular swing band. Richard Crooks again won out as the favorite male classical vocalist while "Information Please" had no trouble being voted the most popular quiz show.

Children's shows, the most touchy proposition to a great many voters easily gave "The Lone Ranger" a strong lead. "Radio Theater" produced and directed by Cecil B. DeMille won hands down as usual in the drama category.

Basketball Played By 1500 Cadets At Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas—The U. S. Naval Air Station here, now expanded into the world's largest air training center, might lay claim to another feat of "world's largest" caliber.

Here, according to the physical training officers, more than 1,500 bluejackets, aviation cadets, and officers play basketball a part of each day or night. That being true, and a glance at the portable goals scattered on hanger floors, flight ramps, and recreation areas will attest their claim, there is probably sufficient cage teams at the naval station to supply players enough for the nation's largest basketball conference.

In fact, there were so many lovers of the game that the physical training officers were forced to set up an intra-station schedule with league regulations in order to insure every team a chance at competitive playing.

In one league alone, the Commandants' League, there are 26 teams averaging 15 players each. In addition, the station's four out-laying auxiliary stations added 2 teams each to the tournament, making a grand total of 295 players competing in over 300 supervised games for a trophy. This is the station's only league offering any sort of a prize for a winning team.

Another league, organized to bring players from every unit into competition, boasts approximately 850 players, with officers, cadets and enlisted all vying for player positions.

Accustomed to doing things in a large manner, the physical training officers are immensely pleased. Even though a corps of referees, scorekeepers and officials from their staff are on duty each night for a multitude of tilts, they are more than happy about the whole thing. Basketball has long been recognized as one of the best body-building exercises known to man, and to have every man at the station in prime physical condition is their responsibility.

And, it's all in good fun. Competition is keen among the democratic teams which in some instances list the unit commanders name along with members of his organization.

WTAW Features Swing Organist On 4:30 Clambake

"The Aggie Clambake" tomorrow at 4:30 over WTAW, will present a full hour of entertainment especially for the Aggies, according to John O. Rosser, program director.

Starting out at 4:30, Johnny Clark, swing organist, will be featured in the first of a probable regular series of popular organ programs from the stage of Guion hall. The organ program will be presented as a stage show broadcast between showings of the regular attraction. Clark has had professional organ experience prior to attending A. & M.

At 4:45, the A. & M. Radio speaking class, under the direction of C. O. Springgs, will present a drama, written by E. A. McKelvey, a class member, entitled "Mr. and Mrs. Joe American".

Following at 5:00, Conrad Bering and announcer Tom Journey will match wits, crack jokes and bring the favorite songs of Aggie-land to the mike via popular records on "Aggie Pickin's".

Three Aggies Selected for Naval Aviation Training

Three A. & M. students, Milton Alva Beard, Joseph McElroy, Jr., and Oras Tabor Rowe, have been selected for training as Naval Aviation Cadets and will be ordered to active duty shortly, according to a release from the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board at Dallas, Texas.

When ordered to active duty, they will report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, for three months of physical conditioning, instruction in naval essentials, military drill and ground school subjects. After completing this course, they will be sent to one of the Navy's reserve bases for primary flight training.
