4-H Boys Get Results With Hybrid Corn

Production This Year Is Higher

Feed supplies which Texas farmers grow in 1943 will be decisive in attaining the state's production goals for beef, pork and lamb in 1944. Stocks appear to be sufficient for the animals in prospect for the 1943 production, but growers may be more dependent upon home grown feed crops in 1944 than is the case this year. Texas livestock production this spring includes a 30 per cent increase in pig farrowing over the same period last year. As comparable increases are likely in states which normally have surplus feed, shipments to states which have a shortage probably will be reduced.

Larger production of feed this year, however, is forecast in the report of a demonstration with No. 12 hybrid corn by 29 Milam County 4-H Club boys in 1942. According to County Agricultural Agent J. W. Stufflebeme, Jr., each boy was given without cost enough of the seed corn by the Chamber of Commerce and a bank at Cameron, sponsors of the program, to plant one acre. The hybrid was paralleled by an acre of standard corn which was used as a check plot.

When the corn was harvested the production of 22 demonstrators was weighed, and the yield from seven demonstrations was estimated at 34.3 bushels an acre of standard variety, or an increase of 51.8 bushels of hybrid compared to 34.4 bushels an acre of standard variety, or an increase of 25.5 per cent. On the remaining demonstrations, the yield was estimated at 34.3 bushels against 26.7 bushels of the standard, or an increase of 20.3 per cent.

Average yield for the 29 demonstrations was 47.8 bushels compared to 35.7 for standard corn. The Cameron Chamber of Commerce will furnish $65 worth of seed corn for demonstrations in 1943. Record books turned in by 28 of the demonstrators showed a net profit of $921.96 for the club boys, Stufflebeme reports.

AIR CORPS

suffered a big blow to their sports when eight athletes were called up. The call included Wenzell Gandy, regular football end. The baseball squad was hurt the most with the loss of ace pitchers Howard Wafer and Manuel Garcia, and Jackie Rector, second baseman. Co-Captain Bill Hailey and Sophomore Frankie Roberts will leave the basketball team Saturday night after the Baylor-T.C.U. game. The football squad is also losing Buck Garrett, reserve tackle, and Bill Burke, reserve back. S.M.U.

Milton Painter, junior forward on the basketball team, Joe Bailey Scott, senior end of the football team, and Sophomore blocking back Bill Reece were the only losses reported by Southern Methodist University.

Rice

The Rice Institute Owls have lost Ed Cain, brilliant punter, and Lindsay Bowen, regular end, from the football squad. Two outstanding netters were lost from the tennis team when Ray Gladman, junior, and Ted Norpoth, freshman, were also called, along with Miles McInnis, hurdler and basketball manager.

This leaves only T.C.U. and Arkansas lightly touched by the call, and as a result their squads are at comparatively top strength.

Manpower Chairman McNutt Explains Necessity of Calling Out Students

Until recently it would never have occurred to college students to think of themselves in terms of manpower, War Manpower Commission Chairman McNutt told the mid-winter graduating class of Haverford, January 30—but, he said, they were like the man who was speaking prose and didn't realize his accomplishment.

A digest of Mr. McNutt's speech follows: "Until recently it would never have occurred to college students to regard themselves in terms of manpower.

The term is more frequently associated with the masses of workers employed by large-scale industry than with the fortunate minority of carefully educated individuals whom the colleges induct into professional and managerial life. So when you were registered for the national service you may have experienced something of the surprise of that character in Moliere's play who discovered that he had been talking prose without recognizing his accomplishment.

Your government regards you as important, whether you are leaving college for the military or for other forms of national service, because of the exceptional training opportunities which you have had.

It is very important that popular faith in the value of our colleges, and in the quality of their students, should be sustained. For in the grim days that lie ahead there will be no place in our society for institutions which fail to render national service, and consequently no place for students who give the lie to that proud designation by wasting the borrowed time provisionally placed at their disposal.

From now on the colleges must, while maintaining standards, increasingly accommodate themselves to the pressures of total war.

The larger educational institutions, with facilities for housing, feeding and teaching large numbers are naturally and properly being called upon more largely than others, although by no means exclusively, to accommodate the specialized training units which

Selective Service System Aids In War Production

The Texas Selective Service System will give full cooperation to the recent action of the War Manpower Commission to increase the urgently needed war production of copper, critical non-ferrous metals and lumber within this State, General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service, announced today. He said:

"The War Manpower Commission has called for uninterrupted production and maintenance operations in all non-ferrous metal mining, milling, smelting, and refining, and all logging and lumbering activities carried on within the states of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico and Texas.

"Pursuant to a directive received from National Selective Service Headquarters in support of this objective, Texas local boards have been instructed to reclassify out of Class II-A or Class II-B into a class immediately available for service, or out of Class III-B into Class III-A, subject to the usual rights of appeal, any registrant who leaves a production or maintenance occupation in any of these activities without presenting satisfactory evidence to his local board that his separation did not adversely affect the war effort."

This order, General Page pointed out, permits a worker to change jobs so long as that change, in the opinion of the registrant's local board, does not adversely affect the war effort and that by changing he can increase production.

General Page emphasized in this connection that no classification is permanent and that the Selective Service regulations make it mandatory that each classified registrant report to his local board in writing, within ten days, any change in his occupational status.

Pre-Med Club Hears Dean Brooks

The A.&M. Pre-Med Club held its first meeting of the new semester Wednesday night with Dean T. D. Brooks as the speaker. Dean Brooks spoke about the War Manpower and Selective Service regulations regarding pre-medical students. He pointed out that the pre-medical course will be "one of the very few not drastically affected" by the Army and Navy training plans, but he stressed the fact that standards would be high and students could not fall behind in subjects required for medical school.

A short business meeting followed the talk and a program committee was selected to prepare the important pre-med meetings. Officers for the new year are: John E. Green, president; J. W. Robertson, vice-president; P. S. Garner, secretary-treasurer; and J. G. Gabbard, reporter.

E. L. Dysart, '41, Entering OCS

E. L. Sysart, class of '41, a member of the Naval Construction Battalion and now in port at San Francisco, just has written a letter to Dr. Ide P. Trotter, Head of the Rural Sociology Department, requesting a letter of recommendation which he will use in trying to get into O.C.S.

Dysart enlisted in the Naval Construction Battalion soon after his graduation and was called to active duty on June 18, 1942. He spent less than three months in the states and has been on foreign water or soil since that time, mostly in South West Pacific. According to Dysart's letter, he has many things to tell about when he gets home.

A&M Horticulturist Advises on Vegetables That May Be Planted

According to J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. & M. Extension Service, there are a number of vegetables which can be planted now in home gardens. Among these are cabbage, English peas, and onion plants.

Good varieties of cabbage include Charleston Wakefield and Copenhagen. Little Marvel, Knott's Excelsior and Thomas Laxton are good varieties of peas. Beets and carrots may be planted now, too, the better varieties of quick-maturing carrots including Chantenay

Book Presented To College By Advertisers League

The A. & M. College library is the recipient of a copy of Neil H. Borden's book, "The Economic Effects of Advertising," as the result of the Dallas Advertising League's annual Better Copy Contest, Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the College, has been informed by President Robert L. Johnson of the Dallas organization.

The book is part of an award presented by the Daily Times Herald and won by Safeway Stores, for the best sales advertising copy produced in Dallas during 1942. Students in the Journalism class of Southern Methodist University were the judges. The volume bears a book plate describing the award and giving the name of the donor of the prize, the winner, and the president of the Dallas League.

Heretofore, silver loving cups have been given to winners, but metal has gone to war this year, and the books were substituted with the idea that their presence on the shelves of college and university libraries throughout the state would help to improve advertising in Texas. Each winner in five classifications of advertising received certificates of the award and two volumes of Borden's book. Winners kept the certificates, and the ten books were presented to colleges and universities in the state.

The book is regarded in advertising circles as the most authoritative and complete work of its kind, and is an important contribution to the advertising profession.

DR. RUSSELL

(3). In the two, three, or four years that the husband would be away, would he change? Being in different environments, would the husband and wife grow away from each other?

(4). What about financing the family after the war? For the duration the husbands would be in the pay of the U. S. Army. Would there be enough jobs to go around when, after the war, this vast store of manpower was suddenly dumped upon the nation?

Especially were the girls embittered against the married men in the army camps who, under the pretense of being single, kept company with young girls. Of course, none of the girls who were married thought their husbands were guilty of that.

"All in all," Dr. Russell declared, "the girls have very healthful attitudes, thinking seriously and thoroughly. T.S.C.W. is all the Aggies claim it to be." Naturally, he would think so, because on the sly, your reporter was told that the girls were so reluctant to let him go that he almost missed his train on the return trip.

By the way, the girls have been invited here to put on a similar program in the near future.

and Danver's Half Long. White potatoes and sweet corn may be planted early in March, said Mr. Rosborough.

The plot for the garden should have good drainage if rainfall is heavy, and should be away from trees and large shrubs whose roots would take the moisture away from the plants. Sod and grass should be removed and the earth pulverized.

A small garden should have about one pound of rotted stable manure per square foot, and two or three wagon loads for a half acre.
