LOAN SCHOLARSHIP—The Foundation for Education in Economics of the American Bankers Association has allotted one loan scholarship of $250 for the year 1943-1944 to be awarded to a student of this institution majoring in some field of business or economics. Information concerning the terms of the loan and blank forms of application may be secured from the undersigned. T. D. Brooks, Dean, School of Arts and Sciences.

WHEN THE ARMY'S Specialized Training Program is put into operation here, juniors and seniors now employed on part-time jobs will probably no longer be eligible for such work. Also, due to the increasingly heavy load of work being carried by all departments, there are many jobs open to any student who needs work or who is willing to work during his spare time. For these reasons, it is urgently requested that all students available for part-time work and not now employed get in touch with the Placement Office before March 5th.

Hundreds of these cadets, near completion of their basic training at Randolph Field, Texas, soon will be graduated to more powerful single-engine planes or multi-motored ships which will constitute the last leg in their training. After ten weeks of this advanced flying, they will receive their "wings" and be commissioned second lieutenants.

Campus on the March, as its title suggests, pictures the moving in of war activities on American college and university campuses. Courses of study have been radically altered with emphasis on all fields of technical training. Engineering and drafting courses have been opened to women. Students have put on uniforms. Dormitories, dining halls, and classrooms have been taken over by the Army and Navy. Campus on the March is a panorama of the outstanding schools which are cooperating whole heartedly with the war effort. Of particular interest to this locality will be shots made at Texas A. and M. and the University of Texas.

The concluding short on tonight's program is Air Raid Warden. The hero of the piece is Jim Blake, who, like many civilians, joined the Air Raid Warning Service early in 1942. The film shows the Air Raid Warden performing his duties, making the rounds of his beat, outlining to his friends and neighbors the precautions they must observe when the alarm sounds. The finish of the film shows a practice blackout with a demonstration by Jim Blake of the many things he has learned during his training. His
