

Free Movies To Be Shown Tomorrow At Assembly Hall

OWI Films Present 5 New Shorts Featuring MacArthur And "Give Me Liberty"

Free movies will be shown at the Assembly Hall at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Tomorrow afternoon's program is made up, with one exception, of an excellent group of movies about our war activities and those of our allies and the leaders involved in them.

MacArthur, American Soldier is a record of the peak moments in the fighting career of our famous general. We see scenes of him in France during the last war; being sworn in as chief of staff, and as an observer in France and Germany. Recent, exciting shots show him stationed in the Philippines and his spectacular flight to Australia.

Manila Bombed is one of the most incriminating documents we have on the atrocities of the Japs. After MacArthur has declared Manila an open city, the Jap bombers roar overhead causing widespread destruction; callously mutilating civilians and blowing their homes skyward. Here is an example of completely lawless war. The history of the bombing of Manila is unforgettably told in I Saw the Fall of the Philippines, a book by Carlos Romulo, Philippine newspaper editor and aide to General MacArthur.

The British Commandos and their daring leader, Lord Montbatten, have become legendary. The fast moving ten minute film, Britain's Commandos in Action, pictures one of their Norwegian raids on Nazi garrisons. The Commandos take off under fire. There is fighting in the streets and from house to house, explosions, fires, and Nazi planes being shot down. The sound and commentary with this film are both unusually good.

Bismarck Sea Victory shows detailed scenes from the now famous sea battle.

Students Are Urged To Apply For Jobs at Placement Office

The need for student employment on the campus has been urgently viewed lately by the Student Placement Office, under the direction of W. R. Horsley.

In past years there were at least four students for every job available on the campus, but now the situation has reversed and there are four jobs for every working student.

The main difficulty seems to be finding Aggies who really have the spare time to spend at the work and who really want it. Many different kinds of jobs are open and there is no trouble for the prospective worker in finding a job at which he is capable.

Along with the labor situation comes the job of instructing and increasing the range of knowledge of the present student laborers. According to Horsley, this semester the student welfare organizations plan to have movies and talks for the students in their respective vocations.

Anyone interested in applying for a student labor job is requested to come to the Placement Office in the basement of the Administration Building. The working requirements have been changed from those of last semester.

Let us all be thankful.

Bryan Minister Meets Ags In Army

Rev. J. H. R. Farrell, of Bryan who recently returned from a visit to Denver, Colo., and San Francisco and Los Angeles, Cal., found graduates of the naval radio school wishing for the genial hospitality of Texas.

He met about 50 of them while visiting four brothers at stations in California and on the trip met about 130 former Aggies. They recognized him by the A. & M. Mother's club button which he wore on the lapel of the coat. While dining out one night, he asked the orchestra leader if he knew the "Aggie War Hymn." His answer was to play a few bars and immediately a "hurrah" went up over the room.

Excessive prices for meals were noted in California, where most meals cost about $3.00. In Denver, they were considerably less.

Rev. Farrell visited four brothers in the service in California and his mother, Mrs. Arthur Clarkson in Denver. Another brother is in the service in Hawaii.

"Music of Tomorrow" Is Style Featured by Band Leader Appearing Here

George Olsen and his famous band with their "Music of Tomorrow" will be the guests of the Navy and Marines at their Corps dance to be held in Duncan Hall on July 10. The dance will carry on from 8 to 12 with the girls being dressed formally and the men in their regular attire.

Florence Ziegfeld started Olsen on his way to fame when she brought his band from the Pacific Coast to play in the cities of the east. The musical production, "Kid Boots," with Eddie Cantor as the leading character, put his band among the list of famous bands and it has been up at the top ever since. Other musical shows such as "Whoopee," "Happy Days," and "Ziegfeld Follies" followed "Kid Boots."

Olsen and his band have been featured at the Waldorf and Pennsylvania Hotels, the Sherman, and the Rice Hotel in Houston, besides several other well-known hotels. Everyone who attends the Navy-Marine dance is assured of a good time.

Juke Box Prom To Be At 8:30 Tonight

Tonight in the Grove starting at 8:30 and ending at 11:30, there will be dancing to the music of the customary Juke Box.

As has been the custom for the past few dances, those Aggies and Service-men bringing dates will be admitted free. The price for stags will be 25c as usual.

Last Saturday night there was an increased amount of girls at the dance much to the approval of the male dancers. The prospect of getting girls to come to these dances from Navasota, Brenham, Caldwell, and other surrounding communities, is still vague, but is a good possibility.

A good number of new records have been recently received and will be on hand at the prom to be held tonight.

Groneman Articles Published In June IAVE Magazine

The June issue of Industrial Arts and Vocational Education magazine, published by the Bruce Publishing Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, concluded a series of six timely magazine articles since January by C. H. Groneman, Acting Head of the Industrial Education Department.

Each article was titled "Teaching Materials for Industrial Education" and consisted of an annotated listing of well over 2000 inexpensive booklets, pamphlets, charts, models, exhibits, and projection materials which would assist the director, supervisor, and teacher of industrial, vocational and mechanics courses.

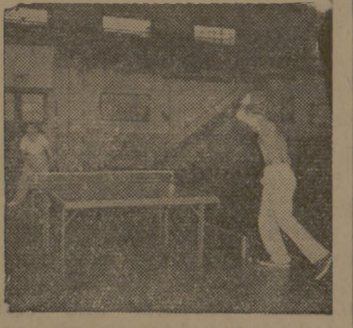

This listing was comprised only of materials available free or for the cost of transportation from industries and associations. Books and magazine articles from various publishers were not included.

Mr. Groneman's first compilation of a similar nature, but much shorter in content, appeared in the same magazine two years ago.

Merchants Urged to Stock Up on Change

It has been suggested by Finance Officers that the proprietors and merchants of College Station and nearby establishments should stock up at the end of the month with plenty of change, due to the increasing amount of large bills and checks that the servicemen have to cash.

The Sailors, Soldiers, Marines, and Aviation Students have found it difficult in the past to cash their large bills at local places of business.

Committees Have Been Appointed by Soph Presidents

In a meeting with L. D. Boone at the Student Activities Office Wednesday evening, activities for the Sophomore Ball were gotten under way.

Bill Terrell, president of the second semester Sophomores, and G. C. Allbright, president of the first semester Sophomores, are co-chairmen of all which they have appointed. These committees are equally represented from each class. The decoration committee is composed of H. H. Landers and W. Shannon while H. J. Roberts and Marion Rosmarion make up the orchestra committee. On the finance committee are A. C. Muse, J. H. Torres, F. F. Dye, L. Moss, John Taylor and Bob Huff.

The orchestra committee has already begun to function and is contacting various orchestras throughout the state. Members of the Sophomore class are reminded that, due to the small size of their class, tickets for the dance will be slightly higher than in the past.

Although the weekend of August 13-14 has been tentatively selected for the dance, every effort will be made to have it on the same week-end that "We've Never Been Licked" is premiered.

AMC Student Has Enlisted In V-5

Vernon Francis Dullnig son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dullnig of San Antonio, Texas has been enlisted as an Apprentice Seaman, Class V-5, for future training as a Naval Aviation Cadet. He will remain home on inactive duty until he is either admitted to the new college training program or is called to active duty as a Naval Aviation Cadet after reaching his eighteenth birthday.

Dullnig is now attending A. & M. College and will complete his second year in September, if not called into the training program prior to that time.

The program which will last around two hours is expected to be of interest to everyone in the vicinity of College Station and Bryan and should draw a larger crowd than any of the previous Kapers.

Harding, who comes from Washington, South Carolina, has the ability and personality that will please any audience and send them away with the feeling that their evening was well spent. "Bob Burns of Washington, South Carolina," as he is frequently referred to, has a homespun philosophy and with which is interspersed with singing and accordion playing that can't be topped by anyone that has ever been to College Station.

Starting his career as a hobby, Harding soon went into it as a professional and has kept at it ever since. He entertained at various local clubs and army camps before touring the country, but he became such a hit that he turned to it professionally and started on a tour of entertaining army camps service men.

College Station and Bryan Rotarians will remember Harding as the man who entertained them so well at their district convention held in Beaumont this year. Harding has spent all of this year at army camps and Civic Clubs with entertainment for all as the prime purpose of his visits there.

A special invitation is issued to the A. & M. faculty, College Station and Bryan residents, as well as to the Aggies, Sailors, Marines, Engineers, and Air Corps who are here to attend this show. There is no admission charge and there is hope that the Hall will be filled to capacity. Richard Jenkins, who is in charge of Kampus Kapers is confident that Harding will have something of interest for all who attend and he hopes that everyone who possibly can will be on hand at the time for the program to begin.
