Everyone enjoyed their P. T. more than usual today as a result of a new type of game. The whole series of runs and exercises was run off as a track meet with the competition being between squadrons.

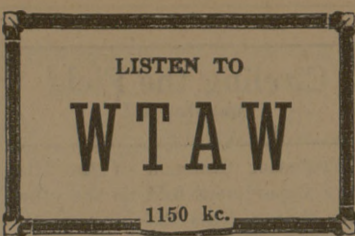

A/S Cliff Hudson of Squadron I gets our vote as the happiest man of the week. His gal friend arrived from Sunny California in time for the the Wing Ball which is to be held July 16 in Shisa Hall.

Newsitem: Our Commanding Officers brother is an ace serving with the Flying Tigers and has 37 Jap planes to his credit. You may have heard of Colonel David Hill and his aerial feats in the newspapers before.

Friday night will mark the date of the next Wing Ball. The conduct of the men has always been exemplary and we intend to keep it just that way. Every man can help to make this event a success by continuing to carry on in the manner that he has in the past dances. Please read the orders for the Wing Ball that are part of the first supplement to student orders. Compliance with these regulations is a "must" if the dances are to continue. No violations have ever occurred and it is our opinion that none will occur. Get a clean uniform ready, polish that brass, make your shoes glisten and we will see you at Shisa Hall Friday night at 2030.

The staff is happy to receive the addition of the new representative from Squadron IV. Greetings and a hearty hello to A/S Joe Ledbetter of Squadron IV.

Due to war, black market, and market conditions, no onions will be on Houston menus for the rest of July.

CIRCLING

ing to offer the other squadrons a serious threat, when it comes to marching, passing in reviews, and drills. Watch Squadron IV men!

We were all made very happy Monday afternoon by Captain Hill's talk. Especially so, because we all missed P. T. and Math classes, while yet "in the line of duty."

Last week Captain Hill personally congratulated Academic Flight 22 on its fine conduct and marching to and from classes. Mr. McKinnon, flight leader, was especially happy and expressed his hopes to the men to keep up the fine work.

Squadron III is well represented in the 308 C.T.D.'s Band, which has really been going places lately. (no pun intended). Four men are in the band from this squadron.

It is the opinion of the men that Squadron Commander Marion Johansen must have at one time belonged to the camouflage corps in the Service, because Mr. Johansen has lately been popping out of bushes, behind trees and out of man-holes, reprimanding the flights on their marching to classes. However, it is our belief that he was a former motorcycle cop. (In case you can read, Mr. Johansen, we were only fooling!)

Caesar, Napoleon and Jannace! Three great Italian Generals of History, at least according to A/S Manlio J. Jannace, who claims to be a great General himself some day in the future.

Bear down and pound the text books, men, and we'll see you two days nearer VICTORY!

H. D. Group Will Hold Dallas Meet

Rural women who are fighting the Axis with war bonds, pressure cookers, and sharp hoes will report their progress at a war-time convention of the Texas Home Demonstration Association scheduled in Dallas, August 17-19. "The Battle on the Home Front" will be the theme of their meeting.

Plans for the convention were made at a recent session of the executive committee held in Dallas. Executive members predict that approximately 800 delegates of the Association's 48,000 will come to share their ideas, despite the pressure of work on the farm and in the farm home.

Mrs. W. G. Kennedy of Hamilton County, the Association president, has announced that the convention will be streamlined in accordance with war demands. . . . no banquets or elaborate entertainments. Speakers will be drawn largely from the Association's membership, and one feature of the program will be a pageant portraying the Association's activities during the last year. Episodes will be presented by the 4-H, marketing, education and recreation committees under the direction of Mrs. Leon Sullivan of Ellis County, vice-president at large.

An election to determine the Association's officers for the next two years also is scheduled, according to Helen H. Swift, sociologist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, who serves as an adviser to the organization.

This is the Association's first convention to be held in Dallas. Mrs. John Peavy, chairman of the Dallas County Home Demonstration Council, is serving as chairman of local arrangements.

Sawmills Aiding War Effort Says AMC Forest Man

The 375-odd farm sawmills in Texas, including 11 owned cooperatively, are reacting to the wartime demand for lumber by expanding their output for home use on the farms. The product of these mills contributes to the war effort through relieving the demand upon commercial mills, says C. W. Simmons, farm forester for the A. & M. College Extension Service. A substantial part of the increased production represents larger processing of hardwoods.

Wartime demand, Simmons says, creates problems in logging and the most efficient use of transportation equipment. Regardless, owners of woodland should continue selective cutting in order to conserve their timber lands. This may include trees of small diameter which will grow no larger, and more lumber will be obtained by cutting crooked trees into short logs. Otherwise, cut logs long whenever it is possible. An estimated 10 to 15 per cent increase in lumber production can be obtained from 16-footers, for example, than from 12-footers.

DOING OUR PART

We're not in a trench or driving a tank

Or drawing a bead on a Jerry,

We're not in a tent that's mouldy and dank,

Or guarding supplies at some ferry,

We're not under fire from morning till night

Like some of the boys down under,

We're right here at home where skies are still bright

And doing our part—I wonder?

We're so far removed from all the din

So darn secure and certain,

War is but War, and we're bound to win,

Someone should draw the curtain

That's blurring our haze and hitting the facts,

Ah, but the truth appalls us.

We're prone to play, quite often relax

No matter what fate befalls us.

Yes, we're not in a trench, we're not in the groove,

We're not on the path we could be

We're not on our toes to outwardly prove

We're doing our part as should be—

We're mightily darn proud of our lads overseas,

But deaf is our ear to pleading,

We just haven't time for buying War Bonds,

To pay for supplies they're needing.

Market Service Planned for 1943

Free cotton classification and market news service for the 1943 crop will be available to organized improvement groups in Texas if applications are filed within fixed time limits. According to M. C. Jaynes, cotton work specialist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, applications from counties lying east of the one hundredth meridian must be filed by August 1, and for the remainder of the Texas counties by August 15. This information comes from the office of L. J. Cappelman, Dallas, regional administrator of the Food Distribution Administration.

Jaynes quotes J. R. Kennedy, regional chief of FDA's cotton and fiber division, that more applications already have been received for this service than ever before. Last year samples were classified for 117,841 members of more than 1,276 organized improvement groups in the state. Total applications this year are expected to exceed those of 1942.

The classing and market service began under the Smith-Doxey act in 1938. Since then the increasing demand for it from farmers has caused the service to spread progressively throughout the cotton producing states, Jaynes says. Reasons for the popularity of the service are attributed to increased production per acre and higher prices per pound for the cotton produced. Some cotton improvement areas in Texas have reported increases of more than $7 an acre. Application forms for the free classing and market news service may be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the regional office of the Food Distribution Administration at Dallas.

The Hogg Foundation in Austin will soon release a pamphlet dealing with juvenile delinquency, written by Lois Sager.
