

A & M Radio Club Held Its Weekly Meeting Wed. Night

Program Recorded; Included Amateurs And Radio Drama

Wednesday night in the WTAW studios in the Administration Building the A. & M. Radio Club held its weekly meeting.

The program was the third in a series of programs that have been recorded for the benefit of those who took part in it. It was 30 minutes long and included several features.

The first half of the program was devoted to an amateur novelties skit. This was put on by Elton Sutton of Bryan who played excerpts from preludes 2 and 3 by George Gershwin on the piano. Betty Jo Cook, also of Bryan, gave a reading. The Aggieband Ramblers led by Chester Chambers and featuring western music exclusively was another entrant. The members of this unique band are Hal Clark, Harmonica and vocalist; Buddy Luce, guitar; Bill Jordan, fiddle; Forrest Howard, fiddle; John Wirtz, drums; Aidney Presco, saxophone; Sergio Zuniga, harmonica. Chambers plays the accordion.

The last entry was Pinky Hull playing several Boogie Woogie numbers at the piano.

The second half of the program was a radio drama entitled "What's Your Name", written by Spranger Barry.

The cast included Marjorie Wiprecht and Betty Ann McCarney, both of Bryan. Billy Woolridge, Dwight McAnally, and Pinky Hull of A. & M. also took part.

The Radio Club still wants to see all those Aggies who have had any experience or are interested in radio work. Anyone interested may either call the WTAW studios or see John Q. Hays of the English Department.

AGGIE CORNER—The traditional Aggie way of hitch-hiking as found at various places over the state. The picture shows the evermore popular Aggie corner as it looks on a Saturday afternoon when students and servicemen are trying to get a ride out of College. H. P. Bradley, editor of the Army Engineers news tells us that he stopped for two Aggies just out of San Marcos and they told him that there were two Aggies up ahead of them who had preference over the ride, and that they would like for him to pick them up first. That was news for a Californian!

Wanted: Aggie Columnists

A new scheme that has been going over well with the Aggies is the two columns that the Batt now has. These columns are "Milner Medley" by Archie Broods and "Fish Tales" by Bryan Ross. It has been suggested that the other dorms have a regular column also and base it on these columns. The Batt is looking for a columnist in each dorm to do this writing; anyone who thinks he would like to do this work is invited to see the editor at 52 Milner or at the Battalion Office any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday.

Free Movies To Be Shown at Assembly Hall Sunday P. M.

OWI Movies To Be Pictures At Four O'Clock To AMS

Plans have been announced for the free OWI movies to be shown Sunday afternoon at the Assembly Hall on the A. & M. Campus. These movies promise to be very entertaining and full of action, as well as of informative value. The free shows will begin at 4 o'clock according to the announcement and every one is cordially invited and urged to attend.

A review of the Sunday afternoon attractions reveals: Free movies at the Assembly Hall at four o'clock Sunday afternoon promise to be full of action.

The Warning portrays with overwhelming reality an air raid on a British city. We get the whole course of the raid from the sound of the first siren to the rescue and cleanup work and the reports on the damage inflicted. The film is very well done and should give Americans an idea of what people are going through in other lands.

Two films to be shown will be of special interest to the Navy. One, High Speed, is a United States Navy film which shows us something of life at sea. A romantic comedy is included.

The other is a fifteen minute film, Submarine at Sea, features submarine operations during war.

At Last -- The Inside Story of Pat and Emily...

By Blotto

Hearken, you guys, to the story of the two lovely ladies who are currently proving to be just the tonic for this heat-weary campus. In case you are in the vast minority who have never seen Pat and Emily, let me advise you now to make a date with the Campus Theater for sometime very soon. You have a treat in store for you, and brother, I've a hunch that you'll be back for more.

Now for the real dope. Pat Barlow was born in Muskogee, Oklahoma, on August 17th, just nineteen years ago. Emily lived in Muskogee and the two have been each others' closest pal for as long as they can remember. Emily started studying piano when she was nine years old, and though Pat liked to sing even at an early age the two somehow just never teamed up. Time went on, and while Pat's vocal achievements grew, Emily became more and more accomplished on the piano.

Early in 1942 Pat went to Dallas to sing with Durwood Cline's orchestra. After a short while, radio station K. G. K. O. discovered her and offered her a chance to sing on a regular program. She accepted, keeping her spot with the band at the same time. Meanwhile Emily had also come to Dallas from Muskogee, and she soon landed a spot at K. G. K. O., though not on the same program that Pat was on.

Then came the break that made us all happier. Ben Ferguson, owner of the Campus Theater, heard Pat sing and Emily play. He immediately acted on the idea he had, saw the two girls, and convinced them that they should team up and come to College Station. So, for the first time, the two chums joined hands and hopped the train to Aggie land.

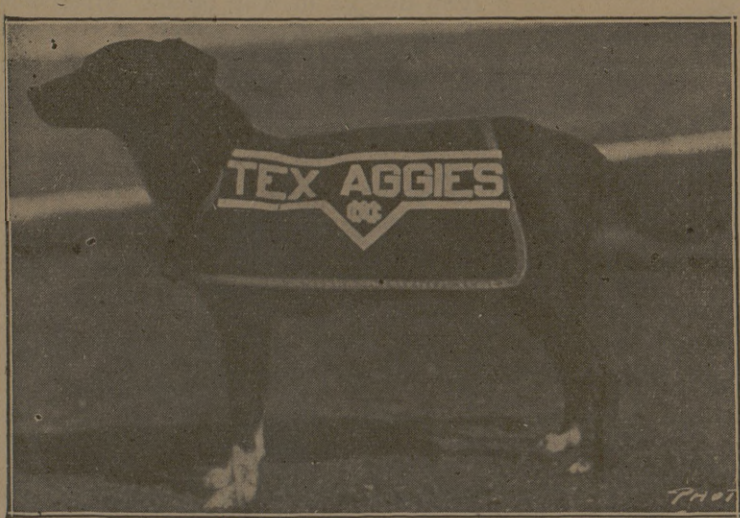

Pat sing and Emily play. He immediately acted on the idea he had, saw the two girls, and convinced them that they should team up and come to College Station.

So, for the first time, the two chums joined hands and hopped the train to Aggie land.

When Pat and Emily arrived they met the personnel of the theater and planned the type of program they hoped to present. Both girls now admit that they were fairly nervous at first week. They knew the type of stage entertainment that had previously been presented and they had no idea just how they would be received by the Aggies and servicemen here on the campus.

I'll never forget that first show. Those of us who were there came to see the picture. We noticed "Pat and Emily" on the marquee, but it hadn't made a great impression on us. We groaned when the lights went on, expecting "just another song-and-dance routine," but what a surprise we got. Pat gave out with "Mood Indigo" in that soft sweet voice, and I, as well as the rest, settled back with a very soothing feeling on my fevered brow.

The girl's success was instantaneous, and the word was quickly spread around. There was something different, something intangible, that made us like them, but whatever it was they've got it. Soon the girls got over that nervousness and felt quite at home here at Aggie land. They even got some

REV

Reveille; Mascot of Aggies For 12 Years

Polo Team Urges Visitors Attend All Sunday Games

A polo team has been organized with some twelve men on the team, and a lot of promise for a good team to come forth after a little practice has been received. Col. Perkins and Lt. Behrens are the originators of this new team after having most of the old members leave at the end of last semester. Most of the men have had experience at this polo game, and one of the members, Jack Buie, proclaims it to be "the best polo team we have had in the last four or five years".

The veterinary students who have been inducted and a few that have not as yet gone in have taken over the team for the most part. Eleven of the twelve men team members are vets with the other one still a member of the Corps.

The team plays every Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and a match for every week is going to be arranged if at all possible. A large crowd is wanted at these Sunday games so a special invitation is given now for all who want to attend. The polo grounds are located about 100 yards from the North Gate and Houston highway on the left side of the road.

She's just a black and white non-pedigreed dog and she's not as young as she used to be, but there isn't an Aggie anywhere who wouldn't fight at the drop of a hat if someone hurt her in anyway.

Rev is the only female student at A. & M. but she cuts all her classes and never hopes to get a degree.

Up until last year, Reveille made all the corps trip with the Aggies and football team. One of her favorite sports was prancing along in front of the band as it marched on the field between halves of the game.

She is too old to do much prancing now and spends most of her time around Legget Hall lying in the shade. Rev has grown up around Aggies and has never under any circumstances been mistreated by them. She has learned to know the Aggie uniform and knows wherever she sees one, she sees a friend.

Farm Workers Are Placed By A. & M.

A total of 26,741 farm laborers were placed on Texas farms during the first two weeks of June by county agricultural agents with the assistance of the U. S. Employment Service and local farmer committees, according to reports compiled at the headquarters of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Placement offices have been opened by the agents in 226 counties.

Also placed by the agents were 2,110 foreign workers. The reports show that in some instances women and town boys and girls have been enlisted in the gathering of crops. Three thousand women have aided and 2,500 youths. These became eligible for membership in the U. S. Crop Corps when they have worked on farms or in canning plants for one month.

Facilities of the U. S. Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission are to be used in directing the movement of migratory farm laborers in the state, in accordance with a recent agreement entered into by the A. & M. College and the Commission.

"We are sure the U. S. Employment Service's years of successful experience in this field will be of great value in helping farm people meet their labor needs," Director H. H. Williamson of the Extension Service said in announcing the agreement. He emphasized, however, that county agricultural agents will direct all phases of the farm labor program within their counties and will have the assistance of the USES in the recruitment and placement of workers. Ordinarily, about 300,000 migratory workers aid in the harvesting of Texas crops, but economists estimate there will be an effective labor force of 350,000 this year.

At present, the USES has 90 local offices in the state which formerly aided in farm placement work.

Pre-Meds Invite Freshmen to Join Campus Order

All Freshmen Urged To Attend the Next Meeting To Be 28th

Wednesday night, July 14, the local Pre-Med Society held their regular bi-monthly meeting in the Biology lecture room. The program consisted of two films that were of great importance to the future Medical Doctor. They were: "Heredity," "The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood". Plans were also discussed for a membership drive.

This is the first year in the history of the society that the office of vice-president has been filled by a student other than a Senior, and also this is the first year that the secretary has been anything but a Junior or a Senior. This year Freshmen are urged to join the society and to be a regular attendants to the meetings because these same students will be the ones who will be depended upon to take over the key offices next year.

These meetings are essential to the future medical student. The programs are so constructed that they give the pre-medical student an insight into the work he will do in medical school, into the requirements for entrance to an accredited medical school, to probable conditions under which he will practice when he receives his M. D., and a great deal of subject matter that will help the student in his present studies.

Come on out and get to know the other members and get to know the members of the Pre-Medical Committee who recommend you to your respective medical school. The fees are only one dollar per semester. Come out to the next meeting, July 28, and see what the Pre-Med Society can really do for you.

Sergio Zuniga plays the other harmonica in the band. Bill Jordan and Forrest Howard take care of the fiddle section while John Wirtz pounds the drums. Buddy Luce strums the guitar and Sidney Prescott plays the saxophone.

DIXIE WOOD IN WAR

The National Forests in eleven Southern States sold almost two million dollars worth of timber and forest products during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1943, according to the U. S. Forest Service. Virtually all these products were used in producing war materials.

The soap situation in regard to rationing is much brighter, war food administration officials announce.

Review for Aggies Set for Wednesday

A review of the Corps has been set for next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, according to Major Joe E. Davis, assistant commandant. Definite arrangements have not as yet been made, but announcement will be made known through the Battalion as soon as they are. All companies will participate in the review which has been set for late in the day because of the intense heat during the afternoon. Aggies are asked to watch for details in a later paper.
