

Singing Cadets Need New Members for Coming Season

Aggieland's Singers Have Appeared All Over State At USO's and Camps

The Singing Cadets are getting ready for another successful season of entertainment. They are starting their fourth season under the direction of Richard Jenkins and it appears to be a very good one.

Jenkins expects at least 25 boys from the club to return this coming semester and sing with the group. This number is only a portion of the number needed to bring the group up to standard and Jenkins is asking for more students for the group.

In this season schedule, four big affairs are being arranged for the Singing Cadets. At least three of these are week-end trips to towns in Texas. The Singing Cadets will also make a Town Hall program on December 14.

The first trip will be to Nacogdoches on the week-end of October 10 to sing for the WAC's at Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College. This should be one of the best trips that the group has made in some time. Another trip will be made to San Antonio this fall and the third trip will be to East Texas and will include Tyler and Henderson during the week-end.

The Town Hall appearance of the Singing Cadets is an annual event that is looked forward to by all persons who attend Town Hall and the Singing Cadets themselves. This year, their Town Hall program will be on December 14.

To be a member of the Singing Cadets, it is not necessary to be a soloist or to read music. All a person has to be able to do is to carry a tune along with the rest of the boys. Anyone who believes he can sing pretty well or who is interested should see Richard Jenkins in the near future. All who plan to become a Singing Cadet should arrange his schedule to have Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 4 to 5 off in the afternoon. A few will be allowed to make rehearsals only twice a week at this time.

The Singing Cadets have completed three highly successful seasons under Richard Jenkins. They appeared in camps and cities throughout Texas. Their biggest trip was to Houston last December. There they entertained men at Camp Wallace and at the USO. They also sang with the Houston Symphony on this trip.

All in all, this next Season promises to be a very good one for the Singing Cadets.

Teagarten is in Aggieland this coming week-end to play for the Navy-Marine dance next Saturday night. Teagarten has one of the top-notch bands of the country and himself plays the trombone with the greatest of skill.

This is not the first time that Kampus Kapers has had a famous band on its program. Last spring, Bob Strong and George Olsen played for Kampus Kapers audiences. This is Teagarten's first visit to Aggieland.

New Agronomy Course Announced By Head of Dept.

Beginning with the fall semester, an innovation will be made in the giving of an Agronomy course by Visual Education methods, Agronomy 415. Soil Seminar (1-0) Credit 1, for next semester will consist of sound films portraying the progress made in soil conservation, green manure crops, soil conserving crops, benefits of organic matter, a comparison between legumes and non-legumes in soil improvement work and recent developments in fertilizers and minor elements. The course meeting Monday at 9:00 in Room 132, Animal Industries Building will carry one hour credit and will consist of about forty minutes of movies and ten minutes of discussion at each period. At the close of the term a written examination will be given covering the things that are most pronounced and outstanding in Agronomic research and soil improvement. Half the questions will be made up by the instructor and the other half will be made up by students, each student submitting ten questions. In this way a cooperative type of quiz will be given in the form of multiple choice somewhat after the manner of "Horse Sense" in our associated press papers. This will be an innovation in testing the value of one of the visual education methods.

Expanded Timber Program Announced

College Station. — Landowners in thirty-eight Texas counties will produce 1,584,000,000 board feet of lumber this year if they contribute their proportionate share of the nation's total needs.

Announced several days ago, the expanded timber program will be headed by Allen F. Miller, member of the state USDA war board and supervisor of the four Texas National Forests. His headquarters are at Houston.

The expanded program, requested by the War Production Board, is designed to give assistance to wood-using industries and landowners in production of increased quantities of forest products for critical war needs. Of the $100,000,000 appropriated recently by Congress for expanding timber work, 60 per cent was allocated to eleven southern states, which are expected to produce 50 per cent of the nation's total lumber this year. Texas normally produces 4.4 per cent of the total supply.

Cooperating with the U. S. Forest Service, Miller's office with two field representatives will assist landowners and mill operators in selective cutting methods and in making available stumpage suitable for war needs. In addition, they also will aid in solving equipment, transportation and labor problems which interfere with maximum production.

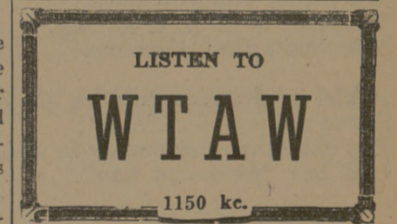

The commercial timber area of the state, which comprises east Texas counties, will be divided into two districts with a project Forester and Timberman assigned to each.
