Food Takes On A New Significance

That four-letter word "food" means a lot more to the average person than it did two years ago. Food specialists of the A. and M.

College Extension Service cite numerous instances to prove that the masses of people have changed their attitudes and actions because of war-time conditions.

These conditions include increased demands for food, effects of the national nutrition program, rationing of many foods and scarcity and poor distribution of others, unfavorable relationships between production costs and market prices, relatively high retail prices of food, along with educational programs.

These factors have combined to increase substantially the families, planting Victory gardens, the food specialists say. About 90 per cent of the farms and ranches and 50 per cent of the village, town and city homes in Texas benefited from gardening this year.

Another result has been the increase in poultry numbers by about one-third. Many village, town, and city families now have small backyard poultry flocks. Further expansion seems inadvisable in view of the current feed shortage.

A short fruit crop created a strong demand for fruits this year, with an accompanying increase in the cooperative buying of fruits. County home demonstration agents in 42 counties have reported that 6,292 families canned about 136,000 pints of pineapple products worth $27,000 in money and more than two and one-half million blue ration points. A gigantic promotional and educational program on safe methods of food preservation is expected to result in the conservation of more than 100 million containers of food in Texas during 1943.

He was ordered to lead Marines in battle after successfully completing the rugged officers' training course at the famous Marine Base at Quantico, Va.

Dr. Cox Warns Of Pneumonia Danger

With the advent of fall and the attendant seasonal changes of weather, common colds become much more prevalent and widespread in the state.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a warning against the careless treatment of any respiratory illness since they can and frequently do result in the dreaded complication, pneumonia. He emphasized the fact that pneumonia usually strikes with little or no warning, following a simple cold, an attack of influenza or some other respiratory infection.

"A cold or any other infection of the breathing passage, especially if accompanied by fever, demands the immediate attention of a doctor," the state health officer said. "To try to fight such a disease without bed rest and by means of self-medication may endanger life unnecessarily."

According to Dr. Cox, prevention is better than cure and in order to avoid colds, influenza, and pneumonia he advised building up normal physical resistance by sufficient ventilation, adequate nourishing food, outdoor exercise and sufficient sleep and rest. "However," he added, "if, in spite of such care, a respiratory illness develops, the family doctor should be called immediately."

The fact that pneumonia is definitely a communicable disease is often overlooked, Dr. Cox stated, but this should be borne in mind so that the danger of passing the disease from one person to another can be eliminated.
