Aggies To Have Only Slight Edge In Tonight's Tussle With Texas Tech Raiders

Yes sir, it looks like a fairly close game is on tap for tonight when the Aggies tear into their second game of the season at San Antonio. The Raiders, though they have lost some of their men, still have a formidable team to put on the gridiron against the Cadets. Head Coach Dell Morgan of the Raiders says that his boys are in top condition for the battle and should give the Aggies a close and thrilling game. The Raiders' specialize in a flashing passing and running attack and in their previous games their motto seems to have been "strike hard and fast." However, Coach Homer Norton, the Aggie mentor, believes that our boys are a match for the Tech. men. Most of the inconsistencies that showed up against the Ags last week have been ironed out and the boys should be ready to play a brand of heads up ball that should be hard to beat.

Aggies	Pos.	Raiders
Geer	L. E.	Bechtol
Bryant	L. T.	Gillenwater
Turley	L. G.	Read
Wright, R.	C.	Williams
Neville	R. G.	Pirtle
Moncrief	R. T.	Robertson
Settegast	R. E.	Anderson
Butchofsky	B. B.	Melton
Turner	F. B.	Winkler
Hallmark	T. B.	Thompson
Flanagan	W. B.	Brew

The Raiders, in their first game of the season, beat Lubbock Army Air Field and then, in their second encounter, took the strong Oklahoma A. & M. team by a one touch margin, 21-13. Having a total squad of about 40 men the Raiders should not be in any trouble as far as substitutes are concerned, but according to Manning Smith, Aggie backfield coach who scouted the Raiders, they may use subs sparingly and one or two at a time. It seems that we may be able to tire them down by using a team subbing method.

At any rate, it's going to be close. The thing to do is get down there and see it for yourself, and since that's where I'm in a hurry to get, that'll be all for now. See you in SanTone!

Norton's squad of 35 men is in San Antonio now, and the start of the game should see the following lineup in action:

Marine Mad-Caps

Wedding of the Month
Master Technical Sergeant Joseph W. Peden, Jr. son of our Commanding Officer here at the Marine Aviation Detachment was married on the 18th of September 1943, in St. Raphael's church in Goleta, California, to Miss Shirley Juzan of New Orleans. Master Tech Sergeant Peden, Jr. is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Peden and has recently returned from active duty at Pearl Harbor and Midway. He is now stationed at the United States Marine Air Base at Santa Barbara. Though few of us here know Master Tech, Sergeant in Los Angeles and will reside in Santa Barbara. Though few of us here know a Master Tech. Sergeant Peden, Jr., personally I think we can be bold enough to wish them all the luck and happiness we know they deserve.

efficiency the present staff of instructors at school do. There is little doubt in our minds that these men will make the grade as instructors because of their past school records. Corporal Rackerby finished number one in a class of more than 150 men; Corporal Shuster and Corporal Tallon were 22 and 23 consecutively; P F C Wynne and Ray were also near the top of the class. This was not considered when selection was made, because a man with excellent marks in school don't necessarily make an instructor of other men in the same subjects. There is a little more to it than that. First he must know how to handle men. Second he must command respect from the men. And third he must be able to teach his subject simply enough so as to be sure that each and every man in his classes understands what he is learning. We wish to extend all the luck in the world to these new student instructors and know they will make a fine job of teaching at Texas A. & M. Naval Training (Radio) school.

A. S. T. U. NEWS

C. Q. Ramblings

Ho-hum-dept.

Thrill of a lifetime was to be stopped the other evening, after the press club dinner, by two MPs who had been eyeing me suspiciously. It was considerable after C. Q. Finally they approached and wondered if I was absent from my company. Very nonchalantly we handed them our written pass. Ho hum. . . Ho hum. Superior officer

Lt. Pickett showed all the attributes of the superior platoon leader at the PCB we are still raving about. One minute after entering the banquet room of the Press Club affair he had sized up the situation, reached a conclusion and captured his object or was it just coincidental that he sat to lovely Lou Ethel Taylor.

Comics back
Welcome note in GI routine is the return of the fall radio shows. Also back is the mercury that had been spending the summer crawling out the top of local thermometers.

Sharp outfit
Company Commander Jors looked mighty happy after the review the other night. The first company were right on the ball in the drill. The other company officers are beginning to notice that the first company has half again as many men as any other company and with a twenty man formation front it takes a dang good outfit to make those right and left turns. Glove in face

Met the ACTP scribes at the PCB and found them most likeable people, very friendly and all that. . . West doesn't look at all like Bob Benchley but is a darn nice fellow, anyway, discussed plans for friendly ASTP-ACTD feud but both believe that censors will not pass. The lads would like to challenge us to a drill or review.

Air-force
1st company former air-corps men are pointing with pride that one of our officers has passed the tests for entering the air-corps and is now taking his physical at Kelly field. Lt. McClenathan, former M. T. instructor left last week for the exams.

Clip-joint
If a good sheep shearer could be found he would make a fortune setting up a hair cutting parlor in the vicinity. The local clip artists seemingly have no artistic nature and that scalped look on many GIs actually comes from being scalped. I didn't notice but I think my barber used an axe, a very dull axe, to cut mine.

We want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Major Apple and Lt. Morgan for their untiring efforts together with those of Sgt. Sabo and the men of the fatigue details in making the grounds around dorm eleven so beautiful.

Whether it's two, four or six more semesters that we lack in the school of Veterinary Medicine, we must admit that the short but much needed furloughs boosted our morale 100%. After four months of grinding since the last holiday, the carefreeness of irregular meals of night long dates and of seeing old friends. (All the male friends are in the service has given us new strength. Boy! I make a motion that we have a three day furlough at least once a week. It was hard to keep from hollering for the "bullneck" a few times—in fact it wasn't meat that I hollered for that made my face so red when we had that big dinner with all of the relatives Sunday.

Talk about sweating—maybe it's a little late to talk about it, but brother, let me tell you, there was blood aplenty sweated before those last exams we had. . . Remember those finals in Pharmacology and Physiology and those much needed grade points that were edged out of R. S. 315 and Public Speaking?

Is it true that under the ASTP program the necessary books are furnished free for the asking? That ten spot you saved for a new Best and Taylor or that month's wages you should have saved for Pharmacology books surely would set you right with the little woman, if used for a nice birthday present. By the way, don't forget birthdays. It is plenty alright to get a lot of presents when that birthday comes around. Presents in the form of greenbacks are very useful and more appreciated.

If this paper was much bigger we'd have to put in a Dr. Cox State Health Department story. Now listen you'se guys of 2nd Co., if you have some good hot news that won't wait, don't hesitate to bring it to Joe Beninson so he can see that it is passed on to you.

It's always good psychology to print names, lots of names, in any newspaper column. Now, how in the name of the great horn spoon can it be done when we can't get news out of you?

WEDDING BELLS

Well, we have three very happy boys in the outfit now. They have really joined America's fighting forces in a big way. In short, Leland Grumbles, Kid McCoy, and Robert Garrett have crossed the threshold of matrimony.

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jonnie Scheweda of Lockhart, Texas, Miss Wynona Wilson of Caldwell, last Saturday night, became the bride of Kid McCoy.

Robert M. (Bob) Garrett married Miss Clois Watson at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett are both from Conroe, Texas.

Miss Helen Battle of Jasper became the bride of Leland Grumbles last Saturday at 9:30 p.m. in Galveston. Leland is also from Jasper. Charlie Bridges acted as best man.

These are all the marriages that we know about, but inasmuch as news is so hard to dig out of some of the fellows, there might have been some that we didn't hear about. Congratulations to all of you.

gasoline runs out. Tension mounts to an explosive climax. Tone is the pilot, Marsha Hunt is the girl, and Gene Kelly, the remorseful fellow pilot who might have been the third figure in a triangle.

The Lowdown: A good one for adventure fans.

A fast moving action packed drama is the bill of fare at the Campus midnight tonight and Sunday and Monday.

Starring Jean Arthur is one of her best roles as a girl who holds her own in a world of men. The story takes place in the territory of Arizona soon after the Civil War. William Holden takes the male lead. There's plenty of action in the picture with lots of gun-shooting and killings. The romantic deal is o. k., with Holden and Miss Arthur ending up at the altar together.

The Lowdown: You ought to like this one.

Intramurals Soon To Get Underway

In an announcement by W. L. Penberthy, it was revealed that the intramural program for the fall semester would get under way at an early date.

Penberthy will meet with the athletic officers of the various outfits next week and it is suggested that each outfit begin to think about who they want as athletic officer for their unit. This office is responsible one and the seriousness with which it is taken will determine the company's final standing in the intramural league.

The Physical Education department will present a well balanced program this semester under intramurals, beginning with touch football and basket ball, which this will be indoors.

The Government's request for these materials is urgent, and for patriotic reasons we should do our best to meet the situation.

One of her most outstanding works is the portrait of the late Dr. Mark Francis, who before his death was the foremost professor in the School of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Francis' portrait now hangs in the office of Dr. R. P. Marsteller, who is dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine. Miss Hanes also did the murals in the Cushing Memorial Library.

Work on the portrait of General Revell will begin immediately in the hope of completing the painting by Thanksgiving for the unveiling and dedication before the annual Texas University game.
