Mustangs Work On Pass Defense, Will Try to Halt Aggie Aerial Attack in Saturday's Tilt

S. M. U. head coach Jimmy Stewart is currently having more trouble than he can handle, according to dispatches from Dallas. Besides the loss of Ed Cloud, ace center of the Mustangs, the ponies face the prospect of starting without Olin Gibbons, a boy who has shown plenty of stuff in the backfield and who was hurt in the final minutes of the Texas game last week. Meanwhile, concentrating on the men he does have to work with, the S. M. U. mentor is trying to perfect a system of pass defense that he hopes will throttle the vaunted passing attack of the Aggies. The Mustangs, who are badly outclassed by the Longhorn running attack, do not believe that the Cadets will present as hard an attack on the ground as they will in the air. The Pony coach stated that he hoped to stop the bullet passing of Hallmark and Beesley, the Aggie aces, and that if he could succeed the Ponies would be an even match for the Ag on the running plays.

Longhorns Take Thirteen Spot in Nation, Aggies Sixteen, Notre Dame Still Leads

In National football circles this week Notre Dame still reigns supreme. Army, tied by Penn last week, dropped to third place with Purdue taking over second honors. The Texas Longhorns took the number thirteen spot and the Aggies are rated sixteen in the nation. Back to the Southwest, other games this weekend will see Rice meet Arkansas at Houston in what should be a close and thrill-packed melee. The Owls will be slight underdogs by virtue of their 58-0 loss tion, Coach Homer Norton is planning to show the Mustangs what it feels to have a bit in their teeth, for the Aggies are going to be all out in their attempt to tame the Broncs. Good news to all is the return of George McAllister to the Ag lineup. McAllister suffered an injured knee and then a badly bruised back, but will be in top condition for Saturday's fray. Should the Cadet passing game fail, the Ag coaches are not worried. Besides the first string backs, Flanagan, Beesley, Hallmark, Deere, Burditt, and Turner the second string boys can display plenty of speed and maneuverability. Callender, in the short seconds he has gotten to play, has shown great promise.

The Cadets have been taking it fairly easy this week, running over the Pony plays and perfecting our own defense. By now we have almost ironed out any hindrance to smooth play and Saturday's game should see some nice football playing on all sides.

Head Coach Manning Smith Issues Call for All Players

Meeting to be Held in Gym Friday At 6:00 Names to be Taken; Cagers Asked to Report

The first meeting of this year's basketball squad will be held this Friday at 6:00 p.m. in the gym, it was today announced by Manning Smith, head basketball coach. The meeting will be for the purpose of getting the names of all interested boys and organizing the team for practice. The boys who come out will practice under a schedule until after Thanksgiving, when Coach Smith can devote his entire time to the basketball squad.

"What we want to do," said Coach Smith, "is to get the boys down there, get their questions answered, and get them to practicing." "The Aggie cage team has always been one of the most colorful in the nation and we are going to go right ahead as if we were in normal times. We will play the regular conference schedule and will play as many Army teams as possible, for that will give us valuable practice."

Qualifications for basketball are the same as for football. Of course none of the Army boys are eligible, but any regular student who is passing at least eleven hours may come out for the team.

In Manning Smith, the Cadets have an able coach as well as a regular fellow. "Smitty", as he is better known, came to the Aggie coaching staff in 1934 with Coach Homer Norton who had coached him to All-America mention at Centenary College as a quarterback and scat backfield man. His first duties were assistant backfield coach and backfield demonstrator. In 1937 "Smitty" became co-coach of freshman baseball and in 1938 he took over the varsity tennis team.

Later the same year he had the freshman basketball added to his jobs, so he dropped the freshman baseball work. By 1941, however he was co-coach of all freshman sports except track.

Last year was Manning's first year as varsity backfield coach and head basketball coach, and he made an enviable record at both these positions, at which he succeeded Marty Karow, now a naval officer. Last year's team of cagers, including Cokinos, Dawson, Huffman, Peden, and a score of others, was fast and colorful, leaving this year's boys a mark to shoot at, so if you want to go out for the team, don't hesitate. Let's start right now to win the Southwest conference basketball race in '43.

B Team Plays Allen Academy Friday

The Aggie B team, coached by Lil Dimmitt, will play Allen Academy Friday at 3:00 p.m. on Kyle Field. The Cadets are favored, but the Allen boys are expected to give the Ags some stiff competition. Allen lost to Hearne Interment in a hard fought game 7-0 and the Aggies licked Hearne by a score of 18-0. The game will be especially interesting in view of the fact that it will offer a preview on some of the B team boys who are really Flamenco dancing is an art peculiar to the Spanish Gypsy's alone. It is light, and requires excellent footwork since a great deal of its movement is in the air. For accompaniment, the usual instrument is a guitar with other tempos are made by the dancer who snaps his fingers and slaps his sides.

SAFEGUARDING "HOME FRONT" LINES!

TELEPHONE lines from poles to homes take a terrific beating from old man weather. And with wire for replacements drafted for military use, existing lines must be kept in good condition. Asphalt coating applied in time keeps out moisture, chief trouble maker on telephone lines. Without lowering the wires, this trolley painter speeds the coating — helps recondition 50 lines a day. This simple "stitch in time" helps keep communications open to the homes of America — and saves critical materials for vital war weapons.

War calls keep Long Distance lines busy . . . That's why your call may be delayed.
