The Battalion Suggests - -

Since the original plans were made for the arrangement of schedules for this semester, several events have occurred that should alter the schedule for the remainder of the semester.

Primary of thee is the fact that Texas A. & M. has received an invitation to play against Louisiana State University in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Florida on the first day of the coming year. As is the custom, some members of the Cadet Corps would like to go to that game as they have gone to other games in the past—as the Twelfth Man.

Biggest problem facing these students that plan to see this New Year's game is the fact that classes are scheduled to recommence on the 28th of this month. Other difficulties such as transportation and places to stay could be handled in the usual Aggie manner.

To remedy this, the Battalion suggests that the Christmas holidays be changed to start on 22nd of this month and end on the 3rd of next month. Not only would these new dates give Aggies who attended the game a chance to return to school on time and without missing any work, but it would also permit students who are not going to the game a chance to spend both Christmas and New Year's Day at home.

This new arrangement would not put class schedules off balance since ASTD and ACTD classes will be held while the Corps is on vacation and the teaching load would probably be better arranged if the holidays were changed.
