Tessie-ites on the Battalion Staff . . .

It was a busy day for the men of the Battalion staff last Friday when fourteen girls from the Lass-o staff of T.S.C.W. arrived on the campus to put out Saturday's issue of the Batt. Quite a bit of commotion was heard in the office of the basement of the Administration building, but the print shop didn't seem to mind it in the least since the paper went to the press 15 minutes before the usual time. The paper turned out to be a success so everyone was happy about the whole matter except that they were here for only one issue.

It was a week-end for the girls who made the trip, what with putting out a paper, going to shows, the Corps ball, and a few other things that might be mentioned. A few tired bones is the result of the two and a half days spent on the campus as the guests of the Battalion staff and the Press Club. And, now, the next occasion is the one when the Batt staff makes a return trip to Denton. The editor of the Lass-o, Rose Samsel, has already promised a rain check so come the first month or so of next semester, it will be to Denton for the Battalion men.

Senior Ring Dance Coming Up . . .

On Friday night, January 28th, the class of '45 will be attending its annual and traditional senior ring dance in the main dining hall of Sbisa. Along with the dance, there will be a banquet and the ring ceremony that accompanies the ring dance. An impressive night it is for those seniors who have their rings turned to say that they are almost out of college and ready to become on their own.

Committees have been appointed by the ring dance chairman, and they are beginning work to make this one of the most successful ring dances ever to be held. War conditions may not allow this to become a reality, but every effort is being made by these men to make this a cherished night in the lives of all who attend. Indeed, it should be a night to remember because before the war, there was seldom, if ever, more than one senior ring dance to a senior.

A crowd of five hundred is expected and hoped for at the dance. The evening would not be complete, though, if the banquet and ring ceremony was not attended. Prices have been set as low as possible so that more men will attend. It should be for the interest of all to try to attend this dance as probably their last for quite sometime. Time is short so get your dates and be at Sbisa on Friday night, January 28th.

OPEN LETTER TO THE CLASS OF '45

Men, these tickets for the dance and banquet haven't been selling like it was anticipated and something is going to happen before the Ring Dance is a reality.

I have been in the army long enough to know that two weeks before pay day or three days before pay day there isn't much money in the G. I.'s pockets. To be frank about it there isn't much money in the fund of the Class of '45. But before that band starts playing on the night of January 28th, 1944, there is going to have to be some two hundred and fifty (250) tickets sold before next Saturday at 5 o'clock, January 22nd, 1944.

You fellows want a dance, which will be the last Ring Dance until victory, but that money is still out which will have to come in.

If you want it bad enough, buy the tickets, if not, we'll throw in the towel Saturday.

Hank Avery.

According to the Lantern, Ohio State University students this year suffered from a Christmas lack of mistletoe. The Lantern said market dealers attributed the unprecedented shortage to the war business of New Mexicans where most of the "oscular bushes" grow.

a bit of chicken or a sandwich and a piece of fruit—and then to sleep.

"Non-performance days are different. I try to combine the day's business with the things I like to do. Two all-important considerations govern this routine. First, the physical care of the voice; second, demands of the rehearsal schedule. Rehearsals may be called at any time, from 10 in the morning to 9 at night. No one knows in advance how long a rehearsal may last, so personal engagements often must be cancelled.

"And then costumes must be planned, wigs fitted, makeup 'rehearsed'. My costumes for a new production usually are being prepared before the end of the old season. Wigs take time to make, for they are put together, hair by hair. Generally, I fit new wigs some weeks before the performance.

"Rehearsal days can be complicated by appointments with reporters and photographers. The latter usually meet us on the stage, which expedites matters for all concerned. I have often met reporters at the opera house, too, which means coming 'to work' an hour earlier.

"Between these necessities of work, I try to sandwich the things I want to do. I must rest and sleep at least eight hours a day; I must exercise; I like to see my friends; to play bridge; to read and go to the theater. I like best of all to be with my family; quietly at home.

"Unless I'm singing, I try to go to bed around 11. Then I can be sure of getting enough sleep for the morrow's activities. I used to try making it up on the other end, but early telephone calls taught me better. I like sports, but find little opportunity for golf or fishing during the working season. But I ride horseback, take long walks, usually with my wife or a friend.

"Luncheon is my big social 'spot' during the working week, for that is about the only time

The Lowdown on Campus Distractions

By David Seligman

The Tuesday-Wednesday show at the Campus is "Corregidor." Starring in the film are Otto Kruger, Elissi Landi, and Donald Woods. The title gives away the setting and story of the picture. Of the several pictures made and named such titles as "Bataan", and "So Proudly We Hail" this one was at the Bottom of the list. It lacks the punch to make it a top production, also needed are a cast and plot.

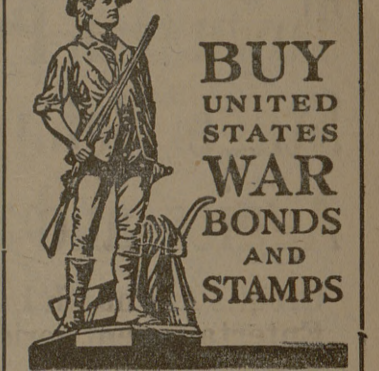

The Lowdown: There are better ones of this type.

Featured at Guion Hall for today and Wednesday is "Maisie Gets Her Man." The Maisie series got a new lease on life with the capture of Red Skelton by Ann Southern. Red's rise in the radio field has increased his popularity and that of the show also. He, with a sizeable nest-egg and fresh from the country, comes to Chicago and flops in vaudeville. Maisie, his partner, persuades him to invest his money in a "good" business, only to discover that it is a swindle which involves him in a legal entanglement as well as renders him penniless. When his hometown sweetheart enters the scene Maisie exits graciously and with a few swift efficient moves exposes the swindlers and clears Red's name. The third corner of the triangle disappears and Maisie "gets her man" for good.

The Lowdown: Pure entertainment.
