program, will sing "Cocktails For Two," "Bugles in the Sky" and "No Night There." Bill Krenz will contribute a special piano solo of "Star Dust."

A last-minute summary of farm news will be provided by Bradley, and Kay Baxter will give helpful household hints.

The Three Romeos, who are really hardworking lads, will have someone else in mind when they sing "Three Shiftless Skonks" on their WTAW program of songs, Thursday, August 17, at 3:45-4:00 p.m. CWT. The trio also will trill "Louise," "Kentucky" and "So Little Time."

In mood both quizzical and perturbed, the Four Vagabonds will chant "Is You Is or Is You Ain't My Baby?" on their WTAW program of songs, Wednesday, August 16, at 4:15-4:30 p.m., CWT. The mellow foursome also will sing "Sweet Eloise," "Besame Mucho," "Slender, Tender and Tall," and "Aintcha Got No Time for Love?"

Cliff Arquette will play nursemaid to twin boys, Richard and Prichard, during the Wednesday, August 16 edition of Glamour Manor heard at 11:00 a.m., CWT over WTAW. Everything goes well until the boys' identification bracelets become mixed up.

In the musical portion of the program, Charlie Hale's orchestra will offer the new hit "Night Must Fall," and Hal Stevens will sing "I Dream of You."

Men turn murderous in their lust for gold, and genial Gunpowder oJe is in imminent danger of losing his life when the Masked Horseman intervenes, during the WTAW broadcast of the Lone Ranger drama titled "Gunpowder Joe," Wednesday, August 16, at 6:30-7:00 p.m., CWT.

The action-packed Lone Ranger dramas are broadcast over WTAW each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:30 p.m., CWT.

That most insidious of all household nuisances, the telephone call which occurs while you're in the bathtub, will be considered by "edge" Ransom Sherman during the broadcast of Nitwit Court, Tuesday, August 15, over WTAW at 7:30 p.m., CWT.

Hizzoner will wax irate over the menace of the misdirected telephone call. Aiding in the crusade will be jerky Jurors Bubbles Lowbridge, Bigelow Hornblower, and Waymond Wadcliffe.

Jimmy Dodd will give his version of a popular tune, accompanied by the Jack Rose trio.

"Clock Symphony"—so called because the composer attempted to reproduce the ticking of the clock Big Ben, in the Tower of London. Then the orchestra will present two polkas; the "Perpetual Motion" polka by Strauss, so called because it has no ending and may be repeated as many times as desired, and the "Golden Age" polka, by Shostakovitch, famed Russian composer of the "Fifth Symphony" that has received so much acclaim in the past two years. The concert will close with Enesco's "Roumanian Rhapsody."

The series of summer park concerts, in Houston, was inaugurated as an experiment in the summer of 1940. Seven concerts were presented in Hermann Park that year.

In this, its fifth summer season, the original series of seven concerts has been expanded to 30 concerts: 24 in Hermann Park and twelve neighborhood parks of the City, and six out-of-town.

Response to music under the stars has been such that the city of Houston appropriated $10,000 towards the expenses of the current summer concerts. Despite war-time travel restrictions, attendance at the concerts has been greater than had been anticipated.

Summer music has become a feature of American civic activity. Attendance at concerts, summer operas, and like ventures, indicates a growing interest in the better grade of music.

Aside from the cultural value of summer concerts, the series has a practical side for the sponsors of the Houston Symphony. With the twelve-week summer season added to the winter season of 26 weeks, Conductor Ernst Hoffmann is in a position to offer competent musicians a minimum of 38 to 40 weeks of regular employment; an inducement for highly-trained musicians to become members of the Southwest's oldest symphony orchestra.

The summer Symphony concluded one of its best tours during the month of July. During four days, the group appeared in San Marcos for the Army Navigation School and Teachers College, played two concerts in one evening at the beautiful new music hall of the School of Fine Arts of the University of Texas, played a concert at McCloskey Hospital, in Temple, and entertained more the 3500 members of the service personnel of Waco Army Flying Field and civilians of Waco.

The concert at A. and M. will be the final out of town concert of the summer season which will close in Houston on August 29th.

Governor Calls For Waste Paper Drive

In a proclamation issued Friday, Gov. Coke Stevenson called on Texans to put forth their effort to collect at least 20 pounds of waste paper per capita during paper salvage month, August 20 to September 20, it was announced at headquarters of the Texas newspapers' waste paper drive in Fort Worth.

The governor specifically asked the co-operation of the American Legion, the Boy Scouts, salvage committees and newspapers in all communities, pointing out that waste paper now is the No. 1 critical war material. Many mills which convert waste paper into war products now are shut down or operating on a part-time basis because of the shortage of supplies.

On the campus the center point for waste paper collections is in the southwest corner of the Animal Husbandry Pavilion. Aggies who wish to participate in this salvage of waste paper are urged to take their collection to this central point. Dr. Luther Jones, chairman of the waste paper drive in the college area, urged that, if possible, the paper be tied in bundles. The building will be open daily so that any who wish to make contributions may have an opportunity to do so at their convenience.

It's easy to waste time—
Listening to small talk.
Waiting for luck to break your way.
Dreaming of chances that are gone.
Looking for a pull.
Envy another's success.
Complaining about hardships.
Hunting some way to save.

"Listen - - -"
He prefaces each remark.
"Listen - - -"
He ought to be tossed to a shark,
Along with the e-
Qually sibilant gee
Who helpfully ends every sentence with "See?"
It may be too petty, too carping of me,
But,
Listen,
It's driving me nutty,
See?
