

WTAW Batt Chat

Morton Downey, who is heard Monday through Friday over WTAW at 2:00 p. m., CWT, numbers many members of royalty among his fans. He was a special favorite of the Duke of York who invited Morton to come to England and sing at his coronation when he became King.

The hard-riding Masked Horseman, venturing into cupid's domain, helps a young man favorably impress his prospective father-in-law, during the WTAW broadcast of the Lone Ranger drama titled, "A Royal Welcome," Wednesday, August 30, at 6:30 p. m., CWT.

Cliff Arquette buys an electric sign for Glamour Manor during the broadcast, Wednesday, August 30, at 11:00 a. m., over WTAW. Priorities and shortages cause many complications, but everything is finally cleared up and Cliff plans a Hollywood premiere for the unveiling.

Music during the program will include Charlie Hale's band specialty of "Soft Lights and Sweet Music," and Hal Stevens' vocal work on "How Many Hearts Have You Broken."

The Cadets Quartet will chant that enchanting chanty, "Blow the Man Down," on their WTAW program of songs, Tuesday, August 29, at 4:15-4:30 p. m., CWT. The four mellow fellows also will sing "The Prayer of a Nation" and "Sky Anchors Aweigh."

How Albert awakens with a pain in his side and Ethel prepares him for a major operation will be enacted on the Private Lives of Ethel and Albert, Wednesday, August 30, at 3:00 p. m., CWT over WTAW.

While awaiting the doctor, Ethel cites examples of people who didn't know they had appendicitis never reached the hospital alive. The two are in a state of semi-hysteria when the medico finally arrives to diagnose the trouble as the natural result of Albert's overstuffing on sauerkraut, pig's knuckles and Liederkrantz cheese.

The Ethel and Albert series is heard Mondays through Fridays at 3:00 p. m., CWT.

"Jedge" Ransom Sherman gingerly picks up the question of "How Come Weekend Guests?" and ends up flat-footed on both sides of the fence, during the broadcast of Nitwit Court on Tuesday, August 29, over WTAW at 7:30 p. m., CWT.

Hizzoner will be hindered and abetted by the regular trio of jurors: "Bigelow Hornblower" played by Mel Blanc, "Bubbles Lowbridge," by Sara Berner, and Arthur Q. Bryan as "Waymond Wadcliffe." The only bit of reason brought into the courtroom will be by Jimmy Dodd with his weekly ballad, sung to the accompaniment of the Jack Rose Trio.

"And Then You Kissed Me," "I'll Be Seeing You," and "I Love My Baby" will be romantically baritone by Curley Bradley, m. c., on the WTAW broadcast of the Farm and Home Makers, Wednesday, August 30, at 11:30 a. m., CWT.

Other musical selections on the program will include a "bells medley" of "Bells," "I Want To Ring Bells," and "Bells of St. Mary," as played by the orchestra under the direction of Harry Kogen; the "Dancing Shoes Polka" by the Harmonizers, instrumental sextet; and the hymn "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," as presented by Bradley, the Cadets Quartet, and the string ensemble.

Bradley also will provide a last-minute summary of farm news, while Kay Bexter, BLUE homemaker, will give helpful household hints.

WTAW will broadcast prize-winning plays and radio scripts written by men and women in the U. S. armed forces in a new BLUE series to be launched next autumn. Material for the new series will come from an exclusive network tie-up with the National Theatre Conference, just announced by Phillips Carlin, vice-president in charge of programs.

The affiliation, according to Mr. Carlin, provides for the radio usage of material submitted in two playwriting contests conducted by the Conference among service men and women. The Conference, with headquarters at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, includes the dramatic departments of most of the colleges and universities and the outstanding community theatre groups throughout the country.

Recently the Conference completed a playwriting contest limited to servicemen and women in this country. A second contest has just been started, which will include members of the overseas divisions. Contest classifications are: long plays, one-act plays, skits and black-outs, musical comedies; and radio plays, including dramatic scripts, twenty-eight minutes in length, and spots, seven minutes in length.

Because of its desire to provide greater opportunity for talented under-graduate writers, the BLUE will pay full network prices for any scripts it may use. It will also have access to material contained in long play or musical comedy entries.

Bulletins featuring the network's participation in the contest are being prepared, and will be sent out by the contest headquarters to supplement those already being distributed by the United States Organizations and the Red Cross here and overseas.

Material for the autumn series will come from the first playwriting contest. This will be augmented later with entries from the second contest, which will close on December 1, 1944.

An entertaining BLUE Network daytime program is "Ethel and Albert," a homey, sincere and pleasant dramatization of the lives of a likable young married couple. Shown here are the pair, Ethel and Albert, looking over their script prior to one of their broadcasts.

Public Health Aims Discussed

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, in outlining the duties of the Texas State Department of Health said in a statement today that public health measures are preventive and not curative.

"In an effort to prevent disease," Dr. Cox said, "the State Health Department carries on an educational program informing the public as to how they may secure protection by vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever, and immunization against diphtheria; by investigating sources of disease outbreaks; by quarantining and isolating those ill with communicable disease; by the prevention of the spread of the disease; inspection of water supplies and advocating the production and use of safe milk to prevent the occurrence of milk-borne diseases."

Dr. Cox said that in spite of all preventive measures, people will become ill and accidents will happen. The cure of sickness and the repair of accidents fall within the scope of the duties of the private practitioner of medicine and surgery. "Of course," he said, "the general practitioner of medicine is also engaged in prevention of disease when he advises mothers to have their children protected against diphtheria and smallpox or to have the family as a whole immunized against typhoid fever."

The general practitioner and State Health Department alike advocate that it is better to remain healthy than it is to recover from an illness, but the State Health Department is engaged in the control and prevention of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state.
