W T A W Batt Chat

Trouble Walks in Sally Mason's door without even knocking in the Fannie Hurst story, "The Petal and the Current" which will be dramatized on the WTAW broadcast of Fannie Hurst Presents, Saturday, September 2, at 9:00 a. m., CWT.

In the story, the shy girl attends a party to meet some "eligible young men," unwittingly drinks a "mickey," wanders off and is picked up by the police for vagrancy. Released from jail, she wanders the streets penniless, convinced that she is a hopelessly bad woman for the the one mistake she has made. The ending is happy, yet unbelievable.

Miss Hurst serves as narrator for the series, for which original organ music is composed and played by Abe Goldman.

Major Gen. L. D. Clay, Director of Materiel, U. S. Army, will be the special guest on the WTAW broadcast of the Army Service Forces' program, Twenty-One Stars, Saturday, September 2, at 2:02-2:30 p. m., CWT.

Major General Clay will clarify the much-debated matter of shortages and surpluses in Army materiel. He will explain that the surplus of today is the ammunition of tomorrow, while shortages can seriously impede the march to victory.

Privates Bob Eberly and Buddy Clark will provide vocal interludes, accompanied by the 344th Army Service Forces orchestra. Philip Lord, only civilian on the program, serves as the narrator, "Sergeant Steed."

Twenty-One Stars is produced under the supervision of Major Wayne King.

LOUPOT'S
Watch Dog of the Aggies

PROF'S SON

The precocious sprout of a professional papa will make his debut with America's most highly minded moppets, during the WTAW broadcast of Quiz Kids, Sunday, September 3, at 6:30-7:00 p. m., CWT.

He is eight-year-old Phillip Marcus whose father, Ralph, is professor of Hellenic culture at the University of Chicago. The youngster has perfect pitch, plays the piano expertly, and is a full-fledged authority on Mark Twain and Greek mythology. He collects comic magazines and plans to be either a cartoonist or an adventure story writer when he grows up.

Phillip's classmates in the celebrated airplane academy will be Pat Conlon, 7-year-old Shakespearean; Joel Kupperman, 8, master of math; Ruth Mann, 13, who has a man-size grasp of literature; and Harve Fischman, 14, expert on American history.

Joe Kelly will serve as quiz-master of ceremonies.

SEZ YOU, the BLUE's unique slang session in which Lingo Linguists attempt to decode the peculiar phrases and eccentric expressions used in various trades and professions, will change time on September 2, and then again on September 16.

Now heard Saturdays at 1:30-2:00 p. m., CWT, Sez You will be heard at 6:30-7:00 p. m., CWT, on Saturday, September 2, and at that same hour the following week, Saturday, September 9. On Saturday, September 16, and each Saturday thereafter, the program will be broadcast at 12:00 noon to 12:30 p. m., CWT.

During the September 2nd broadcast of Sez You the Lingo Linguists will analyze the patois of actors, pawnbrokers, and wrestlers. Articulating the argot of these occupations will be Mary Marlo, who plays the part of "Aunt Zoe" in the Chicago production of "Oklahoma," Fred Kohler, a light-heavyweight bonecrusher, and Howie Sachnoff, a polite pawnbroker.

The Lingo Linguists, heard weekly on Sez You, are Patricia Dougherty, feature writer, and City Editors Karin Walsh and Clem Lane. Herb Newcomb is slang-master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Barbara Van Doren Klaw will be the youngest woman ever to appear on Listen, The Women, to be heard on the Sunday, September 3 broadcast at 2:00 p. m., CWT over WTAW. Mrs. Klaw is twenty-three, reporter on a New York newspaper, and author of the book entitled, "Camp Followers."

Mrs. Chester Arthur will be guest femcee. The panel will include Dr. Mildred C. Thompson, Dean of Vassar College; Mrs. Thyra Samter Winslow, fiction writer, and Miss Janet Flanner.

"WORLD OF SONG"

The lilting song hit of a generation ago "Tell Me Pretty Maiden," sung as a duet by soprano Annamary Dickey and baritone Walter Cassel, both of the Metropolitan Opera, will be featured on the World of Song broadcast over WTAW, Sunday, September 3, at 3:30 p. m., CWT. Both artists are former winners of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air, Miss Dickey winning in 1939, while Cassel received his "Met" contract after the 1942 series.

Solos by Cassel will include a modern, lusty arrangement of "Sailor's Life," and Victor Herbert's unforgettable "I'm Falling in Love with Someone." Lovely Miss Dickey will be heard singing "Amor" and Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water."

Bizet's "Farandole" will be the orchestral offering under the direction of Wilfred Pelletier. The broadcast will conclude with a duet by Miss Dickey and Cassel on "You and the Night and the Music."

FUNNY MAN

On Sunday afternoons, at 4:00 p. m., CWT, to exact WTAW goes musical in a big way. Against the background of the familiar strains of George M. Cohan's immortal "Mary," the Mary Small Revue, featuring the lovely Mary Small herself, Sunny Skylar, handsome young crooner, the music of Ray Block's orchestra and various guests, begins a melodic half-hour.

Melodic and funny, too—for in that brief thirty minutes there is something that is not musical, rather a three or four minute entertaining monologue by a well-known radio figure, Olyn Landick, who goes by the nom de mike of "The Hackensack Gossip."

In this modern age when comedians work in pairs with stooges and straight-men and 'plants' are all too common, the Hackensack Gossip is doubly refreshing in that he is strictly a monologist, performing what is known in the trade as a "single." His style is that of a New Jersey housewife garrulously discussing the gossip, the comings and goings of her family, friends and neighbors in a manner best described as over-the-back-fence or the front porch motif. All this is worked into a running story that could earn for Landick the title of the Suburban Dwight Fiske or even the Latter Day Julian Eltinge.

The slow, drawling, purely American type of speech employed by the Hackensack Gossip in his monologue is a perfect caricature of the homey, small town gossip who knows what everybody else's business is and never seems to know when the joke is on her.

SPARKLING SHOW

It won't be from the same old stand but Fred Waring will be doing business all right when he returns to the air Thursday, Sept. 7, at 6:00 p. m., CWT, for the first of his weekly big half hour musical variety shows, this time over the Blue Network and WTAW.

There are more than fifty-five performing 'Pennsylvanians,' most of whom are versatile enough to put on swell shows by themselves. Many of the musicians can double on an imposing array of glittering instruments and all can sing, singing being a prerequisite for membership in the Waring band. The non-playing exclusively vocal Pennsylvanians can whistle, become duos, trios, quartets or entire glee clubs; the drummer, Poley McClintock, can double as a comedian and the entire company can present the same selection in any one of several ways that best fits the mood of any particular program.

For one single broadcast, Waring well known in the band business as a perfectionist, will often have as many as a dozen rehearsals. He will sometimes try five different arrangements of the same selection before deciding which one will go on the air. For instance, "St. Louis Blues" might finally emerge as a circus overture, a jam session or a lonesome Missouri chant of homesickness.
