Plans Made To Better Aggie-Navy Feeling

Campus Victory Day Celebration Planned

Entire Community Will Join Program

Senior students have inaugurated a movement to begin a plan for a ceremonial campus program in celebration of armistice in Europe when and if it comes.

The Executive Committee of A. & M. has not taken any official stand on the proposed plan but they have indicated that they are generally in favor of a campus celebration. Seniors will submit a program for approval within the next few days and the general indications are that it will receive the official stamp of approval.

No definite plans are ready for announcement but Dean F. C. Bolton said this morning that it would be campus wide embracing all elements at A. & M.

Members of the senior class active on this proposal have expressed the viewpoint that there may not be a sudden armistice and this is born out by reports from the fighting fronts. They say however, that if there is an armistice A. & M. should be ready with an appropriate program.

Rotary Club Begins Broadcasts On What Area Should Know

As a public service, the Bryan Rotary Club is presenting a series of 20 weekly radio broadcasts over Station WTAW on the general subject, "What the Community Should Know," with the next program scheduled for 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, C. O. Spriggs, chairman of the radio committee of the Bryan Rotary Club, has announced.

The first of these programs was presented Friday by Leon Hayes, principal of Travis Elementary School, with a discussion of the recreational facilities in this section. Time of the weekly broadcast has been changed, Sriggs reported, and it is hoped to present all future programs at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday of each week.

Next Wednesday, W. R. Carmichael, principal of Lamar Junior School, will have the subject "Back to School". This will be followed (See ROTARY, Page 7)

Seniors Will Be Charged the Regular Admission to Final Semester Corps Ball

Press Club Meets Wednesday Night 7:15

There will be a meeting of the Press Club in Room 118 of dormitory 3 Wednesday night at 7:15. This will be the last meeting of the semester and Dick Goad, president, has asked that each member of the Battalion and Longhorn staffs be present.

The primary purpose of the meeting will be to take inventory of the men who will be available to work on student publications next semester. The basic staff will be organized at this time. Goad has invited all persons who think that they might be interested in journalistic work to report to this meeting for interviews.

Annual Vet Meeting Here on Sept. 25-26

Dr. R. P. Marsteller, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, announced September 13, that the 34th annual meeting of the State Veterinary Medical Association will be held at A. & M., through the days of September 25-26. Registration and business meetings will be held in the Veterinary Hospital and headquarters of the organization will be at the Aggie-land Inn.

Laboratory, speaking, and entertainment program for the two-day meeting has been arranged by Dr. Wm. D. Roberts of Wichita Falls, president of the association. This will include the annual banquet to be held in Duncan Hall on the night of September 25.

According to Dr. Marsteller, during the meeting, the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners will conduct examinations for those veterinarians who wish to qualify for official tuberculin testing of cattle. These examinations will be given during the two-day period of the meeting. The meeting is expected to end on September 26.

Seniors will be charged the regular admission price of $1.20 for the final corps ball of this semester it was decided by the Committee on Student Activities and the manager of Student Activities it was announced by that Office this morning. This ruling is to apply to all corps dances and to all-service dances.

It was also announced that seniors will be invited to attend four class or organization dances during the fall semester with the only charge being the federal tax on all amusement tickets. The committee issued the statement that, "Since it has been the policy in prior years to charge seniors the regular admission price for corps dances it would be impractical at this time to set up a new precedent which would necessitate change when the enrollment again reaches its peak after the war."

CQ Restrictions Are Reinforced On Non-Regs

Non-reg students living in Walton Hall were notified yesterday by the Commandant's Office that all students living in the non-reg dormitories would be required to observe call to quarters. This is not a new issue of orders but an old one, issued when the regular C. Q. hours were posted for the whole corps. The reason for the sudden enforcement of this order has become necessary because non-reg students have started abusing the privilege of it not being enforced, stated the Commandant's office. Due to the unnecessary disturbances in the Walton area after C. Q., this order will now be enforced.

Call to quarters is at 7:30 on regular weekday nights with the exception of Wednesday night when C. Q. is at 8:45. On Saturday night the call to quarters is extended to 12:00 and sounded on Sunday at 8:30.

The first move in the betterment of Aggie-Navy relations was made last night when a joint committee of five seniors and six sailors met to discuss the possibilities of bringing the two groups closer together.

It was generally agreed after a two hour session in the Ward Room of Dormitory 12 that the underlying trouble was a lack of understanding between the two groups. The sailors confessed that they knew little of Aggie traditions and had made little effort to find out while on the other hand the Aggies were forced to admit the same about sailor conditions.

In conclusion it was agreed among the group that the primary thing to better relations would be to abolish the dividing line between the Aggie and Navy areas. This line in question is an arbitrary line separating the Navy dorms from the Aggie dorms and was adopted several months ago when the ASTP was living in the dormitories now occupied by members of the corps. The sailors said (See PLANS, Page 3)

Junior Prom Date Set for October 20

The junior class met last night in a called meeting to discuss plans for a junior prom and banquet next semester. A tentative date, October 20, was selected as the date for the annual junior prom.

Opinion was not crystallized concerning a banquet so that decision was postponed for further discussion. The junior prom is expected to be held the weekend that the Aggies play TCU in the first conference game of the season. This game will be played on Kyle Field. It is customary to follow the junior prom with a corps dance and in an ordered sequence of events there will be a corps ball or an all service dance, following the junior prom, after the football game against TCU that Saturday.

No announcement has been made concerning the music for the dance. The Office of Student Activities will make arrangements along this line and announcements will be forthcoming.
