

THE LOWDOWN ON CAMPUS DISTRACTIONS

By Blimp Sager
CAMPUS: Showing Saturday is a double feature. The first feature is "Between Two Worlds" with John Garfield, Paul Henreid, Sydney Greenstreet, and Eleanor Parker. It is a drama that can definitely be called different. It starts with a group of people caught in bombing in London, and everybody gets killed in the first 5 minutes of the show. They find themselves on a voyage bound for eternity and each one in turn has a meeting with the examiner who prescribes whether they push clouds or shovel coal, determined by the things they reserved by their mortal life actions. The situations that develop make it a very interesting show on the creepy side.
Lowdown: It will leave you a better person.

The second feature is "Prairie Chicken."
Lowdown: Your guess is as good as mine.

Showing Sunday is "Hollywood Canteen" with Bette Davis, John Garfield, Jack Benny, Jack Carson, Dennis Morgan, and just about any other star you can think of. Talk about an all-star cast, this one really has it. Songs, dances, and good music are the background for this production portraying the famous Hollywood Canteen. The Andrews sisters sing a couple of good songs, such as "Corn for My Country" and others. The plot comes in when GI Joe from New Guinea visits there in hopes of meeting his dream girl, Joan Leslie. His vision becomes a reality when the film star entertains arrange an introduction, plan a date for him with his idol, and advise him on love. A bang up romance develops, and she being a celebrity leaves him room for some doubt whether she really loves him or whether it is just a publicity stunt. It all ends up with everything strictly solid, with plenty of fun and frolic throughout the whole show.

Lowdown: A sure bet for top notch entertainment.

GUION HALL: Showing Thursday is "Banjo On My Knee" with Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, and Walter Brennan. This is a fairly old picture, but really worth the re-issue.
Lowdown: Good cast, good drama, good show.

Playing Friday and Saturday is a double feature. The first show is "Sherlock Holmes' Secret Weapon" with Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce. Sherlock does it again with chills, thrills, and death defying escapades. After eliminating everyone that you think could have done it, he comes out with the right answer.
Lowdown: A good mystery thriller.

The second feature is "Gambling Lady" with Barbara Stanwyck. She plays the role of a hard hearted lady dealer in a gambling place but in the long run romance comes along and she softens up but definitely.
Lowdown: Old, but good entertainment.

Showing Sunday and Monday is "Thank Your Lucky Stars" with Humphrey Bogart, Eddie Cantor, Bette Davis, Olivia DeHavilland, Errol Flynn, Joan Leslie, John Garfield, Ida Lupino, and gobs of others. This is a musical with a star-studded cast, centered around the excitement attendant to the Cavalcade of Stars' benefit show and a mixup in contracts. This is a Readers Digest version, but it is a really good show with a pretty good plot for a musical.
Lowdown: Go see it.

Man, Your Manners
By I. Sherwood

Stag-line Etiquette:

Here are a few suggestions for the poor stag who thinks he has to go on dancing, dance after dance, until someone else cuts in. Don't make it so hard for yourself. All that is required is that you dance one dance with encores, at any one time with any one girl. Of course, if you want other dances with the same girl come back later, or even ask her for the next dance but it is not required. There are several ways of disposing of the partner with whom you have just danced. When the music for the next dance starts or a few moments before, say:

- (1) May I take you to your partner?
- (2) May I help you find your partner? (3) Will you please excuse me, I have the next dance engaged, but may I come back for another one with you later? (4) Or you may take your partner to the refreshment table, and while there introduce her to any other man or couple whom you know, and immediately ask them if you cannot exchange the next dance.

You can always take your partner to a hostess and say, "I have the next dance engaged. May I leave Miss Smith with you?" One of the duties of a hostess is to look after such a situation. She may go to one of the stags and bring him over to meet the girl. Hostesses can be very helpful at a dance if you will but call on them.

Greenwood-Adams Says Australia Cannot Become Great Power

A. & M. students and College Station residents Friday night heard M. P. Greenwood-Adams discuss the role of Australia as a new force in world affairs at the local First Baptist Church. He was the concluding of four weekly lectures brought to this section by the Bryan Rotary Club to explain the relationship of the peoples of the world to each other. Preceding sessions had been on Russia, China and the North American continent. While Australia has a definite future sphere of influence for world peace and security it never can become a great world power such as the United States, the speaker asserted. The island continent has too much waste land and her natural resources are too limited to rival the U. S. as a controlling influence in the Pacific.

Greenwood-Adams traced the historical development of the islands of the South Pacific and located the five main racial groups native to these islands. He listed these as the Polynesians, inhabiting the eastern islands, from Hawaii on the north to New Zealand on the south; Melanesians, on New Guinea and in the Bismark and Solomon archipelagos; Malays, in the Philippines and Dutch East Indies, and lastly the aborigines of Australia, whom the speaker said were "near the bottom of the scale of humanity."

European explorations and conquests were enumerated, in order, by the Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, British and French until there was a general grouping of colonial islands under flags of these countries. Germany became a factor in the Pacific when that country purchased a number of island chains from decadent Spain, and others through claims on lands passed up by other powers. German islands north of the equator were mandated to Australia. This transfer to Nippon paved the way for her bid for domination in the East touched off at Pearl Harbor.

Greenwood-Adams claimed it was in the Japanese strategy to bypass Australia and come on down thru the Solomons to New Zealand and thereby control a large string of islands separating the homeland from the United States. Had the Japs been able to do this it would have made the war immeasurably longer and the task of throwing the Japs out exceedingly difficult. The United Nations, he said, sensed Japan's purpose, checked their drive near Port Moresby in New Guinea and finally halted the southward march in the Solomons. To do this General MacArthur was brought out of the Philippines to take command in that area and the combined U. S. and Australian fleets were based in New Zealand.

OSOCIETY

Mae Bell Adkins Wed To Fernando Gonzalez

The marriage of Miss Mae Bell Adkins, daughter of Mrs. Myra Jones of Edinburg, Texas, to Fernando Gonzales-Alfaro, of Managua, Nicaragua, was solemnized at seven o'clock Sunday evening at the Church of Christ with R. B. Sweet performing the ceremony. The bride wore a fuchsia suit with matching accessories and her flowers were white gardenias. Mrs. C. L. Andrews, sister of the bride, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a black dress with black accessories and her corsage was of pink tulips. Guillermo Moncada, of Honduras, was best man.

The ceremony was followed by a small reception held at the Charles Hotel. The young couple will make their home in College Station where the groom is a student in the school of veterinary medicine. The groom is a lieutenant in the army of Nicaragua. Mrs. Gonzales is employed in the office of Dr. G. S. Fraps and is a former student of Stephen F. Austin High School in Bryan.

Rev. Farrell Discusses India At Regular Meeting Of Campus Study Club Tuesday

Seder Banquet To Be Held Wednesday Nite

A Seder banquet in connection with Passover, a festival which commemorates the deliverance of the Jewish people from Egyptian bondage, will be held Wednesday evening, March 28 at 7:00 p. m. at Duncan Hall. The Passover celebration is observed by the Jews throughout the world as a symbol of struggle for liberty and democracy.

The observance of the Festival begins with a Seder service in the form of a banquet on the eve of the holiday date. The banquet arrangement is a dramatic presentation of the events connected with the festival.

Dr. Ettinger of Austin, chairman of the department of Mathematics will be in charge of the Services. The affair is under the joint auspices of the Hillel Foundation at College and the USO-JWB in Bryan.

Boys who have not sent in their reservation are requested to do so without further delay.

The Campus Study Club room in the Y. M. C. A. was rather like an Oriental bazaar on Tuesday afternoon with tables and screens laden with objects of Far Eastern art, exhibited by club members and friends. Arrangements of spring flowers graced the piano and occasional tables. Mrs. G. B. Stiles and Mrs. Ida Kernode were hostesses for the afternoon.

The most important matter of business disposed of under the leadership of the president, Mrs. John Ashton, was the election of officers for the ensuing year. These officers are: President, Mrs. P. B. Pearson; Vice-president, Mrs. H. L. Heaton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. L. Shaw; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. P. Humbert; Treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Crawford; Reporter, Mrs. Nat Edmondson; Parliamentarian, Mrs. John Ashton; Auditor, Mrs. Roy Snyder.

The President-elect, Mrs. Pearson, is a graduate in Speech of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, where her father is Professor Emeritus. Her activity with various types of club work began in college and has continued when time permitted. She gave an interesting report on the recent stream-liner Fourth District Convention of the Federation held in Houston, reporting that the Campus Study Club was awarded the honor of second place for its Yearbook. Mrs. M. C. Hughes, from the Campus Study Club, was elected Second Vice-president of this District.

Mrs. G. S. Stiles introduced the Reverend J. Hugh Farrell who spoke on "India-The Land of Mahatma Gandhi." He pulled aside for a few moments the veil of mystery which, for most of us, shrouds this country, revealing a surprising drabness and lack of glamour. This peninsula with an area of something over one million square miles contains one-fifth of the world's entire population. The debilitating effects of child marriages, the crowded efforts to sustain life on the impoverished soil, the great illiteracy, all are responsible for the strange social conditions prevailing there.

It was pointed out that Christian influence is felt very little because of our inability, belonging to the "untouchables", to reach the women who are dominating influence in the impressionistic, pliable years of early childhood. The greatest progress in this direction has been made by the medical missionaries.

The speaker discussed at some length the role Australia and New Zealand have played in the two world wars, the Anzac divisions of three decades ago, and the sacrifices of island troops in Africa, Greece and the Singapore campaigns.

Future strategy was shown to call for the United States forces to head on up through the islands to the Japanese home land or the China coast; for the main body of British forces to retake Burma, Malaya, and the Dutch East Indies, while current Anzacs exterminate some quarter-million Japs by-passed in the islands of the Melanesian people.

The speaker closed with a resume of lend-lease and reverse lend-lease. The two at this time are near a balance and it was Greenwood-Adams belief that the future will see the scales tipped in Anzac favor. Up to this time, he asserted, these islands had been furnishing many items to American forces, including 83 per cent of their food supplies.

A. & M. Consolidated high school students have had the privilege of hearing all four of these weekly lectures, going each noon to Stephen F. Austin high school where the speakers have addressed the two school groups.

Exhibits of Oriental art from India, Turkey, China, Japan and the Philippines belonging to Mrs. Ida Kernode, Mrs. Bill Morgan, Mrs. J. T. L. McNew, Mrs. J. C. Gaines, Mrs. C. T. Spiker, Mrs. G. S. Fraps and Mrs. Sheldon Wimpfen were discussed and examined in an interesting conclusion to the program.

The next meeting of the club will be a tea on Tuesday, April 3, arranged by the Fine Arts and Entertainment Committees.
