As '46 Seniors Did It

The setting will be the same, the atmosphere the same, the occasion the same, and the time approximately the same tomorrow night as in the picture taken above. The only change will be the participants. Charley West is shown as he served as announcer during the Ring Ceremony at the Senior Ring Dance held last January. Shown in the midst of the ceremony is Bob Butchofsky, then cadet colonel.

PENNY'S SERENADE

By W. L. Penberthy

While attending a meeting in Austin during the earlier phases of the war, I heard a psychologist report that the Army had found that our best soldiers were those men who had come from happy families. This leads me to believe that there are a great many happy families in our country, because the record of our men in arms speaks for itself.

Sunday is Mother's Day and I feel that the findings of the Army are a glowing tribute to Her because, to my way of thinking, "Mother" is the main cog in a happy family. I never saw a father family with a selfish Mother. None of us fully realize the amount of love, patience, labor, sacrifice and courage she lavishes on her family. However, speaking as a father I can see and appreciate a great deal more than I did as a son.

Much has been written about the courage of our men on the fighting fronts but again I feel that our Mothers deserve untold praise for the courage they have shown in sending their sons away with a smile on their faces, while their hearts were torn. Many of these mothers also took the sad news of the loss of their sons on the chin, and their only comment was, "I am just one of the many who have had to bear this sorrow."

Whenever Mother's Day comes around and I think of the comparative importance of mothers and fathers, I remember a short poem read to me by a father. In this poem the father is telling his son of the possibilities that lay ahead of him and of the goals which he could attain. And each verse ended with the sentence—"With a whole lot of your Mother, and just a little bit of your Dad."
