

Statistics Show Vets Improving Every Semester

Statistics compiled by Bruce R. Kennedy, training officer of the Veterans Administration, concerning the records of the veterans enrolled at Texas A. & M. were released July 3 through George B. Wilcox of the Student Personnel Office. Upon announcement of the statistics, Wilcox voiced his enthusiasm over the decided improvement the veterans are making with each succeeding semester. He asserted that the longer a veteran remains at A. & M. the better showing he makes, since re-adjustment seems to be somewhat difficult at first.

Drawing his conclusions from Kennedy's data, Wilcox stated that

Aggie Fighter Plane

The fighting ability of Texas Aggies has been heralded across the skies of European battle grounds by Captain Noble D. Jones, AAF, valedictorian of the A. & M. class of '38 and his personal P-51 Mustang Fighter Plane, "Texas Aggie", pictured above. Hailing from Dallas, Captain Jones has piled up an enviable record overseas.

A CE graduate, Jones made an outstanding record while in A. & M. and is considered one of the outstanding young structural engineers in the state. The fighting Captain and his fighting Texas Aggie ship are expected to return to this country some time this month.

although the absentee rate from classes is considerably higher, the grades recorded have more than off-set the absentees, since there is a marked improvement in the grades for the semester ending May 26, 1945 than for the semester ending January 31, 1945. Not only have grades improved, but very few subjects are dropped and very few courses are being failed by the veterans.

Wilcox asserted that it is most gratifying to him and to Kennedy that the showing is so improved, and he feels confident that the older the veterans program becomes at A. & M., the better the results will be for all those enrolled under it, since he and Kennedy are attempting to overcome as many of the veteran's difficulties as possible in the shortest time possible.

Intramural Play Begins in Tennis, Softball, Volleyball

The summer intramural program at A. & M. has begun, with competition under way in softball, volleyball, and tennis. The schedule of games to be played during the current week will be found on page 1 under the column headed "What's Cooking".

The present schedule is subject to revision in the event that other military companies should be consolidated, stated W. L. Penberthy in releasing the schedule. Other sports, including basketball, swimming, and touch football, will be taken up after play has ended in the present competition, stated Penberthy.

people are literate, and the percentage is rapidly increasing. Chile has about 5,600 miles of railroads, most of it running east and west, for Chile has always looked toward the sea. The railroad trip over the Andes from Santiago to Buenos Aires is one of the most beautiful rail journeys in the world and the plane trips are nothing short of spectacular. Airline service across the Andes has brought Chile much closer to her neighbor nation, Argentina.

World Leader in Social Laws

Chile has been an international leader in social legislation. She was the first country in the Western Hemisphere to set up a system of social security. The Seguro Obligatorio, through compulsory insurance, has always provided protection against sickness, disability, and old age. In addition to this a program of preventive, as well as curative, medical protection has been added. Unemployment is taken care of by laws which require an employer to pay a month's severance pay for each year of employment. The funds from social security are also put to work. They have built low-cost worker's houses, have established a government-owned pasteurizing plant in Santiago, and have provided free milk and lunches for school children. Progress is also being made in improving the farms and the farm worker. A program of rural electrification and agricultural schools is under way.

Thus Chile is ready for the industrialization to which she looks forward for post-war days. When her government-planned hydroelectric plants and her steel industry are built, Chilean workers will be able to reap the full benefits of this social legislation.

Chile's War Contribution

Chile's contribution to the war has been a very important one. Her vast mineral resources—strategic materials such as nitrates, copper, iron and manganese—are going to the United Nations' production lines. After December 7, 1941, Chile granted the United States nonbelligerent status—which meant the use of her ports and fuel stations—and the Chilean navy has since been constantly patrolling her coasts. The government seized Axis ships, froze Axis funds, and suspended the operations of an airline which was controlled by the Nazis.

PENNY'S SERENADE

By W. L. Penberthy
I have been getting a lot of enjoyment from the Wednesday Night Jamborees that have been staged by Mr. Bill Turner, and I feel that they are filling a great need at our school. In the first place, they are furnishing fine wholesome recreation to our Corps and second, they give the participants fine training in being able to appear and perform before a group of people. In both of these our boys have done a grand job and the offerings of the Aggeland Orchestra, the Singing Cadets and the others who have given so generously of their time and talents have met with much applause.

I envy anyone who has the talent to perform for the entertainment and pleasure of his fellow-man. I admire the person with talent who is generous and willing to use that talent for the pleasure of others. There are those who do not have a great deal to offer, but are willing to do their best and it is to that group that my heart always goes out. None of us like to see people who parade their accomplishments but I think most of us dislike having to beg someone to perform who we know has something worthwhile to offer.

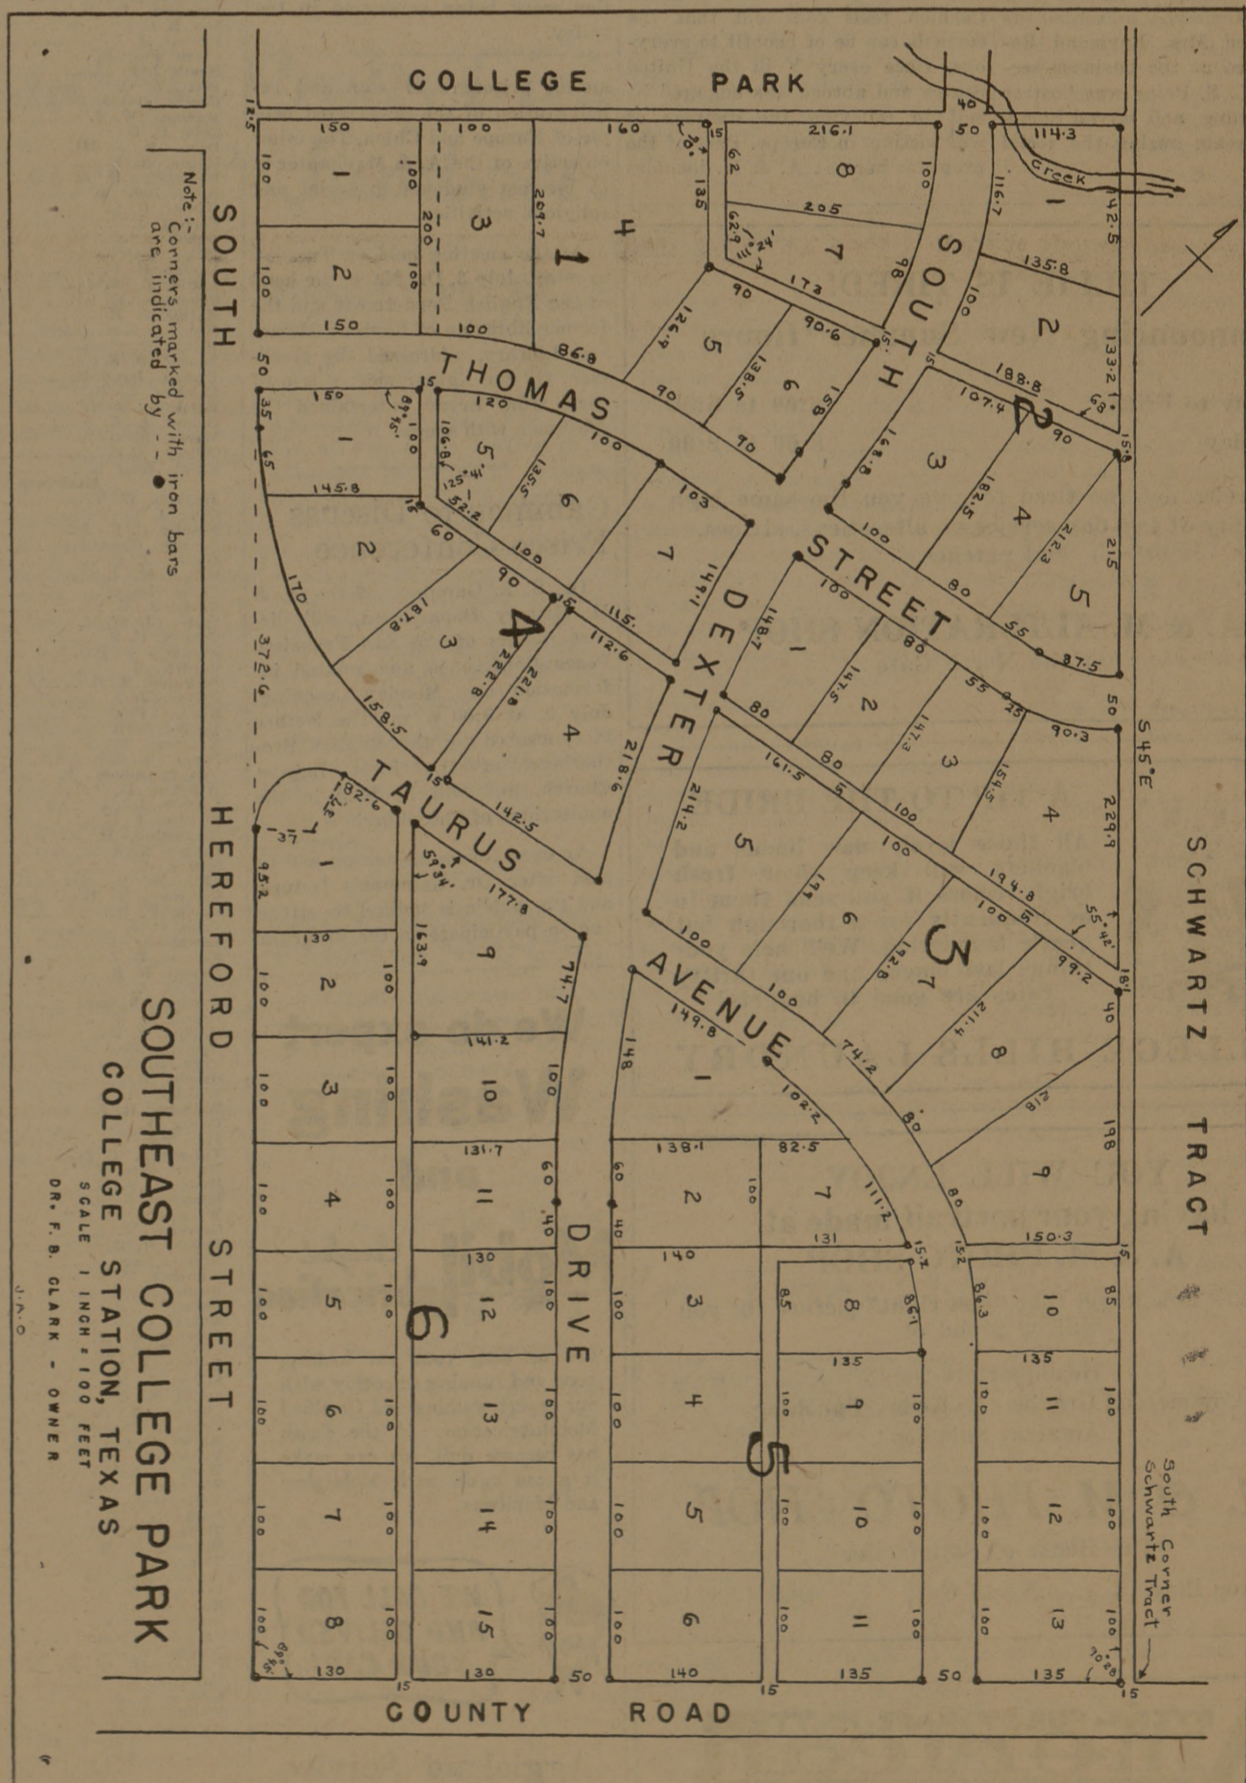

Mr. Turner has done a grand job and will continue to do so, but his job can be made much easier and more pleasant if those of us who have some usable talent will offer to help. It may not be professional by any means, but the fact that it comes from one of our own will make it appreciated. I have a lot more respect for people who fail trying than those who sit back and won't even try.

President Gibb Gilchrist to the veterans to attend all home football games during the 1945 season. Brig. General James A. Bethea, commanding officer at the hospital, promised transportation to the Aggies in the hospital for the games and announced that every man who could travel would be brought over, according to Downs.
