Mrs. E. H. Templin Entertains Newcomers With Bridge Party

Mrs. E. H. Templin was hostess to the Newcomers Club on Friday, July 6, at her home in Oakwood. Roses in shades of pink and red adorned the home.

After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. A. E. Shearin, president of the club, a series of bridge games was enjoyed. Mrs. R. V. Lamb received the high-score prize, a box of attractive stationery, and Mrs. W. L. Fly was presented with lip-stick towels as winner of second high score prize. The cut prize of fragrant talcum powder was won by Mrs. A. R. Orr.

A dessert course of ice cream and cake was served to fourteen members and one visitor.

The night classes for nurse's aide, originally scheduled for this month will not start until in the fall. This change of date has been made to avoid any break in the course by summer vacation plans of the prospective students.

One class of 10 has graduated and is giving time to the hospital at Bryan Army Air Field, and a second class of nine, while still in training is also working at that hospital. Also, there is one Nurse's Aide transfer from Plattsburg, N. Y. on duty with the Corps.

The Staff at BAAF Hospitals, have said that they are pleased with the regular and satisfactory service to the hospital being given by these nurse's aides.

Mrs. Spence and her committee express thanks for fine response they have received from the women of the communities of Bryan and College Station, and feel sure that the women of these communities will hold themselves in readiness to respond for further call, when the demand is made upon them.

Peace Conference Analyzed by Bass At Hillel Meeting

A clear and thorough analysis of the San Francisco Conference was given by Dr. J. H. Bass of the History Department at the meeting of the Hillel Club on Sunday July 8th. Dr. Bass first outlined the steps that led to the United Nations Conference beginning with the Roosevelt's declaration of the Four Freedoms through the Atlantic Charter, the Bretton Woods, Dumbarton Oaks, showing the growth and expansion of our efforts for a World Peace.

Dr. Bass then presented the diagram of the International Organization as first proposed at Dumbarton Oaks which was carried out with fuller details at the San Francisco Conference. He explained the set-up of the General Assembly, the Security Council, the International Court of Justice in their many ramifications, then gave a chapter by chapter analysis of the Charter.

A lively discussion followed the meeting. The attendance was not large but those present showed their interest in the subject and in

Aggies Trip the Light Fantastic at Ex-Servicemen's Jukebox Prom

By Bob Wren

Last Saturday night the Grove was the scene of a Juke Box Prom given for the corps and ASTP by the Aggie Ex-Servicemen's Club. The music was of ye olde favorites, Messrs. James, Dorsey, Miller, Carmichael, and the Ink Spots among others, and with that help, how those couples took the floor! There was plenty of room for all, a big percentage of dates, and two official canines to handle the bird-dogging.

Among the approximately 150 guests, there was the usual percentage of "poor" Frogs who weren't exactly sure of their wolf-ing power and ended up by trying their techniques on dates of the ASTP men. Nobody was too successful, because, as J. R. Patterson from Little Rock, Arkansas put it, "You never know whether the girl you cut in on is married or not." But the girls went for it in a big way. Mary Jo Tobias, a Tessyite from Bryan, didn't hesitate to say, "They should have them all summer—every Saturday night"—she meant the dance, of course.

R. R. Criswell, the club's president (who incidentally didn't think the lights were low enough, so he found a step ladder and took to unscrewing half the bulbs in the place) has more plans for the future, both in the entertainment field and in the welfare of the club. There's to be a watermelon feast soon, and the members will be notified of time and place by post-card. Big ideas are now taking shape to improve and enlarge the clubhouse and to make ready for the membership which will soon be increasing rapidly.

There will be a change in the schedule of meetings from now on. Instead of the two monthly meetings, the club will meet regularly on the first Monday of each month.

The officers of the group wish to thank the Student Activities department and the College Board for their help. Also thanks go to Haswell's in Bryan for the super records used at the dance.

Man, Your Manners

By I. Sherwood

Answers to last week's questions.

1. It is quite possible that some young men don't want their invitations refused or they are doing a little detective work, so ask "What are you doing tonight?"
2. Grandmother used to think nothing of keeping her beau waiting on hour or more—sort of a test of his devotion to her. The modern girl should be on time for her date—not even ten minutes late.
3. One reasonable way to fit into the financial scheme of a dinner date is to be content with ordering something simple the first time and then on later "dates" be more or less guided by what the young man ordered the time before.
4. Most girls would not want to hurt a man's pride by offering him money even if he had been frank about the flatness of his purse. However, I'm told that in "Co-ed" schools it is sometimes done.
5. It is the girl's privilege to suggest not finishing a dance, if she wishes.
6. If a gift corsage clashes with your dress, change the dress or wear the flowers in your hair, but wear them you must—the book says.
7. You will do better by paying for your own meals. Acknowledge the offer with a "Thank you".
8. Whether the young man objects or not, it is proper to ask if the invitation calls for formal or informal attire, if he doesn't offer you the information with the invitation.
