

3rd Co. Beats Dorm 6 to Tie Up Hot League B Volleyball Race

B Co. Holds League A Lead With One Game Left to Play

By Robert Reese
Third Company got a chance to even things up this week as they handed Dorm 6 their first defeat to tie up the lead in League B of the volleyball race. B Company is leading League A with the only undefeated record left in either league.

Dorm 6 had been the only team to beat Third Company, taking them down in two straight games earlier in the volleyball competition. Third Company turned the tables, winning in two straight games with a hard-playing team of O. Baker, Garrett, Tergus, Ferguson, Hodges, and Golden furnishing the winning punch. Playing for the losers were English, Davis, Prater, Ross, Hightower, and Grogan.

In other games in League B, Fourth Company won two straight from A Company and two straight from First Company, while First Company took A Company for two straight. The Fourth Company team was made up of Noonan Prince, R. E. Prince, Gene Hazelwood, Howard McMillian, Joe F. Leediker, Wendel Witten, and the company commander, Scott Haggard. Playing on the First Company team that beat Company A were Caraway, Murray, Adams, Adair and Bell.

In League A Sixth Company was the busy team for the week as they downed Fifth Co. in a hard-fought battle 3-2 and then went on to beat Second Company in two straight. Manning, Berkraslany, and Goode paced the Sixth Company squad in their two victories. In the other League B games, B Company, led by Woods, LaRue, Bell, and Backer defeated Second Company in two straight games, and repeated the performance yesterday against Fifth Company.

Third Company and Dorm 6 will now have to meet in a playoff for League B championship, the winner to meet B Company or L Company of League A for the intramural championship.

Eighty Guests Attend Poultry Visitors Day

Last Tuesday Dr. D. H. Reid and his Poultry Husbandry Department welcomed visiting poultry men from all over the state to the Poultry Short Course visitors day. Over eighty hatchery men, vocational agriculture teachers, and members of affiliated fields attended for an interesting and instructive day.

The programs held in the Agricultural Engineering Building were planned to give as complete coverage as was possible in the one day. In the morning session, under the direction of R. M. Sherwood, six speakers talked on topics of major interest. Among these were C. G. Schietinger, who emphasized the duty of the hatchery man to his community; G. B. Winstead, who advised honesty and attractiveness in poultry advertising; and Dean C. N. Shepardson, who compared careful cattle breeding with poultry breeding and suggested that the same care in choosing stock should be used in both fields. Other speakers were H. H. Drumm, Prof. R. B. Thompson, and R. B. Jones.

In the afternoon session, of which S. A. Moore was chairman, Jones outlined the improvements developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Joe Fechtel warned of smaller markets where better quality will be essential to sales, and Prof. Thompson advised his audience to use the long profits they are getting now to improve their building, both for the health of their produce and the attitude of customers and the com-

Aggie Band Meets Coach Norton at Railway Station

That good old Aggie Spirit really showed itself when Coach Homer Norton was greeted by the Aggie Corps and Band at the Southern Pacific station Friday.

Both the Coach and Mrs. Norton were visibly moved, and both expressed their appreciation for the reception and the flowers sent by the cadet corps to the Coach at the Mayo Clinic, where he underwent a serious abdominal operation.

The Coach, a little grayer around the temples, but showing a good tan, announced he would have to take it easy until September; he also added, "On Labor Day we will be on the practice field." Coach Norton will spend from the latter part of this week until September 1 at the coast.

Ex-Aggie Prof Gets Lieut. Colonel's Leaves from Clark

Promotion to lieutenant colonel and the honor of having the new silver leaves pinned on by General Mark Clark, the U. S. Commander in the Mediterranean Theater were the recent happy experiences of D. W. Williams, who is on leave from the position of head of the Animal Husbandry department of Texas A. & M.

Colonel Williams, in an interesting letter to his family, reported that he was flown from his station in Austria to Verona, Italy where General Clark, just returned from the States, had summoned the outstanding officers in his command to personally announce promotions and other honors. Colonel Williams was one of but 8 officers in his command receiving promotions on this occasion. During the ceremony, General Clark spoke of Colonel Williams' fine work and had much to say of Texas A. & M.

Colonel Williams is one of several college staff members who volunteered for service as experts in the several fields required by the U. S. Army occupying forces. Going overseas in December, 1943, Colonel Williams has played an active part in planning the agricultural program of devastated Europe.

The most recent experience reported by Colonel Williams was a trip into Germany with a Nobel prize winner, an expert in producing gas from wood, who is engaged in developing meat substitutes and ersatz foods which, Colonel Williams reports, do not taste too bad and are of much importance in the tremendous task of feeding the people of Europe.

Commenting on some of the European farming practices, Colonel Williams writes, "These farmers do it the hard way. Most of the wheat is cut with sickles and bound by hand. The women over here are a husky lot and the bulk of the farm work is done by them. They use oxen on the carts and the cows munty. Roy McDonald and E. G. Albers also spoke. After each speech there was a discussion to supply special information to the visitors.

L. Jurcak and Reid both commented that the day was very successful, both for the Poultry department and for its guests.

Ray Perryman's Tigers beat Col. Frank Anderson's Yankees 7-3 Friday to maintain their lead in the city softball race. In the other game of the simultaneous double-header which featured Friday's community picnic, Tommy Terrell's Pirates came from behind to overtake a long lead by Oden's Orioles in the last inning and went on to win in an extra frame. On Monday, the Military Department won from the Orioles 12-4.

The Pirates started in typical fashion by scoring two runs in their first turn at bat and scored three more in the third and two in the sixth to maintain a comfortable lead. Andrews led the batting attack with three out of three, while a tight defense and steady pitching by Dahlbery and Lloyd held the Yankees scoreless until the sixth, when they put on a three-run rally.

The Pirate-Oriole fray was one of the most exciting ball games played thus far. The Orioles started the scoring with a single tally in the third inning. In the fourth the first three Orioles walked, filling the bases. Develle and Oden scored on Brison's hit, and Lancaster and Brison came in on an error. The Yellowbirds scored again in the fifth to take a six-run lead. The Pirates came to life in the sixth when Guthrie opened with a single. McGhee went to first on an error, and consecutive safeties by Terrell, McCoy, and Lamb started the runs pouring across, stimulated by an infielder's error on Hickerson's grounder, to cut the Oriole lead to 6-5. In the seventh, Stiles went to first on an error and came home on a triple by Terrell, who was out in a close play as he tried to stretch it to a four-bagger. The Orioles went out in their half of the extra inning without reaching first base, and the Pirates won the ball game when Lamb went down on an error and scored in a very close play of Hickerson's hit.

The Military Department scored in each of the first three innings Monday and went wild in the seventh to score seven runs. The Orioles could not find their batting eye, and trailed the Soldiers all the way through.

The league-leading Tigers face a tough game tonight when they take on the dangerous Indians. If the Tigers should win, Terrell's Pirates will have a chance for clear second place by winning from the Yankees Friday evening. The rapidly-improving Military Staff will take their crack at the Tigers Monday.

PENNY'S SERENADE

By W. L. Penberthy

Back in 1926 we took our football team to Dallas to play SMU in the State Fair. It was a corps trip, so almost the entire student body was present. The teams were pretty evenly matched but we definitely outplayed SMU in every stage of the game but came out on the small end of the 9-7 score. All of the A. & M. supporters were heart-sick over the outcome of the game—it was one of those kind of games. After the game, I think I am safe in saying that every one from the head coach on down made a solemn resolution that if we won only one game the following year it would be the SMU game. The following fall both schools had great teams and there live in a part of the house in many places. In the summer the cattle are kept far up in the Alps and then in the early fall moved back to the barns. "The winters are very rugged. They speak of 20 and 30 below zero and snow for 5 months with depths of 5 to 10 meters." One night, Colonel Williams writes, he was duty officer and at about 1:30 a.m. some trucks reported to his headquarters with 9 tons of gold and silver coins and bullion just unearthed in a walled-up portion of a cave.

It has been my observation in officiating that the official or the team that waits until the day before a game to start getting ready usually does a poor job on the day of the game.

We never know when the golden opportunity may come so it behooves us to get the best training possible and pay the price in hard work so as to be ready when our chance does come.
