

Aggies To Meet L S U Tigers Saturday

Tiger Tussle to Be Tough - Entire Corps Yells Team Off

By Ed Brandt

With the entire cadet corps seeing them off, the Texas Aggie football team left here Thursday night for Baton Rouge where they will meet the Louisiana State University Tigers on Saturday night.

As the team left, the outlooks of Aggie fans became gloomy for the first time this season. Four regulars are listed on the injured list, and their service in Saturday's tilt will most likely be limited, if any. Preston Smith, Tom Daniels, Monte Moncrief, and Leonard Dickey are all sidelined at this time. Smith is suffering from bruised ribs and sore elbows, Tom Daniels is down with the flu, Moncrief has a pinched nerve on his hip, and Dickey is out with a severe charley-horse in his thigh. The starters for their places have not yet been announced, as rapid improvement may permit starting assignments for any of them.

On the LSU side, all seems to be in their favor. The four starting Tiger backs are reported to be in good shape, and no end of trouble is expected from them. The Tigers can boast one of their strongest and most versatile backfields in years in Cason, Knight, Title, and Sandifer. Cason is the speed merchant, and possesses much elusiveness and change of pace. Knight, the fullback, is a splendid kicker, and runs with much power and drive. Against Alabama last week, he had a 4 yard per try average and was most difficult to tackle. Title is the passer, and is capable of hitting his man with clockwork precision. To round it off, Sandifer, the right half, is the utility back.

LSU, as a whole, has a great ball club. They have a ground eating running game, and can mix it up with passes. Some regard them as the greatest potential football team in the South.

The Aggies appear to be in fine mental shape, and realize that

Catfish Stop The Ramblers

With a burst of power in the last half of the game, the A&M Catfish piled up a score of 13-0 on the Allen Academy Ramblers at Allen Field on Saturday afternoon.

During the first half, the teams seemed unusually well matched, and since neither side seemed to get anywhere carrying the ball, the game developed into a prolonged kicking duel.

As the game progressed, the large number of Aggie reserves turned the tide as the Ramblers began to slow down. Coach Frank Anderson used a total of 36 players during the game and this reserve power was more than the Ramblers could handle.

During the third quarter, Johnson made the first Aggie touchdown on a neat line play which started on the Allen 20 yard line. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful and the score stood 6-0.

In the last quarter, Bobbie Beal, 190 pounds, back from Crockett intercepted an Allen pass and galloped 60 yards for another Aggie tally. Johnson converted for the extra point, and the game ended with the score standing 13-0 in favor of the Catfish.

Plans for another Rambler-Catfish game are now under way. Let's have more spectators next time.

Bill Eckles Furnishes Punch As A&M Consolidated Tigers Beat Buffalo 38-0

By Fish Cawthon

Unleashing all power, featuring the running and passing of Big Bill Eckles, the A&M Consolidated Tigers, romped over the Buffalo Bison eleven 38-0 at Bronco Field in Bryan last Friday night.

The big quarterback, who scored three tallies and passed for two more, could hardly be stopped by the forward wall of the Bisons and his passes seem to get by the Buffalo secondary with effortless ease.

Doris Stone played a magnificent game for the losers, picking up well over half of the total yards gained by his team. His kicking, which was truly a sight to see, pulled the Bisons out of trouble many times and set the Tigers back on their heels time after time.

The most thrilling play of the game came after Stone kicked beautifully to the Tiger two-yard line, when Eckles proved to everyone that he is not only a power runner, but a broken field expert as well, when he el-hipped his way 98 yards for a touchdown.

Kenneth Clary, Billy Davis, and Tom Harcrow also stood out for the losers, playing a hustling brand of ball until the final gun sounded.

For the victors, Bob Potter, Holland Winder, Rusty Anderson and Edsel Jones shone, the latter scoring two touchdowns and kicking the same number of extra points. He also played a great game at his defensive halfback position.

The second touchdown of the game, after being set-up by Eckles' driving, was scored by Wally Anderson, another man who played excellent ball for the Aggers.

Aggies Have One of Best Airports in Southwest; Expert Instruction Offered

Few Aggies are aware that in the A. & M. College airport they have available a flying field considered as one of the best this side of the Army Airport at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The field boasts three concrete runways with a length of 5,150 each, resulting in landing conditions that are considered as ideal by visiting pilots. These facilities, along with expert instruction, strict adherence to Federal regulations and safety rules, and careful maintenance of airplanes and engines, have resulted in the enviable record of 400,000 hours of student flying without an accident causing hospitalization.

Commonly known as Easterwood Field, the airport is under the supervision of H. G. Smith, who soloed in 1923 and has been flying ever since. Smith has logged 6,350 hours in all types of aircraft, and has worked as a commercial pilot, flight instructor, and flight examiner. He came to Easterwood Field in 1940 from Aviation Enterprises of Houston, where he was chief pilot in the commercial operation of all types of aircraft including seaplanes. He is a graduate of United Airlines' school for cross-country instructors, and has over 2,000 hours of experience in cross-country instruction and radio flying.

Owned and operated by Texas A. & M. College, the school had its inception in CAA-supervised training of civilian pilots, and in 1942 changed over to training aviation cadets for the U. S. Army and Navy. At the present time it is again offering civilian certificates.

Student pilot certificates are issued to students 16 years of age, while an age of 17 years is required for a private pilot's license and 18 years for a commercial license, as prescribed by the CAA. All students under 21 years of age must have their parents' consent to fly, and those who fly at other times than Saturday afternoons and Sundays must have the permission of the Dean of Engineering. Transportation is furnished to and from the College, and rates are set by the College at a scale below the average.

Poetry Contest to Be Offered Cadets

The National Poetry Association, founded in 1937, has invited the students of A&M College to participate in submitting manuscripts for the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The Anthology has been published each year since the association was founded, and consists of the best poems of students of many colleges and universities of the United States.

The closing date for this year's manuscripts will be November 5. There will be no charges or fees for inclusion of work in the Anthology. The recognition afforded by publication will reflect definite credit on the school, as well as affording satisfaction to those who see their work in print.

Each entry must be written or typed on one side of a single sheet, and must bear the author's name, home address, and college. Manuscripts should be sent to the National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif. As space is limited, more favorable consideration is given by the judges to shorter poems.

A&M was well represented in last year's Anthology, and the association expressed the hope that Aggieland will participate as well as this year's publication.

PENNY'S SERENADE

By W. L. Penberthy

Last New Year's Day I officiated in the Cotton Bowl Game with a very fine official who had the distinction of having worked in all four of the major games in the past five years. He made the statement that when he reached the point where he couldn't take and Penberthy had been learned from other officials.

It is always very refreshing to me to hear outstanding men in their respective fields admit that they still have much to learn, and are eager to listen to others.

I am of the opinion that one of our greatest sources, if not the greatest source, of knowledge is usually much more complete when we have someone help us by interpreting the printed page for us. We get a lot of good from reading the Bible, but it takes attendance at preaching services for us to fully understand the scriptures.

Once in a while we read an article or book that is an inspiration from the words, deeds and example of our fellow man. All of us can look back to individuals who had a great deal of influence on our lives. We read of great men who attribute their success to the influence exerted on their lives by a teacher, preacher or scoutmaster.

Here at A. & M. we have a fine opportunity to learn from each other. All we need do is to observe our fellow man and we will find that there is much we can learn from him that will make our lives richer and of more service.

Fullback and Guard Join Aggie Squad

Two new football players reported to Head Coach Homer Norton this week. They are Bill Engle and Eldon Dawson, both of Greenville. Engle is a 185 pound fullback, has won three high school letters, and played for the North in this year's high school All Star game. Dawson is a guard, weighs 180 pounds, also has three high school letters, and he, too, played for the North in this year's high school All Star game. Both seem to be in good physical shape, and will start practice with the team at once.

A&M Tumbling Club Holds First Meeting

The Aggie Tumbling Club will have its first meeting since 1941 on Monday afternoon at five o'clock in the gymnasium. The tumblers will be under the direction of Victor Countz, of the P.E. department, who will work with the old standbys and new tricks of balance. The club was mostly active in furnishing entertainment between halves at the basketball games. Its members have also traveled to various Texas towns to exhibit their wares. All Aggies who are interested in tumbling, plain and fancy, are urged to be present at the initial meeting of the club.

they have a real test to meet this Saturday night. Practice during the week has indicated that the entire club is putting forth every effort to make this game a win. Blocking has been hard, and tackling has been nothing short of vicious. The fact that four key men are uncertain to start has only made the team work that much harder, and has not affected their mental attitude in the least. They know they have a ball game to play, and the Aggies are ready to play it.
