Dean Brooks Announces Extension Courses for Ex-Servicemen's Wives

The extension courses that veterans' wives have requested are now definitely set up, according to a bulletin issued by Dean Brooks' office today. There will be four courses that will be offered, with a chance for more if there is demand enough. The courses cannot be offered, however, with fewer than twelve students in each class, except the course in Landscape Art, which will be offered for an enrollment of ten.

Registration blanks will be supplied as each class meets. Fees may be paid by check at the same time, and receipts will be mailed to the students. The fee for each course will be $15.00.

The four courses that are already scheduled are:

English 212 which will meet at 2:00 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday in room 324, Academic Building. Mr. J. C. Watson will be the instructor. First meeting will be Friday, February 22.

Landscape Art 415 meets at 10 a.m. Monday and Wednesday, and from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. on Monday. Professor McGinnis will teach the course. First meeting will be Monday, February 25.

Modern Language 105 is scheduled to meet Monday, Wednesday, Friday at 3:00 p.m. or Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at 9:00 a.m. in room 123, Academic. Professor J. J. Woolket will teach the course.

Rural Sociology 312 or 311 will meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 3:00 p.m. in room 203 Ag building. Dr. M. S. Brooks will teach the course.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB REORGANIZED

All students interested in joining the Texas A. & M. Amateur Radio Club are urged to attend the next meeting, to be held Wednesday night at 7 p.m. in the E. E. building. Officers will be elected and plans made for activities this semester. The principal object of the Amateur Club is the furtherance of interest in radio techniques, operation and construction of radio equipment. The Electrical Engineering Department has made available to the Club several communications receivers, and a one hundred watt phone transmitter, in addition to numerous radio parts.

Hereford Auction To Be Held Wed.

The Mid South Texas Hereford Association will hold an auction of registered Hereford on Wednesday, February 20 at 1:00 p.m. in the Animal Husbandry Pavilion on the campus.

Fifty three choice head of Herefords will begin arriving on Feb. 19 from Dallas, Frisco, Medina, Belton, Rockdale, Normangee, Crockett, Willis, Carmine, and Bryan. They will be stalled in the A. H. Pavilion. The auctioneer will be Col. Earl Gardin, who will be assisted by Col. Walter S. Brittain.

All students are invited to attend. Catalogs may be obtained by writing B. J. Baskin, Box 1113, Bryan, Texas.

Ag Course Revised; Floriculture Added

New courses in range and wildlife management and complete revision of the Texas A. & M. College course in agricultural administration has been announced by Dean Charles N. Shepardson of the School of Agriculture.

The course in agriculture at Texas A. & M. College which includes majors in agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy production, dairy manufacturing, entomology, horticulture, poultry husbandry and rural sociology has been strengthened by the addition of more basic science to meet the needs for better technically trained men in a modern scientific agriculture, Dean Shepardson explained.

With transfer of the department of accounting and statistics and a number of courses in general business from the department of agricultural economics to the new department of business and accounting in the School of Arts and Sciences, the course in agricultural administration has been completely revised.

Work in the freshmen and sophomore years will parallel the course in general agriculture, providing a sound foundation in agriculture. The advanced work will include

Weekend Hitch-Hiking Marred By Flagrant Miscourtesies On Road

(This story on hitch-hiking is being reprinted at the request of several members of the Cadet Corps and several veterans, for both the informing of new frogs and veterans who are attending A. & M. for the first time).
Contact Man Is First

When hitchhiking to any place from A. & M., the Aggie traveler goes to the proper lines and places his bag at the end of the line, so that the bags are in line in the order of the arrival of their owners at the line. Having done this, there is now lots of nothing to do until the Aggie becomes first in line. When the people ahead of him all catch rides and he is first, he gets out by the side of the highway, being careful not to put himself in a position to obstruct traffic, proceeds to wave the old thumb at all passing traffic. But until this time, he remains well back from the highway, so as not to give the line the appearance of a lynching mob to an oncoming motorist. When a car stops, the man doing the hitchhiking approaches and asks the driver how far he is going and how many passengers
