

Ags Start Diamond Season With Two Wins

Cadet Baseballers Take Southwestern In Both Games Friday and Saturday

Baseballs flew thick and fast down Georgetown way last Friday and Saturday as Texas A&M slugged out two victories over Southwestern, 14-9 and 23-10 respectively.

In the first game the Aggies were good for 15 hits while Southwestern garnered 8 safeties. The second game found the Aggies with 21, and the Georgetown boys with five.

The baseknock department for the Aggies was led by "Snookie" Pressly and "Tex" Thornton. Pressly was good for seven hits including four doubles, one triple, and two homeruns in 11 official trips to the plate in the two games. Thornton, in ten trips, blasted out seven safeties, two singles, four two-baggers, and one homer.

The Aggie twirlers had a hard time in the first game finding the plate, and issued 14 walks. Johnnie Shufford worked the first four innings, and Elmer Purtle toiled the remaining five. Shufford in his four innings gave up five free passes.

In the second game Henry Lindsey started, but ran into trouble quickly, and was relieved by "Hub" Moon after one and a third innings. Moon worked for three innings, and Earl Beesley finished up the game. Beesley did a masterpiece of pitching, and shut out Southwestern the remaining four and a half innings.

Coach Dimmitt was happy about the entire situation, especially the way his boys banged the horsehide all over the lot, and the way they fielded, but he was of the opinion that these two games were not fair indications of the strength of his team because Southwestern is a little on the weak side. The coach is still worried about his pitching staff, but feels that one or two of them will work out the kinks in their arms before the conference
