

In Preparation . . .

A four day holiday! Yes, it is pretty nice to be able to have some relaxation from the old grind every once in a while. Most of us will be taking off for all points in Texas and beyond. But remember, that while we are gone, other men will be coming onto the campus from all over the world. Several thousands of Aggie-exes are returning to Aggieland for that great Victory Homecoming Muster.

These men are going to stay in the same rooms that we are now using. The three-day schedule is crammed full of important meetings, so much so that the rooms they will be occupying will probably get a little mussed up. It won't help matters any if the rooms are already in a sorry condition when the former Aggies return for another look at their, and our campus.

What would go for the rooms will apply to the halls, dormitories, and classrooms, and the campus in general. These men who are returning will want to see the buildings and grounds as they once knew them—spic and span.

So, Army, leave your rooms and dormitories clean and shining, so as to show that we who are here now mean "Welcome back, Fighting Aggies!"

Changing Colors . . .

First it was an off hue yellow that adorned the crossings on Military Walk; now the familiar maroon has covered the 'sip-shade, and everybody's happy.

The B. and C. U. department was quick to rectify the unintended error. Orange is a safety color the world over, and so it was only natural, traffically speaking, that it should be applied to crossings. As soon as more maroon paint can be obtained, all of the orange will be completely covered.

Only one thing is wrong with that: Aggies can't walk down Military kicking and cursing the paint.

COLLEGE LIBRARIAN IS AT CONVENTION

The Texas Library Association held its 33rd Convention in Beaumont on April 10th and 11th. This is the first convention since 1943 when they were discontinued at the government's request.

Dr. Luther H. Evans, Librarian of Congress, and Milton E. Lord, Director, Boston Public Library, were the principal speakers.

Paul S. Ballance, College Librarian, Dorothy Singleton and Frances Mooneyham, Cataloguers of the A. & M. College Library were in attendance.

Mr. Ballance is Treasurer of the State Association and a member of the executive committee. The main objectives of the Texas Library Association are to foster more and better library service in Texas, through proper legislation and greater publicity.

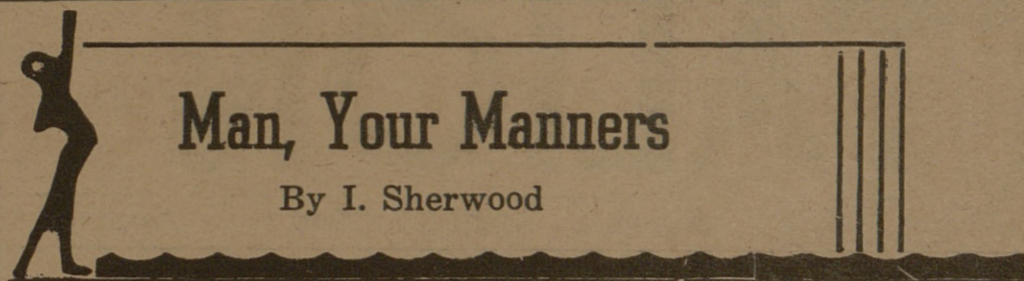

Light travels at such speed that it goes seven times around the world while you snap your fingers once.

Freezer Clinics Now Being Held

A series of freezer locker clinics, which ultimately will benefit patrons of frozen food lockers as well as operators, is in progress over the state under the sponsorship of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

The clinics are planned especially for operators and managers and for county Extension workers who often are asked to advise on locker construction and operation, on preparation of foods for quick-freezing and locker storage. Roy W. Snyder, Extension meat specialist, and Gwendolyne Jones, Extension specialist in food preservation, have prepared the program for the clinics.

Man, Your Manners

By I. Sherwood

A man's genuine courtesy and consideration for others are nowhere more noticeable than in public places.

"Aggies" have long been noted for their courteous treatment of campus guests; a commendable trait. Every student who remains on the campus during the "Aggie Muster" will be a self-appointed host.

Four days is a long time to be a perfect host or a perfect guest but this time it should be easy because we will all be "Aggies."

A lot of people and a lot of cars make a lot of congestion. Let's remember that traffic on the sidewalk moves to the right the same as in the street.

More visitors than eating places will offer another difficult problem but those of us who are accustomed to "turkey day" crowds, know our manners.

Every ex-student that comes to the "Aggie Muster" had an invitation; he will be an honor guest.

Platter Chatter

by Ferd English

Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour, Capitol's husband and wife team, have come out with another of their exclusive hits, "I Don't Know Enough About You". The song is both written and performed by Peggy and Dave. On the bottom is "I Can See It Your Way Baby". The throaty voice of Peggy Lee really does its best on this cutting. Capitol 236.

The old Glenn Miller band is cutting again with Tex Beneke in front of it. Their latest release is "It Couldn't Be True". The vocal refrain is by Beneke and the Crew Chiefs. "One More Tomorrow" sung by Artie Malvin is on the reverse again. Both tunes are played in the inimitable Glenn Miller style with plenty of sax and muted trombone. We are glad to see that such a fine organization is going to stick together after their irreplaceable loss. Victor 20-1835-B.

T. Dorsey and his Clambake Seven have cut two new sides that are a must for lovers of good swing music. "Don't Be A Baby, Baby" is sweet and smooth with good background bass and a muted trumpet front. "(Ah Yes) There's Good Blues Tonight" is a fine example of good swing blues. Both vocals are by arranger-vocalist Sy Oliver. Victor 20-1842-A.

"Sleepy Baby" by Freddy Martin has a smooth rhythm and sweet lyrics voiced by Artie Wayne and the Martin Men. The big musicians say that this song is going to be a hit. The other half of the platter is devoted to "One-Zy, Two-Zy, I love You-Zy", the new novelty tune. Victor 20-1826-A.

RESEARCH AND ENGINEERING KEEP GENERAL ELECTRIC YEARS AHEAD

LIGHTING AT GENERAL ELECTRIC

THE amount of knowledge accumulated in lamp making is enormous. Some of this knowledge is committed to paper, but much of it is to be found only in the minds of technical and production men in the laboratories and in the factories. Among these men are scores who, on leaving their technical colleges, have since directed their special training to developing better lamps for less money.

The manufacturing operations of General Electric's Lamp Department are far-flung, its 36 plants being scattered about the country in 17 cities.

Altogether they add up to 94 acres of floor space roughly equivalent to an eight-story, mile-long factory a hundred feet wide.

The goal of G-E Lamp Research has always been to produce the best possible lamps for every lighting service—at the lowest cost. Over the years lamp prices have been repeatedly reduced while lamp efficiency has steadily improved. For example, the present 60-watt lamp bulb is 56 per cent brighter than its ancestor of 1923, yet costs only one-quarter as much. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
