Vets Can Get Back Money From Early Tuition

Those Who Paid Own Way While on Terminal Leave Or Hospitalization

Veterans who entered school at their own expense while they were on terminal leave or while they were hospitalized and awaiting discharge before Dec. 28, 1945, may receive refunds for tuition, books and supplies, the Veterans Administration has announced.

No provision was made for such

VETERINARY DEFERMENTS

The following information regarding the draft status of students in veterinary medicine who have been given deferred classification to permit them to complete their college courses is published for the information of all concerned:

"Students given deferment under such provisions shall not be required to pursue an accelerated course of study provided the course of study includes at least nine months of study and not more than three months of vacation in each calendar year.

Local boards will consider such students for deferment during usual three-month vacation period if it is certified by a responsible official of the School that the students are, in fact, bona fide students and are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of study." F. C. BOLTON, Dean

NOTICE TO ALL VETERANS IN PART VII TRAINING PROGRAM

The Veterans Administration, Guidance Center, located in Ramp B, Hart Hall calls the attention of all Part VII Trainees who are not going to enroll for the first term of summer school, to the necessity of clearing this office before the beginning of the summer term. Necessary reports concerning future plans of each Veteran must be submitted by this office to the Waco Regional Office, in order to protect the rights and privileges of each Veteran under Public Law 16. All Part VII men who plan to drop out of school for the summer will clear this office any time after May 26th.

All Part VII Veterans who are going to continue during the summer will continue to report to this office every two weeks. As soon as convenient after registration, these men will please furnish this office with a copy of their class schedule for the summer term.

All students holding concessions will submit a financial statement for the period from the beginning of this present semester through Saturday, May 25, 1946.

These statements will be turned into the Student Activities Office by Wednesday, May 29, 1946.

cases in the original G. I. Bill passed in June, 1944. But the amended G. I. Bill (Servicemen's Readjustment Act), approved Dec. 28, 1945 did cover them.

Under the procedure set up by VA, refunds will be handled thru the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the area in which each veteran lives. VA will pay the refunds to the educational institution after it has reimbursed him. The procedure follows:

1. The veteran must obtain a certified statement from the school he attended, giving the period he was enrolled, the course of studies he pursued, and the money he paid for tuition, books and supplies. The statement must indicate that the institution has reimbursed him for the money he spent.

2. The veteran must submit this certified statement to the VA regional office of his area. If he was on terminal leave at the time, he must include a photostatic copy of the service order placing him on terminal leave. If he was hospitalized and awaiting discharge, he must include a statement by the proper official of the station, post or hospital in which he was receiving treatment, including information as to the date of his discharge, or if he still is hospitalized, of the probable discharge date. Whether he was on terminal leave or whether he was hospitalized, he must include an official VA application for education or training in event he has not already filed one.

The institution must submit to the same regional office a public voucher covering the amount refunded to the veteran.

We've decided that those beautiful illustrations in the seed catalogs are there just to show you what the stuff would have looked like had it come up.
