

Cotton School Is Now In Session

The 37th Annual Summer Cotton School is now in session with an enrollment of 47 students with enrollees coming from as far as Egypt. The largest foreign group came from Mexico with a total of 13 registered. Two came from Egypt; one from Sweden.

Other out-of-Texas registrations included: Louisiana 6, Oklahoma 2, Alabama, 2, and one each from Georgia and Illinois. Texas registered 19.

"The way to compete, not only with competitors in the production of cotton, but with the more serious competition of synthetic fibers, is to lower the spread between cost of production and the selling price", Dean C. N. Shephardson declared. He recommended mechanical harvesting and cultivation as one means of such reduction in costs.

Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director, Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, gave a talk on the history of cotton.

The six-week school is under the direction of Dr. L. G. Jones, acting head of the Department of Agronomy; James McCall Ward, Farm Labor Bureau of the Extension Service; Thomas G. Kilgore, Dallas; and J. B. Bagley, professor of Cotton Marketing.

Arch. Students Design New Plant For 7-Up Company

Thirteen junior architecture students at Texas A. & M. College have completed a plan for building modernization that probably will be used to renovate the 7-Up Bottling plant in nearby Bryan, according to Ernest Langford, head of the architecture department.

Participating in the building planning, which constituted a semester's work, were Albert E. Hudeck and Vernon G. Hill of Houston; Jimmie Demopolos and Henry W. Phillips, Jr. of Texarkana; John N. DeHaas, Dallas; Joe A. Hans, Jr., San Antonio; Simon D. Davidson, Freeport; Walter L. Norris, Amarillo; Harry B. Smith, New Orleans; Charles R. Crawford, Bryan; Pierrepont Harrell, College Station; Louis B. Gohmert, Cameron; and Robert H. Simpson, Christoval.

The plans will be submitted in competition for a $1000 prize offered by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, Langford said.

Instrumentation Course Set for Next Fall

Instrument-makers and users will get together at Texas A. & M. College next September 4-6, the dates set for a short course on "Instrumentation for the Process Industries" by the college chemical engineering department.

The course, to be presented on an engineering level, is designed to bring manufacturers of measuring and control instruments into contact with representatives of the using process industries.

Songbird Heard on WTAW

The cameraman found vivacious Eugenie Baird, vocal lovely of the Paul Whitman "Forever Tops" ABC show, in a quiet pose for a moment—and this picture resulted. Eugenie not only expends a lot of time and energy on her singing, but also on her favorite sports, bicycling, horseback riding, tennis, swimming and golfing.

Strauss Festival Heads Booking For Town Hall

Bookings for the Town Hall attractions for the 1946-47 session have been under way and the Student Activity office has released the following as already definitely on the calendar.

On October 20th the well-received Strauss Festival, consisting of works by Johann Strauss, Senior and Junior, Joseph Strauss, and Oscar and Erwin Strauss, will be seen on the campus.

The piano-duo of Whitmore and Lowe will come here after 3 1/2 years service in the Navy, on November 6. Later in the month Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, will appear in concert. On November 22 Mona Paulee of the Metropolitan Opera will sing and on January 28, Patricia Travers, the 16-year old violinist of Clifton, New Jersey, will play.

Also during the month of January one of the most popular attractions of last year's series will return. Dr. Franz J. Polgar will be remembered as having put a number of students to sleep on the stage of Guion Hall with his mental powers.

As yet a date has not been set for the appearance of Donald Decker, American baritone of radio, opera and screen, or for the American Troubadours, a talented mixed quartet. The Sam Houston A Capella Choir under the direction of Euell Porter, formerly director of the Singing Cadets, will be placed on the calendar at some future date.

Jason P. Moore Joins Architect Staff

Returning from 28 months service, including 21 months overseas, Jason P. Moore, late of the navy's C.B.'s has joined the faculty of the Architecture Department.

Upon graduation from the University of Texas in 1939, Mr. Moore opened an office in Denton, Texas and practiced privately until 1941. He then sailed for the British West Indies where he stayed for two years supervising construction of naval installations in Trinidad. In the C.B.'s, he served in three theaters—European, Caribbean, and Pacific.

Moore has done much research on rammed earth construction and is considered an expert in this field.

College Adopts New Text Book by Reeves and Bain

A new manual on plant identification, "Flora of South Central Texas," has been adopted by the Texas A&M College as a text book, and it is being recommended by departments of botany of other colleges and universities. Authors are R. G. Reeves, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and D. C. Bain, research assistant in plant pathology, Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station.

The geographical area covered by Reeves and Bain takes in Brazos county, and all or part of the counties of Lavaca, Colorado, Guadalupe, Caldwell, Bastrop, Lee, Burleson, Milam, Grimes, Robertson and Madison.

Your Child Will Enjoy a Policy Maturing Early in Life

One of the happiest experiences that can come to a man is to find that one of his life insurance policies has reached the end of the premium paying period or is maturing for its full value as an endowment.

What would it mean to you if one of your policies were to mature in cash or reach the fully paid up stage for you tomorrow? Wouldn't you take much pride in your foresight and thrift, and wouldn't you be ever so grateful to the person who encouraged you to take out the insurance years ago?

Action on your part today will bring that happy experience to your child, fifteen or twenty years from now. A policy placed on his life now may mature or reach the paid-up period just about the time he is assuming heavy family and business obligations of his own.

How thankful your child will be for your help in enabling him to enjoy the aid of a policy maturing early in life!
