

Texans Alerted for Rabid Animals by State Health Dept.

With a sharp increase in the number of persons being bitten by rabid animals in East Texas, and similar occurrences reported in other sections of the state, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recently warned all Texans to be on the alert for symptoms of this disease when around domestic or wild animals.

The 2,166 animal heads received for examination by the State Health Department during the past year have shown 687 positives, including incidence among cats, dogs, horses, rabbits, rats, squirrels, skunks, guinea pigs, coyotes, gophers, raccoons, hogs, sheep, and prairie dogs.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. Bites through clothing are not as dangerous as bites on exposed surfaces, because the saliva is wiped off as the tooth passes through the cloth.

If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of ten days observation. If the animal is normal at the end of that time, the case can be dismissed. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed, otherwise, an examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies will be impossible.

KNOW YOUR ARCHITECTURE

Built in COOLING

AIR CONDITIONING FOR SMALL HOMES IS ECONOMICALLY UNFEASIBLE - NOW - BUT YOUR HOME CAN BE COOLED BY USING NATURAL AIDS TO AN ADVANTAGE.

Wide Overhangs are like eyebrows - Use lots of glass -

Although air-conditioning equipment is far too expensive for the average low-cost home, there is a natural way to cool your home. By proper orientation, wide overhangs and large open areas you can provide your home with "built-in" cooling.

In summer the mid-day sun is high; in winter, low. This position of the sun in winter and summer lends itself to the natural air-conditioning of your home. With wide overhangs acting as eyebrows in the summer months, the hot sun can be excluded, leaving your house in cool shade at all times. Large open areas on the south side of your home will help the prevailing breezes to help cool your house.

Large glass areas on the south side of your home will allow most of the low winter sun to come in to your house during the cold winter months. A relatively small amount of open area on the north wall will exclude most of the cold north winds in the winter. By proper planning, your architect can give you this natural air-conditioning in that home you're going to build.

Arthur Fred Kasch and Miss Maudie Majors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Majors of Bryan were married this morning at eleven o'clock by Reverend R. W. Willis in the First Methodist church in Bryan. Immediately following the wedding the couple left for a short honeymoon in Galveston.

Kasch, a Landscape Arts major and house "mom" of Milner Hall is from Big Springs, Texas, where the couple plan to make their home following graduation next February.
