

Aggies & Frogs Clash in Conference Opener

:: On Kyle Field ::

U. V. JOHNSTON

The Aggies have the best chance since the loss to Tech to break back into the win column this Saturday when they take on the Horned Frogs, as to date T. C. U. has shown to be one of the weakest teams in the conference. By this I do not mean to say that the Frogs are a soft touch but they are relatively the weakest team to face the Aggies so far—outside of North Texas of course. With the weakest team to open the conference on the Ags should be able to show what they really have under cover.

The presence of Zapalac, Dickey and Welch will not hurt the Farmers any this week either. Zapalac has been out of action since the opener with North Texas with the exception of one play in the tussle with the Raiders and neither Welch nor Dickey have seen action in the past two weeks. With the regulars back in the line-up the home team should hand the Frogs their third loss of the season and break back into the win column.

The Arkansas Razorbacks take the conference spotlight this week-end when they tangle with Texas University. Both teams will enter this contest undefeated although Arkansas has been tied once. But it looks like Arkansas' record will not be quiet so clean come Saturday night. I will take the Longhorns in this tussle—which incidentally is not being very brave to take the Razorbacks, but it wouldn't make yours truly very mad to miss on this one.

Rice also opens her conference play this week against the Mustangs from SMU. Although the Ponies made their best showing of the season last week when they drubbed the Oklahoma Aggies, I don't think Jess Neely's crowd will have too much trouble riding them this week.

INTRAMURALS

By Cliff Ackerman

One of the biggest troubles most students have when participating in Intramural sports is knowing the rules of the game he is playing. If there are any questions about any rules or regulations write them on a slip of paper and drop them by the Intramural office and your questions will be answered. Your questions may help others, so come on down for a get together on any doubts.

BASKETBALL

In a fast and furious game Calame s parked the "A" Cavalry team by making 13 of the 15 points as they outplayed a hard fighting "B" Field team 15 to 7. Cheek, McMillian and Burnett had a field day as they scored 34 points to score a run away as "E" Field out pointed "B" Eng. 34 to 17. Dorm 13 produced the high point man of the week when Thompson scored 16 points as his team beat Bizzell 22 to 14.

VOLLEYBALL

"A" Inf. swamped "A" Field 15-3, 15-5 as B. Bell and Degan played heads up ball. Flores and Crowder carried "D" Inf. to a fast win over "A" Ord. "A" Cavalry had a hard time overcoming a stubborn "B" Cavalry team 16-15, 15-8. Guthrie and Abney played outstanding ball for the winners.

Nation's Best Pair

Leonard Dickey, 210 pound Aggie tackle who even George Rabin, night sports editor of the Daily Texan, admits to be tops in anybody's line is a product of Alto, Texas. After attending high school at Livingston, Texas, where he made All-District and Kilgore Junior College where he made All-State, he came to A. & M. from which he went into the Army Air Force.

During his three and one half years in service, he played with the Army Western All-Stars. After being discharged, Dickey returned to A. & M., bringing his wife.

Monte Monereif, Aggie tackle from Dallas is completing his last year at A. & M. and has three letters to his credit. Monte attended Sunset High School in Dallas and during his years at A. & M. made All-Conference in '43 and '45 and second string All-American in '45.

A major in Veterinary Medicine, Monereif is married and has a daughter. He is twenty-two years of age and his six foot-three and two hundred-five pounds is a welcome addition to any line.

People don't get round-shouldered from following a hunch.

Aggie-TCU B Teams Tangle Here Friday

On Friday afternoon, October 18 at 3:30 p.m. at Kyle Field the Aggie "B" squad tangles with the Polywogs from TCU, the Ags for their second game and the Polywogs for their fifth.

The TCU boys, coached by Walter Roach and Herb McQuillan, have won two of the four games played to date, losing to Arkansas 12 to 6 and to Tulsa 22 to 20. Like nearly all other schools, the Frogs have many potential gridders and their capabilities were proven when they took the Decatur Baptists to the cleaners with a score of 27 to 0 and later downed the boys from the Grand Prairie Naval Air Station with an 18 to 0 score.

Included in the Polywog line are several men who are heavier than any on the Aggie line-up. Heaviest of these is 250-pound Don Narrell, closely followed by 245-pound I. B. Bryan.

LSU Buries Aggies Under 33-9 Score

The mighty Bengals of L. S. U. buried the Aggie team under a 33-9 score last Saturday night in Baton Rouge. This is the third loss in as many weeks for the Maroon and Whites, and is the last game before the Ags meet their first conference foe here at College Station next Saturday afternoon.

Ags Try for Win No. 24 Over TCU Horned Frogs

Aggies and Frogs to Try for Comeback On Kyle Field Saturday

The Aggies open the Southwest Conference race here at College Station when the Horned Frogs from T. C. U. come down. Neither the Ags nor the Frogs have had a very successful season to date and this game will place two teams that are rated approximately the same on the field at the same time.

The Frogs to date have a record of one win, one tie and two losses. The first game of the season the Frogs tied the highly favored Kansas University eleven and then came back on the following week to eke out a victory over Baylor. Since then they have lost two straight the first to Arkansas and the next to Miami University. This leaves their average just slightly better than the Aggie's who have three defeats to one win, giving them a win loss average of .250%.

The experts are rating the Aggies over the Frogs but it is by a very slim margin and all agree that the game could easily go either way. This prediction is based on the relative strength of opponents that the two teams have played and all agree that the Farmers have had the stiffest competition.

The home team lost their first to the Tech Red Raiders who went on the following week to knock off the S. M. U. Mustangs and were only removed from the undefeated list by the strong Tulsa University team. The next Ag defeat came from the nation's fifth ranking team, the Oklahoma Sooners, and the last loss scored against the Aggies was by the heavy L.S.U. Tigers last Saturday night.

Both teams will be trying hard to break back into the win column this week-end, and with the teams so nearly matched the air should be full of the old pigskin next Saturday afternoon. This game promises to give the fans more than their money's worth in thrills and chills

Famous Coach Says: "I'D RATHER COACH THE PROS"

A celebrated refugee from college football tells why he thinks he's better off—both spiritually and financially—coaching a pro outfit than he ever was on the college campus. His name: Jim Conzelman, fabulous coach of the Chicago Cardinals. His reasons are both enlightening and amusing, and he gives 'em to you straight from the shoulder in his lively article entitled I'd Rather Coach the Pros in today's issue of The Saturday Evening Post. Still another reason why, if you want to keep posted on the world of sports, you can't afford to miss a single issue of the Post.

Coming in December THE POST WILL PUBLISH THE All-American Football Team SELECTED BY THE AMERICAN FOOTBALL COACHES ASSOCIATION
