THE BATTALION

The Ags returned to the win column and a tie for the Conference lead last Saturday when they took TCU by a 14-0 score. The Ags have a long way to go these next few Saturday atternoons to keep their present standing but with continued improvement they can make it. Since the start of the season the Ags have been lacking in drive but Willie Zapalac supplied this last Saturday and the team looked like a much better machine with him in his old spot. With Zapalac back in playing condition the team should have that last ounce of energy needed for that extra foot or yard that they have missed on so many times as he is a past master in the drive depart-ment and he demonstrated this to everyone's satisfaction in the game last. The Texas Christian swing band put on a very good half time performance at the game last week. It was especially enjoyed by the Aggies because it was of an entirely different type to what we are used to here at A&M. We still like our own band and its kind of show but the Frogs are good in their department. Thanks a lot Frogs and welcome back anytime.

and welcome back anytime. The Southwest Conference is due to have a very rough time of it this week as the members take on three strong non-con-ed but they are in a good place to ference teams and there are two important conference tilts on the knock some of the present con-tenders out. Next week is home-schedule. The Aggies will meet the Baylor Bears at Waco and they should not have a very hard time making them dance like trained Bears should but they are due for a harder fight than the TCU Frogs put up last week. The Frogs beat the Bears by a very slim margin but they were completely outplayed all through the game and won only on sheer luck. Although the Bears will be slightly tougher than the Frogs they do not have the necessary power to stop the Ags. The Rice Owls will have the hardest time of any of the completely outplayed state of any of the completely outplayed the bardest time of any of the completely outplayed at the bardest time of any of the completely outplayed at the bardest time of any of the completely outplayed the bardest the bardest tinterest the bardest time o

The Rice Owls will have the hardest time of any of the con-ference teams as they meet up with the powerful Texas machine Sat-urday at Houston. The Longhorns haven't beaten the Owls in three seasons but if they are ever going to beat them this is the year they should do it. My heart is with Rice on this one but my head says I should stay with Texas, so I will take Texas, but I wouldn't be too surprised to miss on this one. The other three teams in the conference journey to far away places this week to take on non-conference teams have picked soft ones for themselves. The other three teams in the conference journey to far away places this week to take on non-conference teams in inter-sectional clashes and none of the conference teams have picked soft ones for themselves. The Frogs meet the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater and after this week the name Aggie will be on the unmentionable list on the TCU campus as last week the Texas Aggies handed both their varsity and "B" squads durbbings and it looks like the Oklahoma Aggies will do a repeat on their Varsity this week. Missouri should hand SMU a licking and Arkansas will probably give "Ole Miss" a hard time.

Summing it all up the Ags will take Baylor, Texas to handle Rice, but not easily, Arkansas to beat Mississippi, Oklahoma Aggies to hurdle the Frogs and Missouri to do likewise with SMU.

Ags Take Frogs in Conference Opener Aggie Bees Take TCU for Two TD's

The Aggies emerged victorious over the Frogs from TCU last Saturday by a 14-0 score. The Aggies took the lead midway in the opening stanza when Barney Welch picked up a lateral pass that he had missed and scampered 25 yards for the first score. Despite the fact that the Frog-lets had a heavier line and had that time on the Farmers had the situation well in hand and were played four games thus far this season to the Cadets one, Charlie DeWare's boys more than held never in any danger of losing the game as the Frogs made only one threat to score and that came late their own from start to finish.
